

Policy on Smoking Now Effective; Ban Total in Some Buildings

SUNY Plattsburgh's new smoking policy, approved unanimously by the College Council at the Council's December meeting, became effective this week with the beginning of the spring semester 1989. The policy was framed to establish a smoke-free environment throughout the college's 35-building complex for employees, students, clients and visitors.

NO SMOKING

The policy was drafted by a Labor/Management Smoking Committee, chaired by Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse, president of the campus chapter of United University Professions, following several months of study. In its final form, the policy delineates conditions under which smoking will be permitted in some campus buildings and specifies those in which smoking is prohibited altogether. Two college-wide forums on the proposal were held last fall, and most feedback was supportive of the committee's recommendations.

The policy, together with its rationale, follows:

- Health risks associated with smoking are well documented and high level risks to non-smokers from "passive smoking" have been clearly identified. The State University College at Plattsburgh approved this policy of smoking regulations in order to promote a strong sense of wellness, to protect the well-being of all campus community members and guests, and to provide to the extent possible, a smoke-free environment.
- There will be no smoking in classrooms, elevators, lobbies and foyers, hallways and stairwells at any time. Other public gathering areas will be non-smoking unless otherwise designated; this policy will be enforced by the college administration and the Public Safety office at all times.
- Buildings where smoking is prohibited in all areas, other than private, fully-contained offices and a few specially designated areas, are the Canadian Studies Center, Clinton Dining Hall, Feinberg Library, Field House, Memorial Hall, Myers Fine Arts and the Yokum Communications Lecture Hall.
- Smoking will be permitted in private offices that are fully enclosed. Smoking will be permitted in multiple occupancy, fully enclosed offices, only if all individuals desire to smoke. Smoking will be permitted only in designated smoking areas in other buildings on campus with a minimum of one public area per building. Current residence hall policies remain in effect.

- Compliance with the smoking regulations is requested in State and CAS vehicles when a non-smoker is present.
- Specific smoking and non-smoking areas shall be clearly identified by appropriate signs and publicity. A complete current delineation of campus smoking areas shall be published in the Campus Handbook and placed on reserve in the Feinberg Library.
- This policy is effective Tuesday, January 17, 1989.
- APPROVED: J. Stallard Waterhouse, President, SUNY Plattsburgh UUP Chapter; Diane Gadway, Representative, SUNY Plattsburgh CSEA; and Charles O. Warren, President, SUNY Plattsburgh.
- NOTE: The College is indebted, for this policy, to the Plattsburgh Chapters of UUP and CSEA . . . and the strong leadership of Dr. Waterhouse and the other members (Stephen Adams, Gerald Dominy, Philip Galarneau, Diane Gadway, Janine Silverman) of the College's Smoking Policy Committee.

300 New Students Admitted

Enrollment data continue to be encouraging, as the college will register 300 first-time students this week.

"We wanted to admit 250 new students for the spring semester," remarked Richard Higgins, admissions director, "but we will end up enrolling 28 freshmen and 272 transfer students. It is clear that more students than anticipated accepted our offer of admission."

According to Higgins, admissions for the spring term closed (except for applicants to the Educational Opportunity Program) on December 16. Records aren't kept for early closings for mid-year admission, but Higgins can't recall a year when the college stopped accepting students by the middle of December.

"The outlook is encouraging," Higgins said. "SUNY Plattsburgh continues to do well in admissions in spite of a decline in the number of high school graduates in New York State. Our advice to students seeking admission next fall is to apply early."

Supple to Assume Presidency of Southwest Texas State U.

Dr. Jerome Supple, vice president for academic affairs at SUNY Plattsburgh since 1978, has been named president of Southwest Texas State University. Southwest Texas State, located in San Marcos, Texas, is a member of the Texas State University System and enrolls approximately 20,000 students. Supple, who is currently serving as acting provost and vice president for academic affairs at SUNY Potsdam, will assume his new post in the near future.

During his ten-year tenure at SUNY Plattsburgh, Supple was responsible for the college's academic programs, instruction and support. He served twice as acting president, in the fall of 1981 and again during the 1985-86 academic year.

He served on the executive committee of SUNY Academic Vice Presidents, the Chancellor's Task Force on Teacher Education, the Chancellor's Advisory Committee on Transfer and Articulations on the SUNY-wide Management Advisory Committee on Classification and Compensation.

Prior to coming to SUNY Plattsburgh, Supple taught chemistry and served in several administrative posts at SUNY Fredonia, including dean for general and special studies, associate vice president, and acting vice president for academic affairs. He earned a bachelor's degree and a master's degree from Boston College and a doctorate from the University of New Hampshire.

Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren said, "Dr. Supple has made strong and creative contributions to the State University of New York for well over 20 years, especially during his ten-year tenure here at SUNY Plattsburgh. He is an enthusiastic and thoughtful leader in higher education and will no doubt create a positive and productive environment at Southwest Texas State."

Warren said that he will consult with the chairperson and the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate, and with the Senate's Faculty Affairs Committee, regarding a search for Supple's successor. Plans for the search will be announced within the next two weeks.

Mitchell, Librarian, to Retire Following 22-Year Career Here

Anne A. Mitchell, librarian and a member of the Feinberg Library staff for the past 22 years, will retire from service to the college, effective February 1.

Mitchell joined SUNY Plattsburgh in 1966, when Dr. George W. Angell was president and when the library occupied what is now Redcay Hall. She formed the college's first reference department, and in 1967 she became head of reader services — a post she held until 1979.

During the 1975-76 academic year, Mitchell served as acting director of the library. She attained the rank of librarian in 1978, and the following year she was appointed as coordinator of collection management, her title at retirement.

Mitchell received the M.S.L.S from Columbia University in 1954, and she later returned to Columbia three times for advanced study. Prior to coming to the North Country, she served public and collegiate libraries in Maine, Tennessee, Vermont and New York City. From 1963-66 she was Bookmobile and reference supervisor for the Clinton-Essex-Franklin Library System. Her public service activities include several years as a member and officer of the League of Women Voters, including a two-year term (1972-74) as the League's president.

Commenting on her retirement, Mitchell said she plans to "Write letters to public officials and editors and television networks, improve my swimming, spend more time with my grandchildren, and turn into a 'grey panther.' I also plan to use the library a lot."

Finally, Mitchell mused, she might take the initiative to form a "Brooklynites of Plattsburgh" club. "I'm originally from Brooklyn, and through the years I've come to know many local people who can say the same . . . proudly! Maybe it's time we banded together."

Centennial Calendar Deadline Near

The copy deadline for items to be included in the Centennial Calendar, a publication which will list campus and "Centennial Celebration" events for the period June 1, 1989 through May 31, 1990, is fast approaching.

The calendar committee would like to include as many events related to the Centennial Celebration as possible. If you are sponsoring an event during that time period and would like to have it listed on the calendar, please send the appropriate information to Carolee Smith, Office of College Relations, Kehoe 809 on or before February 1.

Cards Impressive vs. Nationally Ranked Union, Oswego and RIT

The Plattsburgh State hockey team, beset by conference sanctions that produce chaos in game-by-game lineups and cast in doubt the team's chances of receiving a bid to any post-season tournament, is serving notice on its eastern rivals not to underestimate "Cardinal pride." Coach Steve Hoar's skaters came charging out of the gate for the second half of their 1988-89 schedule during intercession with impressive victories at Union (6-3), at home versus arch-rival Oswego State in a mis-match (9-2) and, following a 4-4 tie at RIT, at Brockport (5-4). Union, Oswego and RIT all entered their contests with the Cardinals ranked in the top ten nationally. Senior goaltender Craig Barnett received ECAC Goalie-of-the-Week honors for his outstanding 93.5 save percentage and 2.51 goals-against average for the week ending January 8. Freshman Matt Furtado was named ECAC Rookie of the Week for his four goals and one assist during the same week of action. Furtado tallied a hat trick in the Cards' walloping of Oswego.

The men's basketball team is 2-2 in opening the second half of its campaign. The Cardinals dropped a 105-103 heartbreaker at Brockport before losing to Stony Brook, 89-68, at home, but they bounced back with a pair of wins this past weekend over Cortland, 80-77, and Binghamton, 92-82. Mark Cassier led the weekend scoring parade for Plattsburgh with 17 against Cortland and 29 against Binghamton.

The Plattsburgh women also are 2-2 since the semester break, with triumphs over Oswego (76-48) and Binghamton (60-47) matching losses to Brockport (68-62) and Cortland (67-47).

Both the men's and women's swim teams lost to RPI last Saturday, by margins of 117-69 and 100-92, respectively. Senior Art LaMarche was a triple winner for the Cardinal men with first-place finishes in the 50 and 100-meter freestyle events and as a member of the winning 400-meter relay team.

ACS Renews Chemistry Program Sanction, Labels It 'First-rate'

The chemistry department has received notification that it "continues to meet the guidelines that have been established for" schools approved by the American Chemical Society. The notification of approval was received from Cathy Nelson of the ACS Office of Professional Training, and came after ACS review of the department's five-year re-evaluation report.

Nelson wrote, "The Committee commended your program as first-rate and noted your obviously strong concern with chemical education. The Committee also praised the innovative elements in your curriculum and was delighted to learn of your new polymers course. Your undergraduate research was cited as being high quality. . . . Finally, the Committee commended your re-evaluation report itself, in the words of one of the reviewers, ' . . . as the most thoroughly prepared report that I have seen in three years on CPT.'"

Hotel-Restaurant Program Gets Computer Software Packages

Through the efforts of Assistant Professors Michael J. Oliver and Joan M. Janson, the college's program in hotel and restaurant management has received a gift of computer software packages that will significantly enhance instruction in the major.

Oliver and Janson report they have received "Lodgmate" and "Restaurant Management" from Lodgistix, Inc. of Wichita, Kansas and Fisher Restaurant Systems of Marietta, Georgia. The software is valued at $17,000.

Lodgmate, a hotel property management system, will provide students with hands-on experience in the areas of reservations, registration, marketing and sales analysis. The Restaurant Management System will provide students with point-of-sales, forecasting and food production controls.

The college's degree program in hotel and restaurant management is in its first full-year of operation. SUNY Plattsburgh is the only four-year campus in the University to offer it.

3 Deaths Reported During Semester Break

During the semester break, the college received word of the deaths of a staff member, a student, and a former faculty member.

Gary Cross, head janitor and a member of the college staff since 1972, died January 8, 1989 at the Vermont Medical Center. He is survived by his wife, Beverly, who is employed in the School of Business and Economics, and two children. Memorial donations may be made to the Trinity Episcopal Church Memorial Fund.

Phillip M. Gazzillo, a senior at the college, was fatally injured in a hockey game in his hometown of Glens Falls on Wednesday, January 4, 1989.

Daniel Curley, a member of the English department faculty from 1952 to 1956, died as the result of a car accident on December 30, 1988. Curley has been a long-time professor of English at the University of Illinois in Urbana and had won the Flannery O'Connor Award for Short Fiction with his 1985 collection "Living with Snakes."

SPOTLIGHT

Psychology department faculty Drs. Margaret Anderson, lecturer, and Peter Hornby, professor, are the authors of "COMPSYCH: A Demonstration and Progress Report," a paper presented in November in Chicago at the Annual Meeting of the Society for Computers in Psychology. The paper will be published in the proceedings of the conference, which will appear in the spring issue of Behavior Research Methods, Instruments and Computers. . . "The Right Strategies Attract Tourists to Rural Destinations" is the title of an article by Dr. Nancy Church, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics, that appears in the December 19 issue of Marketing News, a bi-weekly publication of the American Marketing Association. . . Dr. Stewart A. Denenberg, associate professor of computer science, contributed a chapter entitled "Semantic Network Designs for Courseware" to a volume edited by D. Jonassen and published recently by Lawrence Erlbaum Associates. Denenberg made a conference presentation in November at the Seventh National Intellectual Skills Development Conference in Grand Rapids, MI entitled "Developing Reasoning Skills in College Freshmen Using Computer Programming, Collaborative Problem-solving and Writing". . . Dr. Philip DeVita, associate professor of anthropology, has signed two contracts with Watsworth Publishing to produce two edited volumes on fieldwork problems in anthropology. The first is scheduled for release next September and the second in January of 1990. DeVita and anthropology colleagues Drs. James Armstrong, assistant professor, and Richard Robbins, associate professors, have been invited to give papers at the April meeting in Phoenix of "Contact," a multidisciplinary meeting of scholars from all parts of the nation who gather to address human problems related to space flight and off-world exploration. DeVita will compare Japanese and American cultural values as they contribute to the understanding of alternative models for human interaction and adaptation; Armstrong will discuss "the kibbutz model"; and Robbins will speak on the problems of Utopian communities. . . Dr. Robert D. Fuller, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, is co-author of "Forest Clearcutting Effects on Trace Metal Concentrations: Spatial Patterns in Soil Solutions and Streams," which appears in Water, Air and Soil Pollution, Vol. 40 (1988). . . "Crime as Rhetoric: The Trial of the Catonsville Nine," an essay by Dr. J. Justin Gustainis, associate professor of communication, has been accepted for publication in the book Rhetoric, Mass Media, and the Law: Critical Studies of Popular Trials, to be published by the University of Alabama. . . Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel, professor in the Center for Human Resources, presented workshops on "Vocational Assessment" recently at State Education Department Regional Conferences held in Lake Placid, Albany and Poughkeepsie. . . The National Association of College Stores' (NACS) Weekly Bulletin reported in its December 16 issue that a NACS Bar Code Task Force liaison committee has "formalized" a recommendation that the "George Layman classification system" be used in stores that are planning to computerize or upgrade their present systems. Layman is College Store manager here. . . Dr. Naomi McCormick, professor of psychology, is co-author of "Sexual Difficulties Experienced by Women with Interstitial Cystitis," which appears in Women and Therapy and which has been reprinted as a chapter in the book, Women and Sex Therapy: Closing the Circle of Sexual Knowledge. She recently presented a research paper entitled "Sexual Scripts: Rules for Flirtation and Seduction" at a colloqui series conducted by the Department of Psychology at the University of New Brunswick. . . Dr. Nicholas G. Stupiansky, assistant professor in the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, presented a paper entitled, "Rural Mentor/Intern Project: Building Bridges Not Walls," at the recent annual meeting of the National Council of States for Inservice Education held in New Orleans. . . Dr. Paul Szydluk, professor of physics, is listed as the principal author of a research paper published recently in Superlattices and Microstructures Vol. 4 (1988). Collaborators on the paper include researchers at the NSAS-Lewis Research Center, at Case Western Reserve University and at the Coordinated Science Laboratory at the University of Illinois. . . Dr. Sandra Waite-Stupiansky, assistant professor in the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, was a panelist for a presentation entitled "Children's Sociodramatic Play: Research and National Policy" at the annual conference for the National Association for the Education of Young Children held in November in Anaheim, CA. Waite-Stupiansky also authored an article entitled "Language Develops as Children Play" that appeared in the January 1989 issue of Pre-K Today. . . Dr. Michael P. Wolfe, director of the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, delivered the keynote address at the New York State Compensatory Educators Conference in December. His topic was "Celebration of Teaching." Wolfe and Drs. Nicholas Stupiansky, assistant professor, and Lawrence Giandomenico, associate professor, were featured presenters at the National Staff Development Conference held recently in Chicago.

Joint Alzheimer's Center, Meadowbrook Venture Funded at $221,924

The New York State Department of Health's Bureau of Long-Term Care Services has approved $221,924 in funding over the next two years for a project designed to ease the transition of demented patients from home care to residency in a nursing home. Dr. Taher Zandi, co-director of the Alzheimer's Disease Assistance Center, will direct the project, which he describes as "a collaborative venture with the Meadowbrook Nursing Home Facility."

Zandi explained, "'Dementia' is a generic term used to indicate a neurological disorder that affects memory and cognitive processes. Alzheimer's Disease is a type of irreversible dementia."

"Our goal," he continued, "is to create a smoother process when a patient enters a nursing home. We will develop orientation sessions, which should help in that transition. Those sessions will be in the form of a day treatment program, in which demented patients will participate for about a month before they take up actual residency in the nursing home. We hope that this will not only help the patient make a better transition, but that the family caregivers will also become a part of the care unit at the nursing home."

While the two-year project will be undertaken at the Meadowbrook facility, Zandi said the ultimate goal is to create a model of treatment for other nursing homes that accept patients with dementia.

Zandi said that approximately six new staff members — including social workers, nurses, and a psychologist, will be hired for the project. He expects that the day treatment program will be ready to accept patients in mid-February.

Green, Ellis to Assume new Roles in Reconfiguration of Services

The pending retirement of Registrar Daui Woodin (see related story, next page) combined with "a need to economize, save positions and improve services" will bring about a reconfiguration of administrative offices.

Green

Ellis

According to President Charles O. Warren, Diana Green, who serves currently as director of institutional research, analytical studies and enrollment management, will assume the duties as registrar and become head of a new office of Institutional Records and Research, effective March 1. While she will retain most of her present responsibilities, Green will relinquish the major role she has held in administrative computing services.

As a result, Warren said, and following an analysis of the college's computing services, all such services campus-wide will be combined into a new office headed by Dr. Raney Ellis. That means duties will be expanded for Ellis, who currently directs academic computing, effective Jan. 30.

Green will report to Janet M. Edwards, assistant to the president for enrollment management, upon Edwards' return to campus this summer following a one-year sabbatic leave. Ellis will report to the Office of Vice President for Academic Affairs — specifically, to Dr. Thomas Moran, assistant vice president.

President Warren said that no new positions will be created under the new administrative arrangement, noting that the position previously assigned to the Registrar will be placed on the vacancy list. He added that the restructuring represents a further attempt "to do better with less (resources)."

The analysis of the college's computing services was carried out by an Analytical Study Team for the administration of that function. The team's composi-

Woodin, College's Registrar, to Retire Effective March 1

Dauí S. Woodin, a member of SUNY Plattsburgh's administrative staff for the past 15 years and its registrar since 1985, will retire from service to the college, effective March 1.

Woodin joined the college in January of 1973 as a technical assistant in the Office of Analytical Studies and long Range Planning. She became affiliated with the Office of the Registrar ten months later, also as a technical assistant, and in February of 1978 she was promoted to assistant registrar, a post she held until assuming her current position five years later.

"Dauí Woodin is among the most diligent and conscientious professionals with whom I have been associated in my career," commented Diana Green, director of institutional research, analytical studies and enrollment management, whose responsibilities have included oversight of registrar office activities. "I know she is admired and respected by the professional and clerical staff who report to her, and that they will sorely miss her leadership. Dauí has directed a crucial college function — and one often fraught with pressure situations — competently, effectively and humanely. The well-being of students has always come first with her."

During her tenure at Plattsburgh, Woodin has been a member of many committees, but she will be remembered primarily for her contributions to campus beautification. In 1982 she was inducted to Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society, and three years later she received the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Professional Service.

Woodin will remain active in retirement by working alongside her husband in their perennial plant nursery in Jay. She says she will miss the collegiate environment, especially advising students and helping them through the maze of completing graduation requirements. "I love our students," she said. "At times they may not think so, but I really do love them."

Advisory Committee Established for Adult Learning Services

An Adult Learning Services Steering Committee, which will serve in an advisory capacity to the president and executive staff, has been created on campus.

President Charles O. Warren said, "The provision of timely, responsive services to adult learners is a high priority at SUNY Plattsburgh. This committee will meet periodically to focus on the effective coordination of services — particularly related to access, retention and recognition of scholarship."

The committee will be chaired by Bette Brohel. Members include Dr. Suzann Buckely, Michael Walsh, William Laundry, Ann Prarie, Dr. Ann Hasting, Evelyn Skopp, Dr. Ann Tracy, Julius Archibald, Barry Gibbs and Laura Dominy.

Productive Leave for Levitin

Weekly salutes Dr. Alexis Levitin, associate professor of English, who completed a productive first-half of a 1988-89 academic year sabbatical leave last semester. A highlight of Levitin's leave to that point was a five-week reading tour with Portuguese Poet Eugenio de Andrade. The pair conducted readings at the University of California at Santa Barbara, the University of Minnesota, Barnard College, Brown University, Harvard University, Temple University, and the SUNY campuses at Albany and Farmingdale as well as Plattsburgh. Also, Levitin and de Andrade gave several readings in non-academic settings in California and in Canada. During the five-week period. Levitin's translations of poems by de Andrade were accepted for publication in the magazines Asylum, Apalachee Quarterly, Black Warrior Review, Connecticut Poetry Review, Chelsea, Central Park, Images, Cream City Review, and Northwest Review. His translations of 29 short stories by Brazilian writer Clarice Lispector will be published in June by New Directions under the title "Soulstorm." His fourth collection of poems by de Andrade, Shadow's Weight, will be published by Gavea-Brown in late 1989.

tion included Green, Ellis and Moran and James Holland, manager of the computer center, Cerise Oberman, director of libraries, and John Homburger, controller.

President Warren said that the team will remain intact over the next six months and function as a transition committee as the new office of Computing Services takes form. The report of the team is available in the Office of the President.

Sloan Becomes College's First Truman Scholarship Semi-finalist

Douglas Sloan, a sophomore political science major from Palmyra, NY, is the college's first semi-finalist for a Harry S. Truman Scholarship. The Truman Scholarship program provides scholarships of up to $7,000 per year for up to four years to outstanding students who intend to pursue careers in public service.

Nominated by Dr. David Mowry, director of the college's Honors Program, Sloan is one of 250 finalists from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the combined territories of Guam, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands. Each college and university may nominate up to three candidates, Mowry explained, so there is no way of knowing the original number of applicants, but, he noted, the competition is always keen.

Nominees must prepare an essay on a public policy

Scalzo, Gardner Win Alcohol Awareness Memorial Scholarship

Kim Scalzo and Diane Gardner have been selected as winners of the Michelle E. Martin Alcohol Awareness Memorial Scholarship. The two will receive grants of $250 each. The award was created in memory of Michelle Martin, who was a junior nursing major in 1982 when she was fatally injured in a automobile accident involving a drunk driver. It is funded by the proceeds of a book by Denis Foley, Ph.D. entitled STOP-DWI: Successful Community Responses to Drunk Driving, and by a grant from Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Glenmont. Mrs. Martin is a 1960 alumnae of SUNY Plattsburgh.

Senior Rich Davino, who participated in an internship this fall with the Clinton County STOP DWI program, coordinated the selection process. Applicants were asked to submit an essay describing activities in which they had participated in the promotion of alcohol awareness and in discussing alcohol awareness and why it is important.

issue. Sloan focused on human rights and the 1975 Helsinki Accords and spent four months researching the subject. The next step in his candidacy is an interview in New York City on February 10, where he will meet with a Regional Review Panel composed of prominent scholars and officials. The panel will question Sloan on his research, his career goals and recent developments in national and international affairs. Truman Scholars and alternates will be notified in April.

Sloan, who carries a cumulative grade point average of 3.79, participates in the college's Honors Program and is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, the Judicial Review Board, and the Undergraduate Alumni Council. Sloan served as chairperson of the Student Phonathon for the Alumni and Parents Fund drives, which were conducted for six weeks and which raised about $115,000. He plans a career in international law or diplomacy and is considering the University of Virginia, Georgetown University and Columbia University for advanced study.

Scalzo, a senior computer science major from Fairport, is a co-founder and past president of the campus chapter of BACCHUS (Boost Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students). As an RA, she has planned non-alcohol activities on her floor and facilitated a workshop on alcohol awareness in her residence hall. She also co-founded and served as president of a chapter of SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) in her high school.

Gardner, a sophomore nursing major from Kings Park, is an active member of BACCHUS and has been involved in organizing a number of non-alcohol activities on campus. She has also organized information tables on the subject of alcohol and drug awareness for Alcohol Awareness Week, Drug Awareness Week, and the recent Wellness Fair.

No '89-'90 Budget News . . . Yet!

President Charles O. Warren was in Albany yesterday for a meeting called by SUNY Chancellor Bruce D. Johnstone to discuss implications of the 1989-90 Executive Budget recommendation for the University. Following an analysis of the budget proposal for this campus, Warren said that he intends to call a college-wide meeting to review the budget and its potential impact on college operations. The meeting, he said, will be scheduled before the end of the month.

Hockey Cards Extend Streak to 10; Women Win Track 'Classic'

Plattsburgh State's hockey Cardinals continued to ice ranked opponents with a 4-2 victory over 10th rated Elmira College at Elmira on Friday. The triumph also marked a milestone in Plattsburgh hockey history, as the Cards logged No. 300 in the win column in only their 14th season in the sport. Elmira joined Union and Oswego among teams in the top ten of Division III of the NCAA to fall to the Cardinals since the beginning of the second half of the 1988-89 season in January. Plattsburgh also has tied second ranked RIT, 4-4 during the current streak. On Saturday, Coach Steve Hoar's skaters extended their undefeated skein to ten games with a 7-3 pounding of Cortland State. In that game, Sean Haggarty potted a short-handed goal at :05 of the third period to tie the NCAA's fastest goal record.

The women's basketball team won twice last week, drubbing Skidmore 59-39 on Thursday and trimming SUNYAC rival New Paltz 57-48 on Saturday. Freshman Mindy Caruso was outstanding in a backup role in the Cards' easy win at Skidmore, and T.J. Cornwright tallied 19 points and pulled down 10 rebounds to pace the attack against New Paltz.

The men's team fared poorly, however, dropping an 85-73 decision to Ithaca College at Ithaca on Tuesday, and bowing to New Paltz on Saturday, 74-63.

In track, the Cardinal women swept their own six-team Cardinal Classic weekend meet, rolling up 179 points — nearly three times as many as second place Potsdam State. Desiree Peart won the shot put with a toss of 11.14 feet to set a new school record and

'Showcase '89' Group Issues Call for Papers, Presentations

A call for papers and presentations for "Showcase '89" has been issued to faculty, students and staff. Showcase '89, scheduled for April 12, is intended to showcase the scholarly and creative efforts of the faculty, staff and students at the college, to recognize those who have expended energy in creative and scholarly efforts and to increase cross-discipline communications and the communication of the high quality work which is carried out on the campus.

General seminar sessions, poster sessions, and other formats of expression appropriate to the various disciplines are welcome. Events will be centered in Myers Hall, Yokum Hall and the Angell College Center. Abstract forms are available from any member of the Showcase '89 committee. They are: James Armstrong, Suzann Buckley, Nancy Church, Beverly Forster, William Laundry, Rick Mikkelsen, Thomas Moran, Anna Nardelli, Edward Miller (Chair), Eldridge Roark, Carolee Smith, and Sue Spissinger. The deadline for submission of an abstract is March 1.

qualify for the SUNYAC, ECAC and NYSWCAA championships. Rhonda Ruhmel finished first in the 200-meter run and second in both the high jump (4'8") and the 55-meter sprint. Her performance in the high jump gives her a shot at the SUNYAC title in that event. Kathy Kane breezed to victory in the 1500 and 3000-meter events to qualify for the SUNY and ECAC conference championships as well as for the New York State Track and Field Association championship.

The men's indoor team finished third in the Cardinal Classic behind Norwich and Middlebury. Eric Allen qualified for conference and state championships with firsts in the 55 meter run and the long jump.

The Plattsburgh State men's and women's swim teams both lost to Potsdam in meets at home on Saturday by margins of 116-85 and 110-99, respectively.

CSEA Scholars

The winners of the 1988-89 CSEA Scholarships have been announced. They are: Richard O'Brien, a junior economics/business administration major and son of Patrick O'Brien, and Stephanie Rabideau, a junior speech and hearing handicapped education major and daughter of Helen Rock. CSEA scholarships are funded by donations from CSEA members to the Plattsburgh College Foundation and are awarded to sons or daughters of union members. Seen here (l. to r.) are Patrick O'Brien, Richard O'Brien, Gil Jock (CSEA vice president), Diane Gadway (CSEA secretary), Stephanie Rabideau and Helen Rock.

NOTES

The Educational Opportunity Program seeks tutors in all areas, but especially in Biology 100-101, Business 201-202-350, Chemistry 100-111, Economics 101-110-111, Mathematics 161, and Physics 111-112. Applicants must have a B or better average in the courses they wish to tutor and must submit two (2) letters of recommendation from faculty, one of which must be in the subject area. Pay is $4.50/hour to $6.00/hour depending on qualifications. Please see Jacqueline Jones, Algonquin 103, for an application and interview, or call 564-2263.

Upward Bound, a federally funded program for educationally and economically disadvantaged students, is seeking students interested in working as tutor-counselors this coming summer. Tutor-counselors each provide assistance, guidance, and tutoring to groups of students. The program operates 24 hours each day, from Sunday evening through Friday afternoon, and tutor-counselors are required to live in the dorm during that time. Twelve tutor-counselors will be hired to work for a seven-week period: June 20 through August 8, 1989. They will receive full room and board and earn a salary of $900-$1100 (contingent on funding from the U.S. Department of Education). Students interested in applying, or would like additional information, are encouraged to stop by the Upward Bound office (256 Macdonough Hall) or call 564-2030. Applications received by February 17, 1989 will be given first consideration.

The 1989-90 Financial Aid application, the Financial Aid Form (FAF), is now available at the Financial Aid Office, 4th floor of Kehoe and the College Center Information Desk. Students must file the Financial Aid Form, by March 1, 1989, with the College Scholarship Service to receive first consideration for College Foundation Scholarships, College Work-Study Grants, Educational Opportunity Grants, Federal Nursing Loans, Perkins National Direct Student Loans, and Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants. The FAF is also the application for the Pell Grant, TAP, and the Stafford Loan (formerly the Guaranteed Student Bank Loan Program). Students applying ONLY for the Pell Grant and TAP Grant programs may use the free forms provided by the federal and state governments which are available in the Financial Aid Office. In addition to filing the FAF, aid applicants must also submit signed copies of their parents' and their own 1988 federal and state tax returns directly to the Financial Aid Office by April 15. Furthermore, students who are currently enrolled and are interested in being evaluated for Work-Study eligibility for 1989-90 must complete a separate registration card in the Financial Aid Office by April 15.

The Sociology Department Colloquium Series will present "The FBI: High Tech and Proactive," a talk by Dr. Tony Poveda, associate professor of sociology, to be held at noon on Wednesday, Feb. 1 in the first floor conference room of the Angell College Center. Poveda's talk will focus on how the FBI, as a result of new technology, is on the cutting edge of information management and control — including the computerization of confidential documents. The speaker recently concluded a sabbatic leave. He is writing a book entitled Lawlessness and Reform: The FBI in Transition.

FIPSE-funded Cooperative 'Transfer Project' Well Underway

The Transfer Project, funded by a grant awarded to co-directors Ingrun LaFleur and Suzann Buckley by the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE), is well underway.

The project is a cooperative venture between SUNY Plattsburgh and ten two-year colleges — one CUNY community college, two SUNY technical colleges and seven SUNY community colleges. "Its purpose," LaFleur said, "is to create a new transfer student network to support the academic and cultural integration of transfer students, with an ultimate goal of raising the quality of their academic experiences and their persistence to the baccalaureate."

"We consider this a very important project," she added, "since we currently enroll 1,833 transfer students. Approximately 50% of every graduating class entered originally as transfers. In addition, approximately 25% of the transfer students admitted each year do not return for the following year and we want to improve that statistic."

Jan Randy, coordinator of the project, said that several steps have already been taken. A Transfer Advisory Board, which includes representatives from each participating unit, has been created and has met twice.

Buckley described a survey which was conducted in November of SUNY Plattsburgh faculty and staff perceptions, experiences and concerns about transfer students. "We had an excellent 49% response rate," she said. "The majority said they believe the college should provide access for all qualified transfers and offer special programs to aid their persistence, and 63% said they would be interested in participating in activities with two-year college colleagues."

Buckley said that respondents were queried as to why they thought transfer students begin their study at two-year colleges. Low cost (59%), convenient location (54%), low academic indicators (43%) and undefined educational goals (31%) were the leading responses. Additionally, 41% of the respondents perceived the lack of preparation to undertake upper level course work as the most significant challenge facing the transfer student seeking the baccalaureate

Senate Endorses Policy Raising Academic Progress Standards

The college's Faculty Senate endorsed a revised dismissal policy during its January meeting last Tuesday that would raise standards governing "satisfactory academic progress toward the degree" among new students.

The policy, which will be forwarded this week to President Charles O. Warren for his consideration, would become effective for freshmen and transfer students who begin their studies here next fall. Further details of how the policy would be administered — specifically, whether currently enrolled students would be allowed to continue to graduation under the existing "sliding scale" policy — would be worked out by the college's Academic Council.

Under the proposed change, students having 0-18 hours who receive a grade-point average (gpa) between 1.6 and 1.999 would be placed on probation, and, if they fail to submit a "thoughtful educational plan" by a specified date, they would be dismissed from the college. The policy states that the educational plan "should describe ways in which students intend to raise their cumulative gpa to 2.0 by the end of the following semester," and stipulates that failure to submit a plan by the deadline would result in dismissal.

Students below 1.6 would receive a letter informing them that they have been dismissed and giving them guidelines for appealing the decision. The appeal would have to include an educational plan, but also a letter concerning "extenuating circumstances which resulted in poor grades." Students in this group whose appeals are accepted would be placed on probation. This segment of the policy would apply also to students who have completed more than 18 hours at the college.

The policy further states that academic probation would be permitted only for two consecutive semesters before dismissal becomes automatic.

In expressing a rationale for the change, Dr. Lary Shaffer, associate professor of psychology, argued that, "It has long been recognized that high expectations are an important component of student performance" and that "the expectations we set for our

Gregory, 'Comedy Shop' Headline 'Black History Month' Events

February is "Black History Month" at SUNY Plattsburgh, and the observance this year will be highlighted by film showings, a forum on multicultural issues and concerns, and speaking and performance engagements featuring a noted Black activist and a comedy improvisational group. All events and programs are open to all, and most are free of charge.

According to graduate student Dale Tuczinski, director of Wilson Hall, who is serving also as multicultural programming coordinator, Black History Month will begin today at 7 p.m. with a showing of the film "Lord Thing, Gang Wars" in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge. Subsequent films in the series, to be shown at the same time and in the same location, include "Lord Thing, Black Power," on Wednesday, Feb. 8; "Slavery and the Slave Resistance," on Wednesday, Feb. 15; and "Oh, Freedom" on Wednesday, Feb. 22.

A multicultural forum will be held Tuesday (Feb. 7) at 7 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge, with President Charles O. Warren serving as moderator. The forum, said Tuczinski, will allow participants to discuss issues and concerns of members of the campus community from multicultural backgrounds, to assess progress over the past several months and to offer suggestions for further improvement.

Comedian-actor Dick Gregory, who has achieved fame also as an author, human rights activist and philosopher, will give a public talk at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 21 in the Angell Center Blue Room. A reception for Gregory, whose visit to campus is being sponsored jointly by the college's Minority Concerns Committee and Akeba, the organization created to serve primarily the needs of the institution's black student population, will follow his presentation.

The final formal program scheduled for Black History Month will be a performance by two black comedians from the group, "Comedy Shop." The show, Tuczinski said, will be held at 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 24, but a location has yet to be determined.

"Five or six comedians work with the Comedy Shop, so we don't know now the names of the people who will perform here," said Tuczinski. "We do know that the group has been 'warm-up' for Bill Cosby's stage act, so we can expect an entertaining evening."

A modest admission fee will be charged for the Comedy Shop show, which will be co-sponsored by Akeba and the Student Association. The amount will be announced at the time a site has been determined.

Residence Hall Staff Compile Impressive Fall Semester gpa

Residence hall staff members are compiling an impressive academic record, according to the latest figures released by the Office of Campus Life. Resident assistants and residence hall directors achieved an overall grade point average of 3.285 for the fall, 1988 semester. Their cumulative average currently stands at 3.039.

Sixty-nine staff members achieved a GPA of 3.0 or better, 34 stood at 3.5 or better and six attained a 4.0. The six staff members with straight A's for the marking period were Renee Annacone, Patty Landry, Dennis Rasco, Margaret Semple, Dale Tuczinski, and Scott Tuller.

Staff members from Macomb Hall scored the highest average semester GPA (3.61) while those from Macdonough hold the top spot for cumulative GPA with a 3.23.

degree at Plattsburgh. A similar survey will be administered in February at the two-year campuses.

Other activities already underway include a reception held earlier this month for new transfer students, the rejuvenation of the transfer student advisory council, and preparation of transfer directories listing the various two-year 'feeder' schools and the students who transferred to Plattsburgh from those schools.

Plans are also being made to develop a network of faculty and staff mentors for transfer students and to find ways to provide those students with stronger academic support. Several faculty members will visit some of the two-year campuses this spring for orientation and advisement meetings with students who plan to transfer to Plattsburgh in the fall. Also, a Transfer Network Summer Institute is scheduled for June. That institute will bring together about 60 faculty, staff and students from the participating units to consider joint activities and to discuss curriculum development, advisement and student support services.

students in the current dismissal policy are not high enough." In a "note" to the proposed policy, Shaffer points out that submission of an educational plan for first semester students whose gpa's fall between 1.6 and 2.0 gives them "leeway for adjustment to college." This is proposed, he writes, because it is felt that some first semester students who receive a dismissal letter with no option might be so devastated or personally distraught that they would give up without a fight.

Special Exhibit of da Vinci's Inventions Debuts Next Wednesday

The SUNY Plattsburgh Art Galleries will present a special exhibition of "Leonardo da Vinci, the Inventor" from February 8 through March 15 in the Myers Fine Arts Gallery.

The exhibit will feature 23 working models of da Vinci's inventions accompanied by replicas of his sketches. Among the models to be displayed are a military tank, a triple tier machine gun mechanism, a steam gun, a pile driver, a paddle wheel ship, a helicopter, a flying machine, and a parachute — all of which were unheard of during his lifetime (1452-1519).

These models are a part of a larger collection owned by IBM. The collection has been shown in museums, colleges, universities and public libraries across the country since 1951.

While da Vinci is best known for his paintings, including "The Mona Lisa" and "The Last Supper," he also worked as sculptor, musician, architect, anatomist, astronomer, hydrologist and weapons designer.

Gallery docents have been working on this very special exhibit since last July, according to Phyllis Freedman. Information packets have been distributed to schools, so that teachers and their students can become familiar with da Vinci prior to visiting the gallery. Approximately 30 school groups have already made arrangements to tour the exhibit. Students at Peru Central School have done extensive research on da Vinci and his times, and the resulting materials will also be on exhibit.

Group tours may be arranged by calling 564-2813 or 564-2288. The film, "I, Leonardo" will be shown in Myers 232 at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. every Friday, Saturday and Sunday during the exhibit. The exhibit is free and open to the public.

'88 Parents' Fund Final Tally Shows Sharp Gains in Key Areas

The 1988 Parents Fund Campaign, a relatively new component of the annual giving campaign conducted by the Plattsburgh College Foundation, was an unqualified success, according to Daniel Milliman, director of development. "The 1988 campaign," he said, "raised $20,002 from 760 parents. That's in comparison to the 1987 campaign which raised $7,883 from 340 parents. Both figures increased by well over 100 percent and we could not be more pleased."

Plattsburgh College Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman commented, "The Foundation is very grateful to the many parents who supported this year's campaign. Parents who contribute to our annual fund are letting us know how very much they appreciate the quality education their children are receiving at SUNY Plattsburgh."

Shipman also expressed his appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. David Belair of Allegany, and Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn J. Bullis of Roscoe, who co-chaired the campaign. They are the parents, respectively, of junior Cassandra and sophomore Joanne Belair and of junior Michele Bullis.

Milliman said that 5,500 parents were solicited by direct mail early in the fall semester, and 3,349 were contacted by student solicitors during a follow-up phonethon held in October. Income from the fund is supporting an ongoing project to refurbish the late-night study room in the Feinberg Library. New carpeting was installed in the area last fall and new furniture will be purchased in the near future.

Josal in Visiting Distinguished Professorship Through February

Dr. Wendell Josal, professor of theatre at the University of Minnesota, is in residence on campus as a Distinguished Visiting Professor through March 1.

Josal has been a key figure in the development of a multi-degree program in theatre at that university and has served in many capacities in the program, including director of graduate studies and chair of the department of theatre arts and dance. He has also served as a consultant to the Rarig Center, a theatre and classroom building housing four stages — thrust, arena, proscenium and experimental.

Sports Report

Hockey — Cardinals extended unbeaten streak to 12 with wins over hapless Binghamton (18-1) and sixth-ranked Hamilton (4-2), both on the road. At Hamilton, Shane Ferras (hat trick), goalie Craig Barnett (39 saves) and Dave Doucette (four assists) turned in four-star performances.

Basketball — Both men's and women's teams were 1-3 last week. The men lost to Albany (61-51) and Potsdam (93-63) before nipping Oneonta (65-63) on Friday. The women lost to Albany (74-63), defeated Potsdam (61-54) and were edged by Oneonta (55-53).

Track — Double winners Rhonda Rhumel (55 and 200 meters) and Kathy Kane (800 and 1500 meters) enabled the Cardinals to dominate the field in Saturday's Norwich Cadet Indoor Track and Field Invitational meet. Eric Allen (55 meter dash) was the only first-place finisher for the men.

Swimming — The women defeated Clarkson 119-101 on Tuesday, but the men lost 155-77. Lynn Schultz (50 and 100 freestyle and 200 meter medley relay) and Joanne Carrol (200 meter breaststroke, 200 individual medley and 200 meter medley relay) were triple winners for the Cardinals. For the men, the only first place finishers were Jeff Koller (50 meter freestyle) and Art LaMarch (100 meter freestyle).

Dr. Donald D. Adams, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, received a travel grant from the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration's Great Lakes Research Laboratory in Ann Arbor, MI to participate in a multidisciplinary cruise on Lake Erie along with scientists from the Canadian Center for Inland Waters. During the cruise, Adams collected bottom samples to study lake pollution and sediment gases. . . Drs. Gerhard Gruendling and Donald Bogucki, professors, and Kenneth Adams, associate professor, of the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, are listed among a dozen scientists as contributors to "An Adirondack Watershed Data Base: Attribute and Mapping Information for Regional Deposition Studies," a comprehensive volume published in December by the U.S. Department of Energy's Oak Ridge National Laboratory. . . Dr. Suzann Buckley, professor of history, chaired a panel discussion on the topic "Paradox and Diversity in English Feminism: Fabians, Jews and 'New Women' of the 1920s" at the annual meeting of the American Historical Association held in late December in Cincinnati. . . Dr. Leonard Fontana, associate professor of sociology, reviewed the Abram de Swaan book In Care of the State: Health Care, Education and Welfare in Europe and the United States in the Modern Era for a forthcoming issue of the "International Journal of Comparative Sociology". . . Dr. Lise Heroux, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics, participated in the Academy of International Business 1989 Symposium on Pacific Asian Business, held earlier this month in Hawaii, where she presented a paper entitled "French-English Canadian Sub-Cultural Difference in the Industrial Purchase Process." Heroux's paper will be published in the symposium proceedings. . . "'Siddhartha' in the Big Sur. Zur Wirkungsgeschichte Hesses in den USA: Eine Ergänzung," an article by Dr. Jurgen Kleist, assistant professor of German, appears in the November 1988 issue of Seminar, A Journal of Germanic Studies. . . "Painful Bladder Disease: How Women Cope," an article co-authored by Dr. Naomi McCormick, professor of psychology, has been accepted for publication in Urologic Nursing. McCormick will serve as program chair for the 32nd annual meeting of the Society for the Scientific Study of Sex to be held in Toronto in November on the theme, "Sexuality: Expanding the Boundaries". . . Works by Don Osborn, associate professor of art, have been selected for exhibition in two forthcoming national competitions: the "Sculptural Biennial" at the University of Texas at Tyler, and the "Florida National" at Florida State University. . . Dr. Philip Reines, associate professor of communication, has been invited to deliver his paper, "Cinema With a Future: Canada and the Emergency of a Bilingual and Multi-cultural World-Class Film Industry" at the 5th annual seminar and conference of the Indian Association for Canadian Studies to be held at M.S. University of Baroda, India in March. Reines, a teaching associate in the Center for the Study of Canada, has been invited also to deliver papers on Quebec cinema at the Association of Canadian Studies at the University of Galway in Ireland in May, and at the June conference of the International Council of Canadian Studies at Laval University in Quebec City. . . Dr. Thomas Rumney, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, has recently completed two volumes of bibliographies: The Urban Geography of Canada: A Selected Bibliography, second edition, and The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics: A Selected Bibliography on the Geography of the Region. . . Dr. Roberta Wacker-Mundy, assistant professor in the Department of Hearing and Speech Science, presented a paper entitled "Syntactic, Semantic, and Pragmatic Influences on Children's Inconsistent Misarticulations" at the annual convention of the American Speech-Language Association held recently in Boston. Wacker-Mundy also presented a poster session at the convention entitled "Phonological Assessment and Intervention with the Mentally Retarded."

16 College Delegates Take Part in Binghamton Theatre Festival

Fourteen students and two faculty members in the theatre department recently attended the American College Theatre Festival which was held at SUNY Binghamton. It was the first time a group of students from SUNY Plattsburgh has attended this event.

Elizabeth Bonnebeau, a junior theatre major from Tupper Lake and a cast member of A Voice of My Own, was selected by festival adjudicators to participate in the Irene Ryan Acting Scholarship Auditions during the festival. Bonnebeau presented two scenes, the first from "The Little Foxes," which she performed with Joe Harding, another senior theatre major, and the second from "Sister Mary Ignatius Explains It All to You." While she did not place in the competition, Dr. Charles Kline said, "It was an excellent experience for her and one of the best theatre conferences I've ever attended."

Approximately 1,000 students attended the five-day festival and took part in workshops on various theatre-related topics, including computer design, theatre marketing, the art of staged violence, music for the theatre, physical comedy, and basic acting.

NOTES

Summer Host/Hostess Applications for Summer Residence Hall staff are now available at the Angell College Center Desk for the Summer 1989. Deadline for application is February 22, 1989.

Applications are being accepted for Cornell University's "Cornell National Supercomputer Facility" (CNSF) summer 1989 research experience for undergraduates and undergraduate faculty enhancement. The program provides opportunity for undergraduates to use the CNSF facilities for research, and for both students and faculty to receive training on the use of the supercomputer and instruction in numerical methods which exploit vector and parallel processing. One faculty advisor and one or two students must apply to the program as a team. Stipends for each will be provided. The application deadline is March 20. For complete details about the program, contact Dr. Tseh Y. Li, Department of Physics (3156 or 3165).

SUNY Plattsburgh Students Again Score Above Average on NTE

SUNY Plattsburgh students have once again scored well above the state average on the National Teacher Examination Core Battery Tests.

Dr. Michael Wolfe, director of the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, reports that 93.9 percent of the SUNY Plattsburgh students who took the professional knowledge components of the examination in October passed it. Those results compare to 84.4 percent statewide.

The comparative score on the communication skills component was 92 percent for Plattsburgh students and 79.6% statewide. On the general knowledge section, Plattsburgh students scored 77.1 percent. The statewide score was 69.7 percent.

Between 4,834 and 5,612 New York State residents took the various tests. Also, between 3,464 and 4,129 out-of-state residents were tested and sent their scores to the New York State Education Department. SUNY Plattsburgh also scored much higher than the out-of-state students.

"These results," Wolfe commented, "indicate that the tradition of excellence in teacher training programs at SUNY Plattsburgh is continuing. Our students have scored consistently above the statewide average since the NTE was mandated five years ago. We are especially pleased to see the results on the professional knowledge portion of the examination, since that is a specific reflection of what students have learned in our program.

Six Student-Athletes Repeat as Members of All-Academic Team

Cross country, swimming and soccer dominate the second annual fall All-Academic Team compiled by the Department of Physical Education, Athletics and Recreational Sports (PEARS), and the North Country is well-represented among the 10 men and women athletes who earned first team honors.

To be eligible for the All-Academic Team or "honorable mention" recognition, student-athletes must achieve a grade-point average of at least 3.0 during the semester in which they compete. According to Peter Luguri, director of athletics, 52 students made the fall team — a 48 percent increase in the number who qualified a year ago.

Five harriers, three swimmers and two soccer players comprise the All-Academic first team, selected on the basis of academic performance through the fall semester in combination with participation in intercollegiate sports. Named to the women's team, including sport, year in college, major field of study, hometown and gpa, are: Julie Dobert, cross country, junior, accounting, Rensselaer, 4.0; Melissa Frenyea, soccer, junior, secondary education mathematics, Morrisonville, 4.0; Kathleen Kane, cross country, senior, accounting, Elmira, 3.860; Deborah McDonald, swimming, sophomore, special education, Poughkeepsie, 3.714; and Judith Serth, cross country, senior, chemistry, New Hartford, 3.712.

The men's team: Paul Morphy, cross country, junior, speech and hearing science, Morrisonville, 3.960; Arthur LaMarche, swimming, senior, biochemistry/biophysics, Plattsburgh, 3.767; Daniel Pollay, cross country, sophomore, business/management, Cato, 3.681; Barry Bourgeois, soccer, senior, Canadian studies, Keeseville, 3.650; and Christopher Godlewski, swimming, senior, business, AuSable Forks, 3.550.

The honorable mention selections, by sport, are:

Men: Basketball — John Kmack and Matt Moore; Cross Country — Andrew Hill, Edward Lenane, Kerry Mehan, Anthony Ruggiero and David Seguin; Ice Hockey — John Corbett, Dave Doucette and David Kocsis; and Soccer — Robert Anna, Michael McDowell, Brian Micheels and Wayne Smithling.

Women: Basketball — Margaret Crotty and Beth Ann Kilcoyne; Cross Country — Jill Jones, Desiree

College Community Farewell to the Supples Set for March 3rd

The college and greater Plattsburgh communities will say farewell to Academic Affairs Vice President Jerome Supple and his wife, Cathy, during "An Evening Honoring Jerry and Cathy Supple" program scheduled for Friday, March 3. The program will consist of a reception for the Supples in the Angell Center Blue Room, beginning at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 and a post-dinner testimonial salute.

Reservations for the event, to be held in the Angell College Center, are required and will be accepted with payment in full until 500 tickets are purchased — but not later than Wednesday, March 1. Tickets are priced at $15 each and they will be available on a first-come, first served basis in the President's Office. For further information, contact the President's Office.

Dr. Supple, appointed vice president here in 1978, will assume the presidency of Southwest Texas State University in Marcos in the near future.

Local Education Major Wins Faculty Women's Scholarship

The Faculty Women's Organization has awarded its annual scholarship to Linda Breidenbach, a junior elementary education major from Plattsburgh.

Scholarship chair Marcia Gottschall said that at least one $500 award is available each year to juniors or seniors who compile a grade point average of 3.0 or higher, or graduate students with a gpa of 3.5 or higher.

Rebecca Feeley, a senior communication arts major from Keeseville, is the latest SUNY Plattsburgh student to participate in the Walt Disney World College Program, a cooperative education program at Disney World in Orlando, Florida. Feeley spent the fall semester in the program, which gives students valuable experiences in the leisure industry.

Gottschall added that money for the scholarship fund is generated through the Faculty Women's Organization's annual fall plant sale and annual holiday poinsettia sale. She expressed the group's appreciation to those who helped make the scholarship possible.

Peart, Rhonda Ruhmel and Katrina Washburn; Soccer — Mary Jane Dillon, Linda Halvorsen, Christine Harris, Kelly LaDuke, Lori Lafave, Kathleen Ritger, Kelly Swartz and Shannon Williams; Tennis — Stephanie Berak, Anne Craig, Carolyn Cross, Kelly Gates, Laura Hammond and Sonya Stanley; Swimming — Suzanne Dier, Tamara Nightingale and Kristine Smith; and Volleyball — Kristen Becker, Stephanie Lavigne and Melanie Torhan.

A check of the top ten listing shows not only that one-half are area residents but also that six repeat as first-team members of previous All-Academic Teams.

LaMarche, Dobert, Frenyea and Kane become three-time members; Godlewski and Serth made the team for the second time. Also, six who made the honorable mention honor role have been all-academic selections before, including a few who made the first team previously.

Luguri pointed out that 182 students competed on fall semester teams — an increase of seven percent in comparison with fall 1987. He noted also that 29 percent of the student-athletes achieved a gpa of 3.0 or higher, where 26.8 percent of the entire undergraduate population met that standard.

Arts & Science Faculty Report Wide Range of Sabbatic Activity

The Office of the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science has compiled a summary report on sabbatic leave activities of members of the Faculty during academic 1987-88. Following are highlights from individual reports submitted, as required, as of the end of calendar 1988:

Dr. Gary Brannigan, professor of psychology, worked to develop an inexpensive, non-verbal measure of creative thinking to be used by teachers in the primary grades through high school. He and Sharon Pavone, a former graduate student, completed a research manuscript and prepared a manual for the use of the Visual Motor Gestalt Screening Instrument.

Paul Clare, associate professor of sociology, spent two months in Northern Ireland and England continuing his investigations of the involvement of terrorist organizations in racketeering. He completed one research article, a conference paper, and was elected to the five-member Executive Board of the International Society for the Study of Organized Crime (ISSOC).

Dr. William Culver, associate professor of political science, completed two book-length manuscripts on copper mining and on New York State social welfare respectively; two conference papers and a book review on Latin American Policy for Harper & Row. The book prospectives on the copper study were circulated, and three university presses expressed interest in publishing them.

William Crosby, professor of art, took painting and photographic trips to the Canadian Rockies and the Winter Olympics at Calgary, and to Alaska and Florida. He also organized his exhibition of photos and paintings: William M. Crosby, Images: A Quarter Century, and held last fall in the Myers Gallery.

Dr. Lonnie Fairchild, associate professor of computer science, spent the year at the University of Massachusetts for advanced studies in computer science. He developed research in the area of formulating and designing strategies in "intelligent tutoring systems" (ITS's), which is a growing area of artificial intelligence research.

Dr. Peter Gore, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, led a team to refine the test symbols for use on pesticide labels in Central America with grant support from the ICI American Chemical Company. A research report has been completed and submitted to the sponsoring agency.

Dr. Richard Lamb, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, completed a research project designed to identify and quantify the environmental, fiscal, and consumer impacts associated with rural land subdivisions in the Catskill region. The project was completed in conjunction with the Catskill Center for Conservation and Development which provided funding for expenses. The project involved two student interns.

Dr. John Moravek, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, focused on collections of extensive data from census manuscripts on the Adirondack-Champlain iron industry. He completed and presented a paper at the 84th Annual Meeting of the Association of American Geographers.

Dr. Charles List, professor of philosophy conducted interviews of residents of Austin, Minnesota and gathered taped interviews for an analysis on the value-conflicts implicit in the Austin labor strike in late 1985 and early 1986, which The New York Times called "One of the most bitter and intriguing fights in modern labor relations."

Dr. Roy Malpass, professor of behavioral science, continued work on facial recognition and eyewitness identification. With two students (Dawn Erskine and Lori Vaughn), he presented a research report at the spring meetings of the Eastern Psychological Association. With another student (Anja Rothhaar), he began work on a computer-based facial composite system. He finished a chapter on context effects in eyewitness memory, and began work on an edited volume on eyewitness identification in collaboration with two colleagues from Germany. Last February, Malpass was elected President of the Society for Cross-Cultural Research. During spring and summer,

Foundation to Convene Annual, Directors' Meetings Tomorrow

The Plattsburgh College Foundation will hold its annual meeting tomorrow (Feb. 9) at 4 p.m. in the Angell College Center Cardinal Lounge.

The annual meeting will be highlighted by an assessment of the Foundation's fund-raising performance in 1988, a state of the organization's financial condition and the election of two community persons to the Foundation Board of Directors. Also, representatives of standing committees will give reports, and new community, alumni, and faculty and student appointees to the Foundation will be introduced.

Following the annual meeting, the Foundation's 1989 Board of Directors will convene in the Angell Center Conference Room to elect officers, review and act upon the organization's operating budget for the year, appoint standing committee chairpersons and establish an annual giving goal for 1989. The board will also hear a presentation from college President Charles C. Warren on proposed guidelines for "named gift opportunities" and one from Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman on the 1989 special "Centennial Campaign."

Cards Rip Geneseo for 13th Straight; Earn National Ranking

The Plattsburgh State hockey team played a virtually flawless game Saturday night in stomping Oswego State, 11-3, at Stafford Arena for its 13th consecutive victory and its 18th on the season against four losses and a tie. National respectability was at stake for the Cardinals, and hustle and on-ice discipline paid handsome dividends as they learned Monday they had finally cracked the national and eastern college rankings. Plattsburgh now stands 8th nationally and 5th among eastern college teams. Ten Cardinals fattened their scoring statistics at Geneseo's expense, led by Shane Ferras' five-point outburst on a pair of goals and three assists. Goalie Craig Barnett sparkled in the net for Plattsburgh, stopping 26 shots.

The men's basketball team dropped a pair on the road during the week to fall to 7-12 with four regular season games remaining to be played. Cortland drubbed the Cards Friday, 62-43, and Binghamton clipped their wings on Saturday, 80-74. Freshman Todd Wright had a solid two-game series, scoring 19 points against Cortland and 21 versus the Colonials. In the latter game, Mark Cassier, Andy Dumas and Matt Moore scored in double figures with 20, 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The women Cardinals, meanwhile, gained a split against the same schools. Cortland stunned them 90-59 on Friday, but they rallied to whip Binghamton, 71-58, the following evening. T.J. Cornwright tallied 38 points for Plattsburgh in the two games, while Donna Dixon added 30 markers.

Kathy Kane won the 300 meter run at the open indoor track meet hosted by the college Saturday afternoon. Her time of 9:57.1 was 18.3 seconds off her personal best performance, but it set a new school and meet record and qualified Kane for both the indoor and outdoor NCAA track championships to be held later in the spring. During the meet, Judith Serth, Mary Hurteau, Sue Alfieri, Alex Rios and Julie Dobert qualified for the SUNYAC championships. Dobert and Suzanne Kennedy also qualified for the NYSWCAA championships.

Alumni Game This Weekend

Many of the finest players ever to wear the Cardinal uniform, including some from the club sport era and some from the 1987 Division III national championship team, will return to Stafford Arena Saturday to participate in the annual Red vs. White All-Alumni exhibition hockey game.

Admission to the game, which begins at 2 p.m., is free and open to all. The all-alumni contest and reunion is sponsored jointly by the Cardinal Booster Club and the SUNY Plattsburgh Alumni Association.

The Cardinal women's swim team lost to Middlebury at home on Saturday, 151-78, but a bright spot in defeat was the performance of Deidre Sweeney. Sweeney swam the 500 meter freestyle in 5:47.11 to set a new Memorial Hall pool record. Two weeks ago, she won the same event in 5:51.4 to break a record that had held up for three years. The men's team also lost to Middlebury on Saturday. The margin was 141-77.

EAP-sponsored Workshop Series to Focus on Stress Management

The College's Employee Assistance Program (EAP) will sponsor a "Stress Management Workshop" series to be held in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge from 12:10 to 12:50 p.m. beginning Tuesday, Feb. 21 and continuing on Tuesdays through the remainder of the spring semester.

Participants in the first session will be given an overview of stress, take a stress test and learn breathing exercises. Subsequent sessions in the eight-part series will focus on such topics as rational emotive therapy, progressive and deep muscle relaxation techniques, imagery, autogenic training and assertiveness training.

Patricia Patillo, who serves on both the psychological services and campus life staffs, will lead the sessions. The workshop is open to all college employees. Registration is required. Prospective participants may obtain registration materials and additional information about the workshop by contacting Helen Rock, EAP coordinator, at 3105 or 3277.

Dr. John L. Meyer, professor of communication, spent a semester at SUNY Buffalo studying organizational communications, did extensive reading on scholarly works, and conducted interviews of students and faculty of organizational communication at several other universities and colleges, including Michigan State, University of Wisconsin, and University of Minnesota and other SUNY college.

Dr. John Shout, associate professor of English, put together an anthology of social/political plays of the 1930's, based on an extensive research of the plays of that period. Two publishers, University of Michigan Press and Northwestern University Press — have shown interest in publishing his work. He toured Ireland to review plays, Irish drama, and activities, some entirely unknown in this country.

President Delineates Devastating Effects of Proposed Budget

"Access to mediocrity is no blessing. Access to mediocrity is unacceptable." Those were words of Dr. Charles O. Warren at Thursday's campus community budget briefing as he described the potential effects, next year and beyond, of the budget proposed for the college for the 1989-90 academic year.

The budget proposed by the Governor's Office to the New York State Legislature in January is highly problematic and confusing, Warren observed. "The figure proposed for Plattsburgh is $27,666,000. To the casual observer that may appear to be an increase of $1.5 million, but all of that increase is assigned to negotiated salary increases and other fixed costs," he said. "In actuality, the immediate effect is a cut of $151,000 and the loss of 12.6 positions. Of even greater consequence is the prospect that SUNY may be required to absorb a cut of an additional $47 million and a loss of another 652 positions.

"We do not know yet what our share of this cut would be, but we have been asked to prepare a study that will show the effects of a budget deletion of an added five percent ($1,380,000). If all of the cuts were made in personnel — an approach we will not take — that would translate to the loss of 55 to 65 positions. When you consider that, during the past 15 years, we have already lost 91 positions while increasing enrollment by more than 1,000 students, it is obvious that the college is in danger of suffering irreversible damage."

College Foundation Reports Record Year in Annual Giving Income

For the 19th consecutive year, the SUNY Plattsburgh College Foundation has surpassed its previous record for contributions to the Annual Giving Campaign. The 1988 campaign raised $445,619, an increase of 14% over the $389,216 raised in 1987, which was in itself a record figure. Total giving for the year, including contributions to various endowment funds, was $502,025.

The results of the campaign were announced last Thursday at the annual meeting of the Foundation membership. "We continue to be amazed each year by the faith shown in us by not only our own alumni, faculty, staff, and students, but also by individuals and businesses in the community," said Curtis Shipman, president of the Foundation. "That faith and support make all of us who work with the Foundation very proud."

The number of donors who participated in the annual giving program increased by 455 persons, with 4,352 individuals, businesses or organizations making a gift during the 1988 campaign.

A major factor in achieving the goal, Shipman said, was a recent gift of stock by Jeannette E. Clark of Malone in memory of her late husband, attorney Claude J. Clark. The sale of that stock earned the foundation nearly $87,000. Mr. Clark was a member of the Plattsburgh College Council from 1964 to 1980.

While the Clark gift inflated the Friends' Campaign segment of the Annual Giving Program to more than $135,000, alumni giving for unrestricted purposes followed close behind with $96,993.

Another highlight of the campaign was the phenomenal success of the 1988 Parents' Fund, which raised more than $20,000 from 760 parents. By com-

Search Committee Formed for Academic Affairs V.P. Position

The Office of the President has announced establishment of a Search Committee for the position of vice president for academic affairs. According to President Charles O. Warren, the position is being advertised nationally.

Dr. Prem Gandhi, professor of economics, will serve as chair of the committee. Members include Dr. Stuart Baum, professor of chemistry; Jeanne Hahn Bennink, staff associate, Feinberg Library; Dr. Lonnie Fairchild, associate professor of computer science; Dr. Carrie Harris, associate professor in the Center of Human Resources; Kathleen Kane, student; Anna Nardelli, associate professor in the Center for Teacher Education; Francis Patnode, senior career planning associate; Dr. Richard Robbins, associate professor of anthropology; Helen Rock, senior stenographer, Office of Institutional Research; Michael Santora, president of the Student Association; and Dr. Nicholas Troisi, dean of the Faculty of Professional Studies.

Serving in an ex-officio capacity will be Dr. Raymond Domenico, chairperson of the Faculty Senate; Dr. George Flynn, chairperson of the Senate's Committee on Faculty Affairs; and Janet Saunders, director of personnel and affirmative action. Beverly Forster, assistant to the president, will serve as Search Committee liaison to the president's office.

President Warren said that more information about the search process will be available in the coming week.

tion of the state is serious and we will not shirk from doing our share. We in SUNY and at Plattsburgh work hard to be good, responsible leaders and stewards of the public trust. However, left unchanged, this proposed budget will lead to a serious redefinition of our college and the university. Access will surely be reduced and services to our community will be noticeably diminished. An educated population is vital to the future of our state, but this proposed budget can only lead us quickly away from providing our citizens with what they deserve — a public university of the highest possible quality."

President Warren asked faculty, staff and students to help present the college's case to members of the New York State Legislature. A sample letter together with names and addresses of key legislators was passed out at the end of Thursday's meeting (copies of both may be obtained by contacting the Office of College Relations and Development, 8th floor Kehoe, extension 2090). Also, members of the college community were encouraged to participate in "SUNY Day" in Albany on March 14, when they will have opportunity to meet face-to-face with legislators and staff members.

'Principles, Guidelines, Assumptions' Would be Basis for Budget Decisions

In discussing the potential effects of the budget proposed for the college for academic 1989-90, President Charles O. Warren stated emphatically that any and all decisions will be based on a carefully considered set of "principles, guidelines and assumptions." He defined them as follows:

- Preserve, to the greatest extent possible, a strong sense of community.
- Maintain vigorous, high quality academic programs.
- Maintain strong learning-related student services.
- Identify alternative funding for existing state positions wherever feasible.
- Minimize the number of actual retrenchments.
- Yield vacant positions wherever possible, while avoiding disproportionate reductions in any one area.
- Devise strategies to maintain teaching power.
- Assign greater resource reductions in areas that aren't as directly related to the appropriate preservation of the teaching, learning, living, and organizational environments.
- Establish a policy that would give retrenched colleagues first priority in competing for open positions.

to the leaders of the annual giving campaign, among them Cliff Calongne, campaign chair; Paul Green and Michael O'Connor, co-chairs of the Business Campaign; Jackie Walker and William Owens, who led the Friends' Campaign; Betty Kelly, who headed the Organizations' Drive; John Carpenter, the Booster Club Campaign chair; Bruce Butterfield, Nancy Church, Hans Hirsch and Clara LaRose, who coordinated the Faculty/Staff Drive; and Marge Bouyea, Peg Ryan and James Hutchinson, who assisted with the Alumni Fund Drive. Overall, Shipman said, approximately 100 individuals participated in the annual campaign.

Members of the Foundation were also reminded that more than $400,000 was allocated to the college for the 1988-89 academic year in support of the student aid program. More than 750 undergraduates received assistance on the basis of financial need, superior scholarship or a combination of the two.

Stafford, Forrence, Kennedy and Santora Join Foundation Board

Four new members have been named to the Plattsburgh College Foundation Board of Directors and two other members have been reappointed. State Senator Ronald B. Stafford of Plattsburgh and Roger Forrence of Peru were elected to three-year terms as community directors. Stafford has represented the North Country in the New York State Senate since 1965. He is currently serving in the Senate as Deputy Majority Leader, and is senior partner in the law firm of Stafford, McGill and Edwards.

Forrence, owner of Forrence Orchards, has been active with the Foundation for several years, serving an earlier term on the Board and also as a member of the Investment Committee.

The Alumni Association Board of Directors appointed Margaret Quinn Kennedy '60 to a three-year term representing the alumni body. Kennedy, who holds a bachelor's degree in nursing from SUNY Plattsburgh, is director for quality assurance utilization and risk management at the CVPH Medical Center.

Michael Santora, a senior economics/mathematics major from Saratoga Springs, and the current president of the Student Association, was appointed by President Charles O. Warren to a one-year term as student representative.

Copyright gives the college the exclusive legal right to reproduce the work for any purpose. The Centennial logo was created by Sherwood Keyser, director of publications in the Office of College Relations and Development. It appears on college stationary, publications and College Store items including supplies, sundries and apparel.

Beth Johnson of Tupper Lake and Dr. Annette Manganel, professor emeritus of education, were reappointed to represent the College Council and the faculty respectively.

Several new members of the corporation were also named at the Foundation's annual meeting. New community members are: Daniel Alexander, Ralph Boire, Robert Bronson, Herbert Carpenter, Victor Podd, Robert Shields, Frances West, Amy Whitehead, and Courtland Wood. Rolando Thorne, president of the Alumni Association, is a new alumni member and Dr. Nicholas Troisi and SA President Santora are new faculty/student members.

At a board meeting immediately after the Foundation's Annual Meeting, Curtis E. Shipman was re-elected to a fifth term as president of the Foundation. Also re-elected to office were first vice president Clifford Calongne, second vice president Elizabeth Kelly, secretary Olive Flynt, and treasurer William Woltjen. Don Garran, assistant to the president for college relations and development, was re-appointed to serve as the Foundation's executive director. The Foundation's executive committee will consist of Calongne, Kelly, Albert F. Luck, Shipman and Warren.

Works by 4 Student Composers to be Presented Tuesday at 7

Work by four student composers will be represented on Tuesday, February 21 at 7 p.m. in the Hawkins Hall Small Auditorium.

The program will feature "Easy Work, My Brass," a short work for brass trio by Gary Hammond; Joe Harding's "Pluit Triste" for flute, clarinet and piano; two songs by Laura Smith and Cindy Longo, "Why Can't I Own You" and "I'll Never Forget You Stephanie"; and Patrick Haggerty's "Obsession, The Possession" for chorus and five-piece band.

The concert is free and open to the campus and community.

Video Dance Party 'Club Coke' Here Saturday as Fund-raiser

"Club Coca-Cola"TM comes to campus this week to raise money for the Special Olympics.

Club Coca-Cola is a spectacular touring video dance party which features a 200 square foot video screen, music videos performed by top artists, a super strobe, moonflower, cyclorama and other high-tech lighting effects. The party will be held in the Angell College Center Ballroom on Saturday, February 18 beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Admission is $5 and is open to the campus and community.

Cardinal Hockey Team Wins 20th for Fifth Consecutive Season

The Plattsburgh State hockey team extended its unbeaten streak to 15 games with a pair of weekend wins at Stafford Arena. Matt Furtado led the attack on Friday with two goals and an assist as the Cardinals needed two third period scores to turn back Cortland, 4-2. On Saturday, Brian Schmuck tallied two goals and assisted on a third as the Cardinals trounced Fredonia, 9-2. The Fredonia win was goalie Craig Barnett's 19th on the season against four losses and a tie as the Cards reached the 20 victory plateau for the fifth straight year. Plattsburgh was 20-4-1 going into Monday's games versus Elmira.

The men's basketball team was 1-1 on the week, clobbering Clarkson 95-80 on Wednesday at home before losing at Oneonta on Saturday by a 70-67 count. Four Cardinals scored in double figures in the Clarkson win, led by Mark Cassier's 24 markers. Cassier and Scott Randolph shared the scoring honors at Oneonta with 14 points each. The Cardinal women, meanwhile, lost to both Clarkson (87-60) and Oneonta (70-67). However, Donna Dixon was outstanding in defeat in both games, netting 24 second-half points, including 15 from three-point range, against the women Knights, and tallying 17 versus Oneonta.

College Asks ECAC to Lift Ban on Post-Season Tourney Play

SUNY Plattsburgh has requested the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) East-West Tournament Committee to reconsider its decision to ban the college's hockey team for its 1989 post-season tournament.

According to Peter Luguri, director of athletics, the college's decision to appeal was based on "significant improvement of the hockey team's on-ice discipline during the regular season," which ended Monday. Specifically, he said, major penalties and misconduct and game disqualification penalties declined dramatically this season in comparison with previous years.

"We also made it clear to the ECAC committee that we believe our team deserves to participate in the tournament," commented Luguri. "We feel our players have achieved a high competitive level while representing the college, our intercollegiate sports program and the hockey program itself in a positive manner."

The appeal was forwarded to Louis Spiotti, director of athletics at R.I.T., who chairs the East-West Tournament Committee. It will be up to Spiotti to present the college's case to the committee, which is scheduled to seed the 1989 tournament field on Monday during a conference call. The ECAC tournament gets underway next Saturday (February 25).

At the University of Sherbrooke last weekend, Rhonda Ruhmel ran the 60-meters in 7.2 seconds to set a new school record in that event. Suzanne Kennedy and Judy Serth placed second and third in the 3000 meters to qualify for the NYSWCCA championships. For the Cardinal men, Eric Allen and Brian Delong set new school records in the 60 meter and 600 meter events, respectively. Matt Nephew qualified for the SUNYAC championships in the 1500 meter run with a time of 4:19.89.

The men's and women's swim teams both lost to Albany on Saturday, but several Cardinals turned in top notch performances. Chris Godlewski finished first in the 100 meter breaststroke and Randy Kelley won the 500 meter freestyle event. Dave Mowen won both diving events, and the 400 meter freestyle relay team of Art LaMarche, Botsford Finnegan, Jeff Kollar and Godlewski captured a first place ribbon. Kelley Kruzer and Kris Smith paced the women, Kruzer winning the 200 freestyle and 100 butterfly events and Smith winning the diving competition.

Freshman Experience Program Modification Effective Next Term

The college's Freshman Experience program, instituted last fall, will undergo substantive modification before the next corps of first-time students arrive on campus in August.

It's not that the program has fallen short of expectations in its initial year, says Cheryl Hogle, associate director of campus life and Freshman Experience coordinator. Rather, changes will come about to strengthen and refine it. Specifically, it is being redesigned to make it easier for freshmen to become acclimated to residence life and to increase their awareness of the breadth of campus intellectual activity.

"We've monitored the program since its beginning" said Hogle, "and we've held meetings periodically with the more than 120 faculty and student mentors and resident assistants involved with it. Our intent has been to keep track of progress and problems and to obtain feedback and suggestions for improvement. As a result, we plan to alter the program in two major ways."

First, said Hogle, rather than having 100 percent freshmen on 30 residence hall floors, freshmen will live in clusters as 50 percent of the population on 60 floors spread across the campus. Upperclass students and new transfers will occupy the remaining spaces on those floors, and that will foster interaction between freshman students and those acquainted with the campus and its people.

Second, rather than having a faculty mentor assigned to a single floor of all freshmen, those mentors will each work with freshmen residing on two floors contiguous to each other. Additionally, said Hogle, commuter students will have faculty mentors; a circumstance that was not part of the original program.

Student mentors will no longer be part of the program, and 50 have been involved this year. But RA's on the 60 floors, carefully selected on the basis of their special talents and maturity, will inherit expanded residence programming responsibilities.

"Freshman Experience faculty mentors will teach a one-credit seminar in the residence halls in which their freshman floor residents will be enrolled," added Hogle. "All incoming freshmen will be pre-registered for the seminar. Although the course is currently in the design state, it is expected to be oriented to 'active learning.' It most likely will focus on the intellectual and cultural aspects of college life as well as on global and personal issues. Readings may be assigned, and freshmen may be required to attend lectures by distinguished visiting professors as well as plays, concerts and art exhibitions, and write reports on these kinds of experiences. The objective is to assure that all freshmen have at least one common academic experience."

Of many positive aspects of the Freshman Experience program in its first year, Hogle cited two that have been most beneficial. "Freshmen say the program helped them feel comfortable and to make friends easily and quickly with others in the same situation," she observed. "We estimate, also, the freshmen students' out-of-class contact with faculty increased 100-fold in comparison with any pre-Freshman Experience class."

SUNY Research Grant Supports Chromatography Equipment Buy

The SUNY Research Foundation has approved a Research Equipment Challenge Grant in the amount of $11,895 to help purchase equipment used in high performance liquid chromatography (HPLC).

The proposal was submitted by Dr. Jeanne Ryan, assistant professor of psychology, Dr. Roger Heintz, chair of the biological sciences department, and Dr. Taher Zandi, director of the Alzheimer's Disease Assistance Center. The Challenge Grant Program requires recipients to match the award with at least an equal amount of funding from non-state sources prior to June 30, 1990.

The requested instrumentation, according to the grant proposal, will "greatly modernize and expand the HPLC capabilities" at the college, and will "provide opportunities for developing aspects of new research studies." Several faculty members from various departments are already conducting projects using this type of equipment.

The new equipment, however, will allow collaborative work between the psychology, biology and chemistry departments and the Alzheimer's Disease Assistance Center.

Two Programs Here in Spotlight During 'National TRIO Week'

This week is National TRIO Week in recognition of a series of programs established in 1965 "to help disadvantaged students enter college, graduate and move on to participate more fully in America's economic and social life." TRIO programs are aimed primarily at first generation college students from low income families, and handicapped students. SUNY Plattsburgh operates two TRIO programs, Upward Bound and SSP.

Three staff members (Sandi Lefebvre, Veronika Peacetree, and Lucy Lauzon), six student tutor-counselors (Stacy Boba, Wayne Kneussle, Shelly Haught, Peter Lauzon, Laurie Dow, and Chong Wong) and six Upward Bound students from five area high schools will attend a regional celebration at the University of Massachusetts next Saturday. Additionally, Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel will present a workshop here on "Different Strokes for Different Folks: Varieties of Teaching and Learning Styles," scheduled for 12:10 p.m. on February 28 in the Amnesty Room. A follow-up discussion on learning styles will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. on March 2 in Meeting Room 2. Both programs are open to the campus.

Upward Bound has been in operation at SUNY

Gandhi of SSP Staff Named TRIO Educator of the Year

Aruna Gandhi, a member of the college's Special Services Project (SSP) staff, has been named North Country TRIO Educator of the Year. Gandhi was cited at the recent tenth annual conference of North Country TRIO Programs, held at Marble Island in Colchester, Vt.

The award is presented annually to a person employed in one of the 13 regional participating TRIO programs who, in the judgment of the project directors, "has performed outstandingly in the academic support services" provided by the programs. Gandhi received a plaque and a gift certificate for dinner at a local restaurant.

"Her award is particularly timely," commented Elizabeth Pasti, SSP director, "in that it draws attention to National TRIO Day on February 27." (See related story.) "That event celebrates efforts to expand access and retention for low-income, minority and disabled students." SUNY Plattsburgh hosts two TRIO programs — SSP and Upward Bound. Such programs are funded by the U.S. Department of Education.

Plattsburgh for 23 years. It currently serves 120 students from 18 high schools in Clinton, Essex and Franklin Counties. Students enrolled in the program attend at least one six-week residential session on campus and participate in a variety of seminars and cultural activities during the academic year. Last year, 85 percent of the eligible high school seniors in Plattsburgh's program enrolled in college.

SSP currently provides tutoring and counseling services to approximately 350 Plattsburgh State students.

Kane's Conference 1500-Meter Time a Shade Off National Pace

Record-setting performances in indoor track dominated the week in sports at SUNY Plattsburgh. At the SUNYAC championships at Fredonia, senior Kathy Kane smashed the conference and school records in breezing to victory in the 1500 meter run. Her time of 4:37.33 in that event was also the second fastest in the nation this year. Kane also finished third in the 800 meters, in spite of being tripped and falling to the floor, and she ran a leg on the third place 4 x 400 meter relay team with Jennifer Loomis, Suzanne Kennedy and Sue Alfieri. In men's track, the 4 x 800 meter relay team of Any Hill, Pat Clear, Matt Nephew and Brian Delong finished first in 8:9.41 to shatter a nine-year-old Plattsburgh State record in that event. The team will enter next week's New York State Track & Field Association Championships with a high seed.

The season is over for Cardinal teams in basketball and ice hockey. Both the men's and women's basketball teams dropped a pair of contests last week to Albany and New Paltz to finish 9-15 and 8-15, respectively. The Cardinal hockey team had its 15-game win streak snapped at home versus Elmira last Monday in a 6-4 setback. Although they finished the regular campaign at 20-5-1 (one of the best won-lost records in all of Division III hockey), the Cardinals have been declared ineligible for post-season play by SUNYAC, the ECAC and the NCAA.

'Getting Out,' College Theatre Production, Opens This Evening

"Getting Out," a College Theatre Production directed by Laura-Jean Schwartau, lecturer in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre, will be offered to the campus and community nightly at 8 p.m. in the Studio Theatre from February 22-25 and from March 1-4.

The play is for mature audiences only and stars Mychelle Lee Vedder and Monique Durocher. It is the story of a woman paroled from prison after eight years. The woman has been 'reformed,' but her alter ego is "vividly alive, as shown in past prison and institutional scenes."

SUNY Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren congratulates '88 graduate Toni Tormos, who learned recently she had won an $11,000 scholarship annually "to another fine school."

next fall. She was among the first 100 applicants to UND to be notified they had been accepted. Of more than 8,200 applicants to the University's law school for 1989-90, only 225 will be admitted.

"Notre Dame was my first choice school," commented Tormos, who has been accepted also by SUNY Albany, SUNY Buffalo, Syracuse University, Boston College and Washington & Lee. The scholarship, she said, lifted a financial burden from her shoulders. She has been teaching junior high school English in Beacon, near her hometown of Hopewell Junction, and working weekends waiting tables to save money for her graduate school education.

"I can only guess what factors worked in my favor," said Tormos. Most important, she believes, were the recommendations she received, especially from SUNY Plattsburgh people, and her account of what she had accomplished during her undergraduate years. While at Plattsburgh, Tormos was an honors student, a member of the Honors Council and the recipient of a Redcay Honors Scholarship. She was a resident assistant and an orientation leader. She was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, the national honor society for freshmen; of Kappa Delta Pi, the national education honor society; and of Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honorary society, which selected her to be its "Leader of the Year" in 1988. Tormos also was a charter member of the college's Undergraduate Alumni Council, and in the fall of 1987 she was co-coordinator of the successful Annual Alumni Fund Phonothon Campaign.

Hogle Elected CAS President

Cheryl Hogle, associate director of campus life, was elected president of College Auxiliary Services (CAS) at the not-for-profit corporation's annual meeting last week.

Hogle succeeds Dr. Eldridge W. Roark in the post. Roark, CAS president for the past six years, was honored at the meeting by the organization's board of directors for having provided "excellent leadership and service" throughout his term in office.

Also elected as CAS officers were Michael Santora, Student Association president, as vice president; Dr. Ann Hasting, associate vice president for student affairs, as secretary; and William Woltjen, assistant vice president for finance, as treasurer. These officers, with students Deborah Hoffman, Joe Johnston and Allison Reilly, and Dr. H.Z. Liu, dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science, and Dr. Lary Shaffer, professor of psychology, comprise the CAS executive committee.

During the meeting, Stan Supinski, CAS executive director, reported on operations during 1988 of the various enterprises under the organization's jurisdiction. The organization's responsibilities include the College Store, student accounts, campus vending, the college's educational conference Center at Valcour, Twin Valleys Outdoor Education Center, and food service, which it sub-contracts to the Marriott Corporation.

Final Reminder:

Tickets Available for Supple Testimonial Event

Members of the campus community have until next Wednesday (March 1) to purchase tickets to the "An Evening Honoring Jerry and Cathy Supple" program scheduled for Friday, March 3.

Tickets are $15 each and are available on a first-come first-served basis in the President's Office. Next Friday's farewell program for the Supples, who will be leaving the North Country soon for Marcos, Texas, where Dr. Supple will become president of Southwest Texas State University, will be held in the Angell College Center beginning with a 6 p.m. reception in the Blue Room followed by dinner at 7.

Dr. Dennis Costanzo, assistant professor of art history, presented a paper entitled "Repetition and Memory in Jongkind's Topographical Views," at the annual meeting of the College Art Association held recently in San Francisco. . . Dr. James Dawson, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, is the author of an article entitled "Uncertainty for the Future of the Adirondacks," which was published in the winter issue of the Association for the Protection of the Adirondacks "News." Dawson is president of the association. . . Dr. Raymond Domenico, chairperson of the Department of Hearing and Speech Science, was selected to present a short course entitled "Voice Pathology, Vocal Pedagogy and the Singing Voice" to 300 speech-language pathologists at the annual convention of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association held recently in Boston. This advanced course was sponsored by ASHA to meet the needs of professionals, especially in the private sector, who are being called upon to provide therapy to the professional or amateur vocal artist. . . Dr. Leonard Fontana, associate professor of sociology, is the author of a manuscript, "Structural Constraints on the Directive Capacity of the American State in Health Care: Health Planning and the Closing of a Community Hospital," which has been accepted for publication in the International Journal of Health Planning and Management. . . Marcia Gottschall, writing skills specialist, and Michelle Little, counselor, of the Special Services Project, received federal grants from the Association of Handicapped Student Service Programs in Post-secondary Education to attend a training session on learning disabilities and academic strategies held recently in Boston. They will share the training they received in sections on cultural diversity, legal mandates and court debates, and expanding access with campus professionals, and they will make presentations to the Academic Council and to student affairs directors on March 8. . . Dr. Lise Heroux, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics, attended the recent American Marketing Association 1989 Winter Marketing Educators' Conference, held in St. Petersburg, FL, where she presented a paper entitled "Sales Call: A Comparison of Industrial Buyers' and Sellers' Scripts." The paper will be published in the conference proceedings. . . Dr. James Lindgren, assistant professor of history, presented the paper, "Meccas, Monuments, and Mission: Virginia Historic Preservation in the Populist-Progressive Eras," at the recent annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association. His essay, "For the Sake of Our Future': The Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities and the Regeneration of Traditionalism," has been published by the Virginia Historical Society in its January issue of Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, and his "Whatever Is Un-Virginian is History Professor Ben Morreale's "Ava Gardner's Brother-in-Law," a play first performed for "Tuesday Reflections" with faculty colleagues Drs. Arthur Newgarden and Warren Dixon in the principal roles, will be anthologized by Purdue University Press in a forthcoming volume, From the Margin to the Mainstream. Morreale has been invited to be a member of the Advisory Board of Voices in Italian Americana, a journal of Italian American culture. . . Edwin Portugal, lecturer in the School of Business and Economics, has been selected to serve as a volunteer instructor in the national civic education program, "A Presidential Classroom for Young Americans," to be held in mid-March in Alexandria, VA. Portugal was among 130 instructors chosen to participate from a pool of nearly 400 applicants.

End of an Era

UUP Funds to Support Minority Student Recruitment Initiatives

The college and its Admissions Office have received a commitment for funding from the United University Professions (UUP) Minority Recruitment and Retention Committee to support two initiatives designed to enhance the institution's minority recruitment efforts. UUP is the collective bargaining unit for SUNY faculty and professional staff.

According to Richard Higgins, director of admissions, UUP has indicated it will provide $4,250 for travel subsidies that will substantially increase the number of campus visits by minority students. The desired result, said Higgins, who developed the proposal for UUP consideration, will be an increase in minority student enrollment, effective this coming fall. He added that the innovative campus visit programs will take place this month, and that Admissions Counselor Milladge Griffin will coordinate them.

The first phase in the initiative — a round-trip bus trip approved by UUP and subsidized at a cost of $1,250, and coordinated with the Rochester Educational Opportunity Outreach Center — will occur next week (March 5-6). About 40 prospective students from the Rochester area — some who have applied and have been accepted, and others who are thinking about applying here — will arrive on campus on Sunday, accompanied by Outreach Center counselors. They will have dinner on campus, attend presentations by admissions and financial aids staff, take part in evening campus activities, and spend the night in residence halls with student hosts and hostesses. Following breakfast on Monday, the visiting students will tour the campus, attend classes with their hosts, have lunch, then visit academic

SA Mounts Letter-Writing Campaign Protesting Executive Budget

The SUNY Plattsburgh Student Association (SA) has mobilized a letter-writing campaign to protest the impact of the proposed Executive Budget on this campus and the University that shows early signs of a high rate of participation.

Calling the proposed budget "unacceptable," and setting "restored funding . . . so that quality education can be maintained" as its goal, an SA Task Force for Central Affairs set up information tables Monday morning in the Angell College Center and in campus dining halls to enlist student support for the campaign. Within a few hours, reported Dave Helman, a senior marketing major and assistant to the SA president for central affairs, more than 200 students had written protest letters to state legislators and legislative leaders, and another 139 had signed on as campaign volunteers.

"We encourage students to write their own letters, but we have drafted six they can refer to for factual information on various consequences attendant to this budget," commented Helman. "Some focus on damage to academic programs and the likelihood of diminishing quality because of the loss of positions and deteriorating equipment and facilities. Other address points of declining access and the negative effects of a tuition hike."

Helman produced a campaign literature "package" that, in addition to sample letters, contains an SA question and answer sheet on leading budget issues, editorials protesting the proposed cuts, and United University Professions-produced material pertinent to "budget facts" and SUNY enrollment in light of in-

July 'Alumni Week' Will Be a Centennial Celebration Highlight

Plans are falling into place for a very special summertime birthday celebration for SUNY Plattsburgh alumni during "Alumni Centennial Week," scheduled for July 16-22.

Through Plattsburgh Today, the Alumni Association-sponsored tabloid newspaper, and, later, by direct mail, graduates of the college through the years and their spouses and families will be invited to a grand birthday reunion that will include a variety of social and educational events and activities. Alumni Centennial Week is part of the college's overall Centennial Celebration observance in 1989, which gets underway officially on Founder's Day, June 15.

Major events for alumni will include a 100th birthday party to be held on Friday, July 21, in a picnic format, and a president's reception and dinner program slated for the following day. A college-wide committee is also planning a seminar and lecture series featuring nearly 20 faculty who will discuss topics ranging from "Teaching Science in American Schools" and "How Consumers Shop" to "The Hatfield-McCoy Feud"; tours of the campus and the region, and day-long trips to Montreal, Lake Placid and Burlington; a Campus School reunion of former faculty, staff, students and student teachers; and a reunion picnic for former resident assistants and Student Association officers.

Returning alumni will be offered lodging in campus residence halls at reasonable rates. A final schedule of events and reservation materials will be mailed to all alumni toward the end of April.

"This will be a wonderful opportunity for alumni to renew acquaintances with faculty and friends, to rediscover the North Country, to rekindle feelings for the campus and its people, and to share memories with spouses and their families," commented Malcolm Lavery, director of alumni affairs. "We're certain that a very high percentage of our current faculty and staff will want to become involved with the program and take part in it, and we believe 'alumni week' will be among the most memorable highlights of the year-long Centennial Celebration."

EAP to Sponsor Two-Part Grief & Bereavement Workshop Here

The college's Employee Assistance Program (EAP) will sponsor a two-part Grief and Bereavement Workshop to be held during the noon hour on March 15 and 22 in the first floor conference room of the Angell College Center. Faculty and staff participation is invited.

The workshop will be presented by Rev. Hal Meyers, executive director of Hospice Care in Clinton County. Because of the design of the workshop, participants should plan to attend both sessions.

Enrollment will be limited, and registration is required by March 9. Inquiries should be directed to Helen Rock, EAP coordinator, 815 Kehoe (564-3105).

departments and meet with faculty before departing for Rochester.

The second initiative, approved by the UUP committee but pending final approval by its Executive Board, will provide a travel allowance to encourage some 50 minority students from other areas of the state — all of whom have been accepted for admission — to visit the campus individually during the period of March 21-22 and March 22-23. This UUP-provided subsidy of $3,000 would be used to pay 75 percent of the students' individual transportation costs, regardless of conveyance, not to exceed $75. Programming for the students will be similar to that planned for the Rochester students, with the college again absorbing the extra costs — for meals and lodging, for example.

creasing demand and declining access. He said that Plattsburgh faculty are being asked to alert students to the campaign during class meetings.

"We plan to press this issue among students every day until the beginning of spring break (on March 10)," continued Helman. "We'll have students at tables

In supporting the admissions proposal, college President Charles O. Warren noted that the institution's minority enrollment, as a percentage of total enrollment, had increased from 3.9 percent in 1987-88 to 4.6 percent in the current academic year. Its approval, he said, ". . . will complement our ongoing efforts and allow us to serve our students, current and future, more effectively."

In commending the admissions staff, Warren also acknowledged the role played by Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse, professor of biology and president of the campus chapter of UUP, in fostering its approval. "Stal encouraged the proposal and worked diligently to steer it through proper channels," Warren commented. "His influence and persuasiveness no doubt brought about a prompt and favorable decision."

in the Angell Center from 10:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. and in the dining halls from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Our campaign doesn't begin and end with students. We're asking them to ask their parents and their brothers; sisters, relatives and friends to follow suit in their home districts."

Next Week is 'AIDS Awareness in Education Week' on Campus

March 6-10 has been declared as "AIDS Awareness in Education Week" at SUNY Plattsburgh, and staff in Campus Life have scheduled a series of programs designed to focus attention on the ravaging effects of the disease and its impact on victims and their loved ones. All are open to the public.

According to Dale Tuczinski, a graduate student and Campus Life intern, the venture is a follow-up to a fall semester activity "that went over very well" with students. AIDS awareness, he continued, is expected to become an ongoing educational program at the college.

The week's events begin Monday (March 6) at 6:30 p.m. in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge with a talk, illustrated with slides, by Anne Serabian, a Potsdam woman whose son died of AIDS and the author of the book, Mother, Do You Know What AIDS Is? Serabian will discuss her own experiences in dealing with the tragic loss of her son and present arguments for the need for AIDS education and for creation of support groups.

Tuesday will be highlighted by a 7 p.m. showing of the film, "Buddies" the acclaimed, realistic-but-fictional account of the last days of a hospitalized AIDS patient who strikes a friendship with a counselor. The 81-minute film, which dramatizes factual material about the effects of the disease, will be shown in the Angell Center Conference Room.

Programs for Wednesday and Thursday of AIDS Awareness Education Week were still incomplete as Weekly went to press, but Campus Life staff said they

Senior Diana Fitzsimmons Wins $11,000 Award from Clarkson

Diana Fitzsimmons, a senior production and operations management major from Washingtonville, has won an $11,000 assistantship to Clarkson University for graduate work. Fitzsimmons will enter Clarkson in August in an MBA program with a concentration in production and operations management.

Dr. David Mowry said, "Her academic performance at SUNY Plattsburgh has been a source of satisfaction to all of us associated with the Presidential Scholars Program and the Honors Program. That Clarkson University also found her work to be outstanding simply confirms the judgements we had made all along."

Fitzsimmons is a Presidential Scholar, a member of Phi Eta Sigma, and a charter member of the college's student chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

were working to finalize arrangements for a Wednesday presentation by "Vermont Cares," an AIDS support group, and a debate on Thursday on the pros and cons of mandatory testing for the disease. Information tables will be staffed in the Angell Center lobby throughout the week.

Vice President Search Begins; Candidate Pool Now Totals 30

The search for a vice president for academic affairs to succeed Southwest Texas State University president-designate Jerome H. Supple is well underway. The position vacancy has been advertised widely and members of the campus community have been encouraged to nominate qualified individuals for follow-up contact by the committee.

While the search advertisement asks for receipt of applications and nominations prior to March 17, more than 30 of both combined have been received to date, reports Beverly Forster, assistant to the president and liaison to the committee. According to Dr. Prem Gandhi, professor in the School of Business and Economics and committee chairperson, the search group expects to complete its work before the end of the spring semester.

Although no fixed timetable has been set, the candidate review process is expected to begin in mid-March with on-campus interviews of finalists tentatively scheduled to begin about a month later.

A 'Farewell Pitch'

Retiring Registrar Daui Woodin demonstrates top form with a pitchfork — a gift from the Campus Beautification Committee she has served since its inception — during a presentation ceremony at a reception in her honor held last Friday in the Angell Center Centennial Room. Looking on is J. Derek Allan, facilities director and beautification committee chairperson. Members of the college community turned out in large numbers to salute their colleague, whose March 1 retirement will mark the end of a 15-year career at the college.

Records Fall in Swimming, Track; Cornwright, Dixon Honored

The women's swim team turned in some impressive times at the SUNYAC Women's Swimming and Diving Championships held at Brockport State over the weekend. Lynn Schultz was the only Cardinal winner with a first place in the 100 yard breaststroke. Her time of 1:11.95 set a new Plattsburgh State record in that event. Besides her win, Schultz was a member of the 200 yard freestyle relay team that finished with a time of 1:48.20, breaking the previous school record of 1:50.00. Joanne Carroll, Tammy Nightingale, and Kelly Kreuzer were the other three members of the relay team. That foursome went on to break another school record in the 400 yard freestyle relay with a time of 4:01.19. Deirdre Sweeney set another school record in the 1650 yard freestyle with a time of 19:35.9

The women's indoor track and field team finished 6th among 15 teams at the New York State Women's Collegiate Athletic Association Championships held at Hamilton College. The 4 x 800 meter relay team of Kathy Kane, Mary Hurteau, Julie Dobert, and Suzanne Kennedy recorded the only win for the Cardinals with a time of 9:49.67. Freshman Kennedy also placed fifth in the 1500 meter event. For a change of pace, Kane ran the 800 meter event instead of the usual 1500 meters. She placed third, breaking a school record and qualifying for the NCAA Championships with a time of 2:15.03. Sue Alfieri qualified for the ECAC Championships with a time of 27.87 in the 200 meter dash trials.

At the RPI Invitational meet, the men's team took two first place finishes. In the 500 meter event, Brian Delong set a school record with a time of 68.4 seconds. The team of Matt Nephew, Brian Delong, Pat Clear, and Rich Wisneski captured first in the 4 x 800 meter relay.

In women's basketball, seniors T.J. Cornwright and Donna Dixon were both named to the All-SUNYAC First Team. Cornwright finished fourth in scoring in the conference, averaging 16.3 points per game. She was also sixth in the field goal percentage (.506, 44 for 877) and rebounding (10.6 rebounds per game). Dixon followed her teammate in scoring, finishing in tenth place in the conference averaging 14 points per game.

Mark Cassier was named as a member of the Men's Basketball All-SUNYAC Honorable Mention Team. The sophomore concluded the season with a 15-points-per-game average.

Diana M. Akey, telecommunications manager, has been elected to a two-year term as a member of the Executive Council and secretary/treasurer of the SUNY Telecommunications Officers Association. . . J. Derek Allan, director of facilities, has been selected to serve as program evaluator on facilities for the Middle States Association program review team to West Chester State (PA) University in early April. . . Dr. Eldridge W. Roark, Jr., vice president for student affairs, was one of the presenters at the Second Annual Leadership Institute held in mid-February at SUNY Oneonta. Roark's presentation focused on the importance of recognizing in meaningful ways the positive leadership contributions of students. . . "Australia, New Zealand, and the Western Pacific: A Selected Bibliography of the Geography of the Region, February, 1989," is the title of a bibliography compiled by Dr. Thomas Rumney, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science. . . Rick Salzman, associate professor of art, recently received national recognition in graphic design. He won a "Silver Medal Award" for creative excellence in Poster Design (1988 Black Poetry Day) from Strathmore Paper Co. A letterhead design package (logo, envelope, letterhead, and business card) was selected to be included in a national promotional campaign by Neenah Paper Co. . . Dr. Nicholas Troisi, dean of the Faculty of Professional Studies, was a session leader on the topic "Making Testing Programs Work" at the 1989 convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals held recently in New Orleans. Following the convention, Troisi served as visiting committee chairperson for a Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Secondary Schools evaluation of Academic Perpetuo Socorro, Jose Marti Esq. Campus Delegation of 13 to Take Part in SUNY Day Activities

President Charles O. Warren will lead a 13-person delegation of SUNY Plattsburgh faculty, staff, students and College Council that will participate in SUNY Day activities in Albany next Tuesday (Mar. 14). Most in the Plattsburgh group are expected to arrive in Albany on Monday to attend a 6 p.m. dinner program, hosted by the president, for alumni who live and work in the Capital District.

SUNY Day will consist of a morning-long program of formal presentations on the state's fiscal condition and its impact on University operations, scheduled at the Rockefeller Empire State Plaza, and an afternoon of person-to-person meetings between campus representatives and legislators/legislative leaders at their Capitol and Legislative Office Building headquarters.

The day's events will begin at 8 a.m. with a breakfast honoring SUNY alumni who serve in the Legislature. Following welcoming remarks by University Chancellor Bruce D. Johnstone, Assembly Minority Leader Clarence D. Rappleyea will offer an analysis of the progress to date of the 1989 legislative session. Then, Senator Tarky Lombardi, chair of the Senate Finance Committee, and Saul Weprin, chair of the Assembly Ways & Means Committee, will discuss "The View from the Fiscal Chairs." The morning program will conclude with an "interpretation of the Executive Budget" by William Anslow and Thomas Kubala, vice chancellor for finance and business and deputy to the chancellor for community colleges, respectively.

Four legislators have agreed to meet with the Plattsburgh delegates during the afternoon. They include North Country Legislators Senator Ronald B. Stafford and Assemblyman Chris Ortloff of Plattsburgh, Senate Higher Education Committee Chairperson Kenneth LaValle, and Assembly Higher Education Committee Chairperson Edward Sullivan.

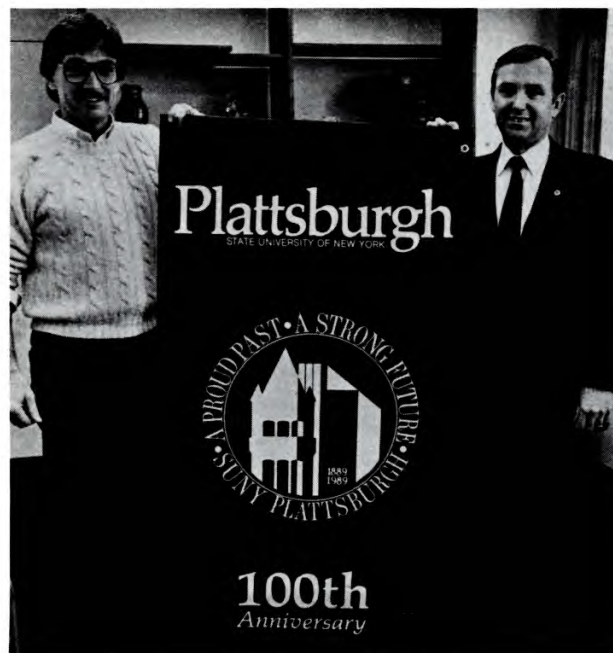

A 5 p.m. reception for state legislators hosted by SUNY will conclude the day's activities.

Besides Warren, Plattsburgh will be represented by Council members Wayne Byrne, Chairperson Robert Garrow, Beth Johnson and Jani Spurgeon; Faculty Senate Chairperson Dr. Raymond Domenico; United University Professions Secretary/Treasurer Patricia Bentley; Vice President for Student Affairs Dr. Eldridge W. Roark Jr.; CSEA President Betty Lennon; Student Association President Michael Santora and SA Executive Vice President Bill Sherman; Alumni Relations Director Malcolm Lavery; and Don Garrant, Assistant to the President for College Relations and Development. Garrant will serve as moderator of the morning session on fiscal matters featuring Lombardi and Weprin.

SUNY Day is sponsored jointly by the State University's Council for University Affairs and Development, the Association of College Trustees and the SUNY Confederation of Alumni Associations.

Centennial Banner

SUNY Plattsburgh Publications Director Sherwood Keyser (L) and President Charles O. Warren unfurl a copy of the 30" x 60" banner that will hang from light poles along Rugar Street to call attention to the college's Centennial Celebration, which begins on Founder's Day, June 15. City of Plattsburgh Mayor Carlton Rennell has given the go-ahead to hang the banners, and they will be installed in special brackets later this spring courtesy of the city's Municipal Lighting Department. Keyser designed the Centennial logo that dominates the banner and sets the theme for the entire centennial observance.

Noble Here as Visiting Distinguished Professor of English

Dr. Yvonne Noble will be on campus throughout the month of March as a Visiting Distinguished Professor of English.

Noble will teach a mini-course on sexual imagery in literature, which is being held from 6 to 9 p.m. on March 6, 20, and 27, and will deliver two public lectures. On March 8 she will discuss "Hagar's Bed: A Tale of Personification, Misogyny, and Antifeminism in Botany, Literature and Art," and on March 22, she will lecture on "The Gendering of Honeybees in (Natural) History and Other Imaginative Arts."

Both lectures will be held at 4:15 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge. Noble will also contribute to discussions in Dr. Anna Battigelli's course on 18th century images of women.

While she specializes in 18-century literature, Noble's interests range to botanical systems, entomology and the various ways in which the gendering of plants and insects has been reflected in symbolism and iconography in literature and the visual arts. She is also well-versed in music and in classical and contemporary literature.

Noble, has taught at the Universities of Pennsylvania and Illinois and at the College of William and Mary. She currently lives in Canterbury, England and has lectured at the University of Kent and the London program of the University of Delaware.

Noble organized and edits (in Britain) the "Newsletter of Women's Studies: 1600-1825." Her critical edition of Gay's The Beggar's Opera will be published soon by Princeton University. She is also an expert on Benjamin Franklin, having served as an editorial assistant on the Franklin papers and prepared the text for a 1964 limited edition of Poor Richard's Almanac.

Alumni Thorne, Maher Nominees for Special TRIO Publication

Two SUNY Plattsburgh alumni, Rolando Thorne '72 and Dr. Robert Maher '74, have been nominated for inclusion in a special publication being prepared by several national education organizations to commemorate TRIO programs.

TRIO programs are educational opportunity programs designed to attract and graduate disadvantaged students, especially minority students.

Both Thorne and Maher participated in the Project New City opportunity program at SUNY Plattsburgh. That program was later renamed the Educational Opportunity Program.

Following his graduation from Plattsburgh, Thorne earned a master's degree in public health at Yale University and began a distinguished career in health service administration. Thorne, who was elected president of the Plattsburgh Alumni Association in October, is currently assistant director of the Dade County Correctional Health Services in Miami, Florida.

Maher holds an M.S. in education from SUNY Plattsburgh and an Ed.D. degree from Fordham University. He has served as a teacher, dean of students, counselor, social worker and assistant principal, and is currently principal of Cornwall Central High School. He has received national recognition for innovative approaches to constructive discipline, student volunteerism, and motivating school climates and curriculum.

Maher was Plattsburgh's Alumnus of the Year in 1978 and was later inducted into the SUNY Plattsburgh Sports Hall of Fame.

'It's Been Good to Know You'

More than 200 people gathered on Friday evening to pay tribute and to say good-bye to Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Supple, who will be leaving soon for Texas, where he will assume the presidency at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. The Supples were presented with several humorous gifts, including a pair of ten-gallon hats, and also received a Bill Klock bowl and a Bill Crosby painting. Anne Smith entertained the crowd with some 'new' verses of "The Yellow Rose of Texas." The Supples replied in kind, with banjo and guitar, and the crowd joined in, singing, "So Long, It's Been Good to Know You."

Space/Facilities Assessment Committees to be Established

Space and Facilities Assessment Committees for each building on campus will soon be established.

The reason for these new committees was explained by President Charles O. Warren, who said, "From time to time, requests for new space and/or renovation of facilities arise from various sources across the campus. Our process to date for reviewing such requests has lacked, to some extent, focus and fairness."

Warren explained how the committees will work. "The committees — comprised of non-residents of the designated building and Derek Allan, ex officio — will be asked to solicit, in writing and through appropriate meetings, requests and suggestions from leaders of the various resident groups of the building. After careful analysis and review, the committee will recommend to this office and the executive staff a proposed plan, along with projected costs and timetables. The executive staff will then convey an accepted plan to all those involved."

Assessment Committees for Redcay, Sibley, Beaumont, Myers and Hawkins Halls will be organized in the near future. A list of other buildings to be reviewed will be prepared at a later date.

Clark Gift Largest Unrestricted Gift in Foundation History

A second glance at the successful outcome of the College Foundation's 1988 fund-raising year shows that the organization's "Friends Campaign" led all others as a source of income. That happened as a result of receipt — late in 1988 — of the largest unrestricted gift to the Foundation in its 20-year history of fund-raising.

The Late Claude J. Clark

The gift, explained Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development, totaled nearly $87,000, and it came to the Foundation unexpectedly in December as a memorial to the late Claude J. Clark. Clark was an attorney from Malone who served on the SUNY Plattsburgh College Council from 1964 to 1980. The donor was Mr. Clark's widow, Mrs. Jeannette E. Clark of Malone.

Garrant said the gift from Mrs. Clark originated as a transfer of 1,600 shares of General Mills common stock. Sale of the stock yielded $86,795.26 and pushed the 1988 Friends Campaign to a record total of $136,318.

Mr. Clark, who died in November of 1986 at the age of 72, was a member of the College Council during the second half of the 20-year administration of the late George W. Angell and the first six years of the presidency of Joseph C. Burke.

In acknowledging the Clark gift, President Charles O. Warren wrote: "(Claude) was a person who was truly interested in and committed to public higher education and to our institution. He was a practitioner of law whose advice was generously given and highly valued, and an individual who truly cared about young people. The gift is a legacy to Mr. Clark's humane attributes, and we believe he would be proud and pleased to be remembered in this manner."

While there are no restrictions attached to the gift, Mrs. Clark requested that her husband be remembered in some way. Garrant and President Warren will meet with her in the near future to discuss a suitable memorial.

'Spirited' Group

A contingent of SUNY Plattsburgh staff, tutor-counselors and Upward Bound students celebrated TRIO week with a trip to the University of Massachusetts, and came home the proud winners of the TRIO Spirit Award. The award was presented on the basis of their enthusiasm and their creation of a banner reflecting the intent of the TRIO programs. Seen here with the winning banner are: (kneeling, 1. to r.) Amy LaBarre, NAC, and Sandi Lefebvre, SUNY Plattsburgh. (Standing, 1. to r.) Greg Kraft, Beekmantown Central; Joe Lawliss, Saranac Central; Michelle Pageau, NAC; Clayton Menser, Moriah Central; Stacy Boba, SUNY Plattsburgh; Peter Lauzon, SUNY Plattsburgh; Wayne Kneussle, SUNY Plattsburgh; Lucy Lauzon, Upward Bound faculty; Veronika Peacetree, Upward Bound Faculty; and Kim DeGroff, Westport High School. The photo was taken by SUNY Plattsburgh student Chong Wong.

Kane Wins ECAC 1500-Meter Title; 2 Men's Swim Marks Fall

The women's indoor track team travelled to the ECAC Championships in Northampton, MA over the weekend, bringing back some impressive finishes with them. Kathy Kane took top honors by winning the 1500 meter event. She finished first, with a time of 4:39.67, out of 15 runners who made it to the finals. In addition, Kane placed third in the 800 meter event with a time of 2:18.48. Number 14 seed Suzanne Kennedy was a surprise, finishing fifth in the 1500 meters in a personal best time of 4:50.47. Judy Serth was the only other top finisher for Plattsburgh. She finished in 8th place in the 3000 meters with a time of 10:45.19.

Meanwhile, several members of the men's indoor track team competed in the New York State Collegiate Track and Field Association championships hosted by Colgate. The best performance for the Cardinals came in the 4 x 800 meter relay event. The team of Andy Hill, Pat Clear, Matt Nephew and Brian Delong finished sixth in 8:03.85 — a new school record time.

Four Cardinal swimmers participated in the men's SUNYAC championships at Oswego, and the four — Chris Godlewski, Art LaMarche, Phil O'Connell and Jeff Kollar — set a pair of school records in the relays. In the 200 yard freestyle relay, the tandem finished eighth in 1:33.35 to break a two-year-old record by nearly two seconds. In the 200 medley relay, the Cardinal foursome finished eighth again but shattered a 22-year-old Plattsburgh State record in that event by more than four seconds. Individually, Godlewski placed 26th in the 500 yard freestyle (5:31.61); 14th in the 100 yard backstroke (1:01.40); and 17th in the 200 yard backstroke (2:16.84).

SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Richard Beach, professor and director of the Center for the Study of Canada, is the author of "A Travers les frontieres: Quebec and Quebec Studies," which appears in a recent issue of the Journal of Cultural Geography. With Dean Louder, Beach served as a guest editor of volume 8 of the Journal on "Monitoring Canada's French Connection". . . Nancy J. Church, assistant professor of marketing in the School of Business and Economics, will be serving in three different capacities at the Eleventh Annual American Marketing Association International Collegiate Convention. Inaugural 'Showcase' to Feature Variety in Creative Activities

The first "Showcase," a day of special activities designed to show off the scholarly and creative pursuits of students and faculty, has attracted a wide and wonderful variety of presentations, demonstrations and exhibits, according to Dr. Edward Miller, who chairs the organizing committee.

"Showcase '89," Miller said, "was organized to contribute to the scholarly atmosphere on campus, as well as foster the exchange of knowledge within and between disciplines. Formal classes have been suspended for the day-long event, which will be held on Wednesday, April 12, and all students and faculty members are encouraged to participate in the various activities.

Nearly 100 separate presentations, performances, lectures, and demonstrations are included in the program. Among them are:

- the Redcay Symposium (presentations of original research by five undergraduates);
- a presentation of abstracts of works in progress regarding the portrayal of women in 17th and 18th century English literature;
- a symposium on the integration of scholarship on women into the college curriculum;
- two general sessions on education, to include, among others, sessions on the development of educational services to off-campus adult students, conferencing on campus, enlivening the English 101 research project, and Soviet libraries and Glastnost.
- general sessions on business, economics, and marketing; sociology and the community; anthropology; and Canadian Studies;
- the Sigma XI Symposium on research in the sciences and math (featuring 23 students discussing original research);
- a presentation by AERho (the national broadcasting society for students) and PSTV;
- the Philosophy Colloquium;
- a session on Health and You;
- seven different musical events, including chamber music, and open rehearsals of various student groups;
- art exhibitions and demonstrations by faculty and students;
- an open rehearsal of the main stage production "Noises Off";
- a general poster and performance session, to include mousetrap-powered car races and computer music generation;

- presentations of ongoing studies in the Center for Teacher Education and the Center for Earth and Environmental Science; and
- physical education and recreation science presentations, including fencing and karate demonstrations.

Also included in the day's events will be the formal opening of the hotel and restaurant laboratory in Ward Hall.

Programs listing the times and locations of the various presentations will be available on April 1. Each faculty and staff member will receive an abstract book of the day's events by April 7.

Vermont Book Firm Publishes Dawson Adirondacks Guidebook

Dr. James Dawson is one of five co-authors of a new book, Discover the Northern Adirondacks, published by Backcountry Publications of Vermont. The book is the ninth in a series of eleven guidebooks to the Adirondacks and the second in which Dawson is a co-author. He also co-wrote Guide to the Northeastern Adirondacks.

The book, said Dawson, presents a series of walking tours in the northern and western sections of Clinton County, virtually all of Franklin County and parts of St. Lawrence County. It presents historical, geological, ecological and scenic information, or, in Dawson's words, "all the background for someone to appreciate a day's outing." The tours range from very easy to moderately difficult.

Dawson, a professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, joined the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty in 1970 and is an active advocate for environmental affairs in the Adirondacks. He is currently president of the Association for the Protection of the Adirondacks and New York State chair of the Lake Champlain Committee. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Adirondack Council.

TAC's Barnett Named to Task Force on Adirondack Park's Future

Governor Cuomo has appointed SUNY Plattsburgh's Claire Barnett to a blue-ribbon task force looking at the future of the Adirondack Park and ways to preserve it in the face of recent, heated land speculation and proposed new development in the region.

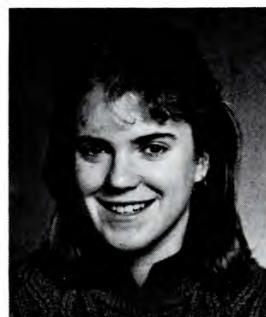

Barnett, director of special projects at the college's Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center, will serve as one of 14 members of the Governor's "Commission on the Adirondacks in the Twenty-First Century." The commission is being chaired by Peter A.A. Berle, president of the National Audubon Society and a former commissioner of the state's Department of Environmental Conservation, and its membership also includes top corporate executives, newspaper editors, government officials, the president of the SUNY College of Environmental Science and Forestry, and former heads of the APA and the DEC.

In announcing formation of the commission, Cuomo said that while the Adirondacks are "one of America's great natural treasures," recent developments suggest that "we may have entered . . . an era of unbridled land speculation and unwarranted development that may threaten the unique open space and wilderness character of the region."

Commission members will evaluate varied issues affecting the future of the Park and issue a report in April of next year that will include recommendations for legislative, administrative and budgetary actions. Areas of study include the amount of development and subdivision occurring within the Park; the effectiveness of the APA and its fiscal and management practices; the health of the state's forest industry; the state's forest land acquisition programs; and the adequacy of New York's programs to protect and enhance public access to the Park's natural and recreational resources.

Kudos to . . .

Kathy Kane, the senior accounting major from Elmira, who earned All-America honors in track on March 11 by finishing third in the 1500 meters, with a time of 4:36.17, in the NCAA Division III indoor track and field championships hosted by Bowdoin College. In accomplishing the feat, Kane, who last fall became the first woman athlete in SUNY Plattsburgh history to achieve All-America status when she finished 12th among 133 runners in the NCAA's in cross country, now is a two-time All-America in two sports within a single academic year . . . and she has an excellent chance to add a third crown (in outdoor track) before her career as a Cardinal athlete ends in May.

In commenting on his star runner's performance, Plattsburgh State track coach Brett Hull noted that Kane felt weak and tired going into the recent nationals. "We were fortunate to get two good races out of her (the 1500 trials and final) because she hadn't been feeling well all week long," he said. Hull assessed Kane's chances in the 1500 in the outdoor NCAA's in Napierville, Illinois in late May by saying she should be among the favorites. Her chief rival, Josepha Benzoni of the University of Rochester, who finished first indoors in the 1500 with a time nearly six seconds faster than Kane's, has used up her eligibility in outdoor track.

Recruitment Initiative

Some of the 40 prospective students from the Rochester area who visited the campus earlier this month under a United University Professions (UUP) Minority Recruitment and Retention grant attend a welcoming session in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge. UUP funds subsidized round-trip bus service for the Rochester students and a travel allowance for about 50 others who visited the college on their own later in the month, with support for both initiatives — designed to enhance the institution's minority recruitment efforts — totaling $4,250.

Lectures Scheduled by Librarians from NYU, Western Washington

Librarians from New York University and Western Washington University headline a two-part speaker's program scheduled for the end of March under sponsorship of Feinberg Library.

On Monday, March 27, NYU's Nancy Kranich will discuss the F.B.I.'s controversial "Library Awareness Program" at noon in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge. Kranich, who is director of public and administrative services at the NYU library, will focus on the F.B.I.'s attempt to enlist librarians at major research libraries to "be alert to the use of their facilities by persons from countries 'hostile to the United States,'" and to report such activity to the Bureau. She has lectured on the topic in a variety of forums including National Public Radio's "All Things Considered."

On Friday, March 31, Western Washington's Ray McInnis will talk on "Running Backwards from the Finish Line" at 12:15 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge. The presentation by McInnis, who heads Western Washington's reference services, puts forward a new approach to teaching library research. The approach requires students to visualize what the processes of writing a scholarly paper involve by having them analyze a model paper on several levels. His talk should be particularly interesting to faculty who teach advanced writing requirement classes.

(Above) New York State Senator Ronald B. Stafford of Plattsburgh (third from left) was among several ranking legislators who hosted SUNY Plattsburgh delegates who participated in "SUNY Day" activities on March 14 in the state capital. Shown with Stafford are (l-r): Michael Santora, Student Association president; Robert M. Garrow, chairperson of the College Council; President Charles O. Warren; Betty Lennon, CSEA president; Dr. Raymond Domenico, chairperson of the Faculty Senate; and Patricia Bentley, secretary/treasurer of the campus chapter of United University Professions. (Below) President Warren joins SUNY Plattsburgh alumna Karen McCann on the floor of the Assembly. McCann, who graduated in 1975 with a degree in political science, is director of legislative services in the Assembly where she is responsible for directing all bills to appropriate committees for review and action.

Canadian Studies Staff's Bushey to Retire After 21 Years Here

Gloria Bushey, senior stenographer in the Center for the Study of Canada since 1981 and a member of SUNY Plattsburgh's classified staff for the past 21 years, will retire from service to the college, effective March 29.

Bushey joined Plattsburgh's personnel staff in April of 1968 — a point in the college's history when campus physical expansion and faculty and staff growth were at their highest. In the fall of that year she became secretary to Dr. George Pasti, professor of history, who then held the post as Dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences. Seven years later, when that Faculty was abolished in a combined academic/administrative reorganization, she transferred to a similar position as secretary to Dean Philip Clarkson in the newly established Faculty of Arts and Science.

Bushey says she plans to do volunteer work to keep busy in retirement. She may take some courses she "has been too busy to take," and she would like to resume playing the piano as a steady avocation.

In acknowledging Bushey's retirement letter, President Charles O. Warren wrote: "While you have certainly earned a retirement that will allow you to pursue a variety of activities and interests, you should know that your professionalism, warmth and dedication will be greatly missed. Plattsburgh is indeed a special place. It is so only because of special colleagues like you who have given so much to our students and our college."

Valencia, Antarctic Specialist, to Teach Here Through May 7th

The Distinguished Visiting Professor program continues this week with the arrival of Dr. Jose Valencia, professor of zoology at the University of Chile in Santiago. Valencia, whose visit was postponed from last October, will be on campus from March 26 through May 7.

According to Dr. William Culver, coordinator of the Latin American Studies program, Valencia has conducted environmental research in the Antarctic for more than 30 years. He also works in the northern deserts of Chile and the Andes Mountains. Valencia's most recent work focuses on the ecology of penguins and he just returned from spending the Southern Hemisphere summer in Antarctica.

During his stay in Plattsburgh, Valencia will teach two one-credit courses, "Environmental Issues of South America" and "Antarctic Ecology." He will also serve as guest lecturer in the Introduction to Latin America course and will deliver five public lectures. His first lecture, "World Environmental Needs versus National Economical Development in South America," is scheduled for 2:15 p.m. on Thursday, March 30 in the Cardinal Lounge. Other lectures will be listed as they occur in "This Week on Campus." More information on Valencia's schedule is available from Culver at 564-5827.

Exhibit of Zerner Tapestries Opens Next Week in Myers

Illuminated tapestries by Amy Zerner will occupy the Myers Fine Arts Gallery from March 29 through April 23. Gallery director Edward Brohel said of the exhibition, "These collages are a stunning variety of actual textiles. The illuminated tapestries include the vigorous materiality of the patchwork quilt and a layering of textiles that include prints, ikats, embroideries, weavings, laces, beading, antique borders and Victorian trimmings. She puts them all together to compose a fabric grotto that harbors a spiritual secret and/or a secret spirit."

Zerner will attend the opening reception, which is scheduled from 4 to 6:30 p.m. on March 29. She will also discuss her work in a lecture at 8 p.m. on March 30 in the Cardinal Lounge. Both events are free and open to the public.

Zerner has won numerous awards for her work, including "Best in Show" in the 1982 "Art for the Elegant Eighties" show at the Cary-Windsor Gallery in Richmond, VA. and an Award of Excellence in the 1985 Long Island Artist's Exhibition of Paintings and Sculpture.

Professor Emeritus Abbe Dies

George Abbe, 78, retired professor of English and former writer-in-residence at SUNY Plattsburgh, died March 15, 1989. He is survived by his wife, Barbara Rossiter Abbe of Plattsburgh.

Abbe joined the faculty in 1966 and taught courses in creative writing and contemporary literature. He retired in 1980, but continued to lecture at the college until 1985.

Abbe was the author of 25 novels, including The Pigeon Lover and The Larks. He also wrote poetry, plays and works of criticism. In 1956, he was awarded the Poetry Society of America's coveted Shelley Memorial Award — a distinguished prize previously awarded to such people as Archibald MacLeish, Stephen Vincent Benet and Marianne Moore.

Abbe was also well known for his involvement in humane and conservation causes. He was a founder and vice president of C.L.A.W. and was also active in R.E.S.C.U.E.

Adams Receives Italian Research Grant to Study Lake Gas Levels

Dr. Donald G. Adams, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, has received a grant estimated at $11,000 from the Italian National Research Council to conduct research this summer on the cycling of carbon and nitrogen gases in lakes under different levels of environmental stress. The project will take Adams to Switzerland as well as to Italy for a period of more than three months.

Adams said his studies involve the sampling of bottom sediments and measurements of gases, including methane, nitrogen, carbon dioxide and oxygen. Gas formation and distribution, he said, can provide vital knowledge and historical information about the health of lakes and perturbations resulting from human activities.

Adams' major efforts will be an investigation of changes in the gas cycles during liming of isolated coves in a large, highly acidic lake in northern Italy. He will also work closely with geochemists and microbiologists from the European Joint Research Centre and the Italian Institute of Hydrobiology in investigating the exchange of various elements — mercury, lead, and cadmium, for example — between the sediments and water.

Adams said a plan is being formulated with the Swiss Federal Institute for Water Resources and Water Pollution Control to expand this program to lakes experiencing different levels of nutrient loading.

NOTES

Community CPR and standard first aid non-credit courses start the first week of April. Students who are interested in obtaining American Red Cross certification in community CPR, standard first aid (NM), and/or recertification in community CPR, see Mrs. Bardon in room 220 Memorial Hall. Seven non-credit courses have been scheduled starting the first week of April.

The Office of Campus Life will be sponsoring a bus to Montreal on Saturday, April 1st. The bus departs from the Angell College Center and stops at Dominion Square. Tickets are $9.00 round trip and on sale at the Angell Center Desk beginning Monday, March 27. For more information call 564-3824.

At 4 pm on March 30 in Redcay 230, Dr. Cathrine Berheide, professor of sociology, Skidmore College, will address the Department of Sociology and other interested faculty on the topic "Integrating New Scholarship on Women and Minorities into the Sociology and Criminal Justice Curriculum." Berheide's visit is sponsored by the college's Commission on Women. All are welcome.

The Northern New York Section of the American Chemical Society and the Plattsburgh Sigma Xi Club will present a talk by Terrance O'Hanlon, a former biology major (class of '86), and currently a graduate student at Roswell Park Memorial Institute. The title of the presentation is "Regulation of Secretory Glycoprotein Biosynthesis by Glucocorticoids" and it will be given on March 28 at 8 pm in Hudson 106. A speaker's dinner is being arranged for 6 pm at the Butcher Block Restaurant. Anyone interested may call Roger Sandwick at 564-2703.

Applications for the Toni C. Bloom Scholarship Award are now available at the Information Desk in the Angell College Center. This award is limited to students entering their junior or senior year majoring in one of the following: Art, Communication, English, French, Mass Media, Philosophy, Spanish or Theatre. Applicants must have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.7 (B-). Consideration for this award will be based on participation in at least three of the following areas: I. Service to the College, II. Service to the Student Association, III. Journalism/Speech/Mass Media, IV. Campus Employment, V. Creative and Performing Arts, VI. Service to the Community. Interested individuals may pick up an application form from the Information Desk. The application deadline is April 15. For more information, contact the Office of Campus Life at 564-3824.

Twenty-four students in Dr. Ernest Coons' recreation class, in cooperation with the Plattsburgh YMCA, will conduct a two-day 'summer camp' on April 15 - 16 at Camp Jericho for 9 - 11 year old children. Campers will leave at 8 am on Saturday morning and be transported by van to Camp Jericho. At the camp, they will live in tents, take nature walks, play sports, do arts and crafts, cook over an open fire, have an Italian dinner and enjoy a special camp fire. They will return home at 2:15 pm on Sunday. Total cost for the weekend is $12 per camper. Faculty and/or staff members who would like to have their children participate should contact the YMCA. Further information is available from Dr. Coons at 564-5325.

SUNY Confers Distinguished Teaching Professor Title Upon Baum

The State University Board of Trustees has conferred the designation of Distinguished Teaching Professor upon Dr. Stuart J. Baum, professor of chemistry.

Established 17 years ago, the Distinguished Teaching Professorship honors outstanding teaching in the SUNY system. Thirteen professors received the designation this month, bringing the total in SUNY to 85. Plattsburgh's only other faculty member to receive the award was Dr. Edgar Barton, professor emeritus of sculpture, who was honored prior to his retirement.

Distinguished Teaching Professors must be nominated by their campus, must have attained the rank of professor, and must have completed at least three years of full-time teaching on the nominating campus. They must also "perform superbly in the classroom, provide academic advisement, maintain high standards of student performances, and continue to be an active scholar."

SUNY Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren commented, "Stuart Baum is the complete academic and a thoroughly decent human being. His commitment to excellence is reflected in all that he does; and, in all that he does, one sees a true devotion to the growth and development of the individual student. He is an extraordinarily gifted teacher. He is a respected academic thinker and leader. His service to the community is exceptional, and his scholarship is

Senior Kevin Days Becomes College's 1st Ford Foundation Fellow

Kevin Michael Days, a senior history major, is the College's first Ford Foundation Fellow.

The fellowship, will provide Days with $10,350 per year, plus tuition and fees, for a total of three years, to be used over a period of five years to support his doctoral studies. Additionally, the Foundation will provide a $1,000 grant to the undergraduate department of each 1989 Predoctoral Fellow (in Days' case, Plattsburgh's history department) to be used by the department to encourage minority students to consider graduate study and academic careers.

The goal of the Ford Foundation Predoctoral Fellowships for Minorities Program is to increase the presence of underrepresented minorities on the nation's college and university faculties and to encourage students to achieve their full potential as scholars.

Approximately 55 Fellows were selected from a pool of more than 500 applicants. Applicants were judged on the basis of their undergraduate academic record, their GRE scores, faculty recommendations and an essay explaining their area of research interest.

Days wrote "on American history from the perspective of those whose voices are seldom heard — blacks, women, Indians, and workers."

Frank Press, chairman of the National Academy of Sciences, said in the award letter to Days, "Your selection for this prestigious award reflects our review panelists' judgement of your scholarly competence as well as the promise that you show for future achievement as a scholar, researcher, and teacher in an institution of higher education."

Days has accumulated a lengthy list of honors during his four years at SUNY Plattsburgh. He is a Presidential Scholar, a past president of Phi Eta Sigma, a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, a Redcay Honors Scholar, a Link Scholar, and winner of the Feinberg History Award. He has also done independent study with Dr. Thomas Konda on right-wing propaganda and how think tanks affect policy.

He has been accepted in the doctoral programs in history at Cornell, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, the University of California at Berkeley and the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Days credited his success to the personal attention, support and assistance of faculty members and expressed his appreciation to Drs. David Mowry, Douglas Skopp, James Armstrong, Sylvie Henning, and Thomas Moran.

More than 110 Employers to Participate in 'Career Night '89'

More than 110 employer representatives from more than 60 employing organizations have indicated they will visit the campus next week to participate in "Career Night 1989."

According to Carolyn Delcore, assistant director of career/life planning, who is coordinating the event, the highlight of Career Night will be a program scheduled for 7 to 9:30 p.m. next Thursday (April 6) when students will have opportunity to meet individually with prospective employers in a "career fair" setting. This activity, open to all undergraduates, will be held in the Angell Center Ballrooms. It is designed, said Delcore, to help students "... expand their career horizons and gain a better perspective on their future."

Prior to the career fair, the visiting employer representatives will be guests of the college at a reception and dinner program in the Centennial Room hosted by the offices of career/life planning and alumni affairs. Delcore pointed out that some of the employer participants are SUNY Plattsburgh alumni.

On Friday, a day set aside for seniors only, 28 employer organizations will hold interviews for position vacancies. Students interested in arranging interviews must schedule appointments with staff in the Career/Life Planning Center (room 606 Kehoe) by April 3, and provide a copy of their resume for each employer's file.

Career Night at SUNY Plattsburgh, established in the early 1970s, has grown to become one of the largest programs of its type in the State of New York.

Summer Orientation Team Set

Members of the 1989 Summer Orientation staff have been selected by the Office of Campus Life. Tim Ayrovainen will coordinate the student orientation program and Ed Engelbride will serve as coordinator of the parent orientation program.

The 1989 parent orientation leaders, their class levels, major programs of study and hometowns are: Patricia Landry, graduate student, counseling education, Clifton Park; Jennifer Seguin, sophomore, psychology, Troy; Kristen Layon, sophomore, education, East Islip; Tim Hoben, senior, business, Newburgh; and Dale Tuczinski, graduate student, counselor education, Chatham.

The 1989 student orientation leaders are: Beth LaBrake, senior, elementary education, Mexico; Dan Estrin, senior, environmental science, Kingston; Dave Lubell, junior, math, Oneonta; Eric Kusmaul, freshman, undeclared, Wappingers Falls; Tony Pascucci, senior, secondary education, Glen Head; Jennifer Avellino, junior, speech and hearing education, Flushing; Shelley LeGrow, sophomore, marketing, Warwick; Colleen Pope, junior, communication arts/French, Plattsburgh; Lynn Tighe, sophomore, psychology, Howes Cave; and Kay Redmond, senior, child family services, Kingston.

LaBrake, Estrin and Lubell were 1988 student orientation leaders.

Library Receives $2,163 Grant to Catalog Video Collection

Feinberg Library has been notified that a grant proposal for retrospective cataloging of its video collection has been funded by the State Library through Title III of the Library Services and Construction Act.

According to Cerise Oberman, director of libraries, Feinberg will receive $2,163 to catalog 571 film/video titles that will become available in the library's card catalog and in the Online Computer Library Center, a national database. Oberman said the proposal was the only one funded in the North Country Reference and Research Resources.

substantial, sustained and impressive. In promoting him to Distinguished Teaching Professor, the university justifiably honors him, the college and itself."

Baum joined the Plattsburgh faculty in 1963 as an instructor and has been promoted through the ranks. He was promoted to full professor in 1976. That same year, Baum received the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching and in 1986, he was honored by members of Phi Eta Sigma, the national honor society for freshmen, with that organization's Distinguished Faculty Award.

Baum has published numerous articles on his scientific research. His book Introduction to Organic and Biological Chemistry, published by the Macmillan Company, is now in its fourth edition and is used as a textbook at numerous colleges and universities. He is also co-author of Chemistry: A Life Science Approach and Exercises in Organic and Biological Chemistry.

Baum has reconstituted a course in "Science and Society" and has focused much attention in his work with students on the ethical implications of science. He has also recently focused on improving elementary teacher training in the area of science and is developing a project to continue that effort.

Baum's service to the college includes, among others, membership on the Honors Council and the Presidential Scholars Selection Committee, faculty advisor for Omicron Delta Kappa and the Value Added Student Assessment Advisory Committee.

'89 Jazz Festival Features Performances by Bertoncini, Swartz

Workshops in local schools, a Jazz Ensemble performance featuring guest soloists and a special "Cabaret Concert" highlight the 1989 SUNY Plattsburgh Jazz Festival scheduled for Tuesday through Thursday, April 4-6. Festival events are co-sponsored by the college's Music Council and the Clinton County Council on the Arts.

Two internationally acclaimed jazz musicians will visit the campus to serve as guest artists, judges and clinicians according to Dr. Marshall Onofrio, assistant professor of music and director of the college's Jazz Ensemble. They are Gene Bertoncini, guitar, and Harvie Swartz, bass.

Bertoncini is renowned as both a classical and jazz guitarist, and has performed with ensembles ranging from the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra to Benny Goodman and Buddy Rich. Swartz, who teaches bass at the Manhattan School of Music, has played or recorded with Stan Getz, Art Farmer, Phil Woods, David Sanborn and Gil Evans, among others.

While visiting the campus, the guest artists will conduct workshops at Plattsburgh, Beekmantown and Ausable Valley Central Schools. On Tuesday, they will perform with the college's Jazz Ensemble in an open rehearsal at 7 p.m. in Giltz Auditorium in Hawkins Hall.

On Wednesday, Bertoncini and Swartz will judge the performances of nine middle and high school ensembles from New York, Vermont and Ontario that will perform from 2 to 5 p.m. in the College Center Ballrooms. That evening, they will be guest soloists with the Jazz Ensemble, and on Thursday they will perform as a duo in a 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Cabaret Concert to be held in the Angell Center Blue Room.

The Tuesday evening Jazz Ensemble rehearsal and the Wednesday afternoon school ensemble program are free and open to all. The Wednesday and Thursday concerts will require an admission fee. For ticket information, call the Hartman Theatre Box Office (564-2283.)

Art Galleries Display Works by Means, Fine Through May 21

The work of two new art faculty members will be on exhibit in college gallery areas from March 29 through May 21.

The Rockwell Kent Gallery will host a display of large-scale black and white photographs by Amanda Means, who is described by gallery director Edward Brohel as "a photographer with a special and intensive eye for nature and its reality." The show will be a mixture of views of the landscape and leaf prints. The latter are made by putting the original leaves into the enlarger and printing them directly. Means is a lecturer in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre.

Lithographs and etchings by Diane Fine will be exhibited in the Myers Fine Arts Lounge (Room 232). Fine, who is an assistant professor in the Center, is teaching printmaking. She has been a printmaker for ten years and has extensive experience in intaglio, lithography, papermaking, book arts and letterpress printing. She says, "My art work is intimately linked to the rhythmic relationship between technical processes, physical labor, and artistic expression that printmaking affords."

Also during this time, tapestries by Amy Zerner will be on display in the Myers Fine Arts Gallery.

Olympia's Debut

Several representatives of area businesses that advertise in Stafford Arena were given a first-hand look at, and operational orientation to, the arena's new, $40,000 Leclair Olympia ice resurfacing vehicle their advertising dollars purchased. The Olympia machine arrived on campus recently as a replacement for the Zamboni resurfer that had been in service since the arena opened in February of 1972. Advised about five years ago that capital funds would not become available to replace the Zamboni, the Cardinal Booster Club launched the advertising campaign to purchase the new vehicle and to support other long-term capital improvement projects at the Field House. On hand for the Olympia's "public debut" were (L-R): college representative Peter Luguri, director of athletics; Curtis E. Shipman, president of Keeseville National Bank; Ronald Marino, vice president of Norstar Bank; Margo O'Halloran and Robert Seymour, proprietor, of Ideal Auto Supply; Phyllis and Joseph Ezero of the Little Caesars management staff; and Phillip Green, vice president for sales and service, Brockway Air. 1988-89 advertisers not able to be present for the photo include Bryan LaPier Motors, Church Oil Co., Comfort Inn, Econolodge, The Ground Round, Key Bank N.A., and Plattsburgh Distributing, Inc.

R.A.s Appointed for Academic '89-90; 47 to Return to Positions

The Office of Campus Life has completed the process of selecting resident assistants for the 1989-90 academic year.

In announcing the appointments, Cheryl Hogle, associate director of campus life, noted that 12 staff will be returning to their posts for a third year next fall, and that another 35 have been reappointed for a second year. Following the third, and final, phase of the selection process, which included 12 hours of group relations work, 56 students were chosen as first-time resident assistants — 48 beginning in August with the remainder effective in January.

Hogle said that the group of new R.A.s includes 12 freshmen, 29 sophomores, 14 juniors and one senior. It includes 20 different academic majors, with 15 from the School of Business and Economics heading the list. The newly selected R.A.s will be required to complete a 20-hour training program that began last Friday and will continue into the first week of May. Also, they must participate in a five-day training program scheduled for late August.

Students reappointed as R.A.s for a third year are: Mike Benowitz, Mike Dailey, Edyth Duff, Dale Fisher, Carol Harrington, Shelley Haught, Colin McCann, Tony Pascucci, Kay Redmond, Barbara Tanzi, Marc Turenne, and Lori VanAllen.

Layton, Lori Leveillee, Stephen Link, Deirdre Markle, Maureen McKinstry.

Also, George McMurty, Amy Mellen, Christine Morris, Joseph Muresco, Mondo Normile, Richard O'Brien, Daniel Palmer, Desiree Peart, Marcia Pfohl, Christopher Pierson, David Rogers, Christa Sacco, Julie Schaller, Susan Schuhl, Carolyn Scott, Catherine Shannon, Dawn Shea, Christopher Steves, Lynne Tighe, Michele Wright, and Susan Zwick.

R.A.s whose appointments begin next January are: Matthew Aubrey, Doug Buchner, Neal Calcote, Michelle Dahn, Tim Darcy, Robert Gleason, Amy Goi, and Karen Yoos.

Cardinal Defenseman Doucette Named to ECAC All-Star Team

Plattsburgh State hockey co-captain Dave Doucette, a junior business major from Etibocoke, Ont., has been named an ECAC first team All-Star for the 1988-89 season.

Doucette, a defenseman, was the leading scorer for the Cardinals this past season with 44 points on 11 goals and 33 assists. He led the Cardinals' 79.3% penalty killing attack and scored six power-play and two short-handed goals.

"Doucette was a real team leader this season," commented Cardinal hockey coach Steve Hoar. "With such a young squad, we had to count on the experience and maturity of veteran players, and Dave came through with some top-notch leadership. We are very proud of him and glad that we have him back for one more season."

Rounding out the ECAC All-Star first team are forwards Sean Fitzgerald of Oswego, Scott Brown of RIT and Sean McCabe of Hamilton; defenseman Dan Williams of Potsdam; and goaltender Guy Hebert of Hamilton.

Flutist Cameron to Give Recital

Flute instructor Robin Cameron will present a recital at 8 p.m. on Friday, March 31 in the Angell Center Ballroom. Cameron will be accompanied by David Carpenter, chairman of the music department for the Saranac Center School System. The program will include "Sonata 'Undine,' Op. 167" by Carl Reinecke, "Fantasia para un gentilhombre" by Joaquin Rodrigo, "Top O'the Evening," (traditional Irish songs by Laurence Trott), and "Concerto, Op. 8" by Otar Gordeli.

The concert is free and open to the public.

NSF Grant to Fund Summer 'Young Scholars Program' in Science

Fifteen area high school students will have an exciting opportunity to further their understanding of science this summer, thanks to a $25,132 grant from the National Science Foundation. Project co-director Kenneth Adams, explained that at least 18 faculty and staff members will be involved with the "Young Scholars Program."

Students chosen for the project will participate in a 20-day immersion program on the main campus and at the Miner Institute from July 10 to August 4. Adams said, "They will be exposed to a broad survey of sciences, including biology, chemistry, physics, geology, and environmental science. We'll offer classes as well as hands-on indoor and outdoor laboratory experiences. We'll also discuss ethics in science and explore career and graduate school opportunities."

The project, however, will not end with the summer session. Each student will select a research project to conduct during the fall semester under the supervision of a faculty mentor. Their respective high school teachers will be encouraged to participate in the work. The project will conclude next winter with a science fair, during which the students will present their findings.

The proposal was a collaborative effort between Adams, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science; Dr. Roger Sandwick, assistant professor of chemistry; and Dr. Michael Wolfe and Karen Larkin, director and lecturer, respectively, in the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services.

Faculty members who will be involved with the project include: Dr. Stuart Baum, Dr. Peter Conrad, Dr. Robert Fuller, Dr. Lawrence Gillett, Dr. Douglas Graham, Dr. John Lewis, Dr. Edward Miller, Elizabeth Pasti, Dr. Bonnie Seidel, Dr. Donald Ryan, and Dr. Daniel Vogt. Miner Institute staff who will participate include: Catherine Ballard-Stuart, Judith Heintz and Dr. Paige Smith.

Kudos To . . .

Don Osborn, sculptor and associate professor of art in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre, for receiving two awards for sculptures selected for exhibition in the 23rd Annual National Drawing and Small Sculpture show, a competitive exhibition sponsored by Del Mar College, Corpus Christi, Texas. A piece titled "Debutante's Awakening" was selected for a purchase award and will be included in the college's permanent collection. "December's Deluge" was selected to receive a cash merit award. Internationally known artist/sculptor John Chamberlain served as juror for the exhibition.

Osborn joined the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty in 1985 and is perhaps best known in the local area for his large-scale outdoor piece "Thoughts on Pheidias," which is located on the lawn between the Kehoe Building and Beaumont Hall.

Graziadei to Receive Fulbright Grant for AIDS Research in Italy

Dr. William D. Graziadei, professor of biology and coordinator of the college's in vitro cell biology and biotechnology program, has been notified he will receive a Fulbright Travel Grant that will enable him to spend a year in Italy doing AIDS research.

Graziadei will conduct cellular and molecular biology research in the area of immunology and virology. He will work with Dr. Sergio Romagnani at the Instituto Di Clinica Medica Generale, Division of Clinico Immunologie, at the University of Firenze. He expects to be on leave in Italy from September of this year through August of 1990.

Graziadei said his research will focus on how the AIDS virus causes its devastation. "The precise role of the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) in the various disease manifestations of AIDS needs to be clarified," he said. "In HIV-infected individuals, the immune system is compromised. These people are unable to defend against routine infections, and, therefore, they die of secondary infections."

According to Graziadei, the virus's targets in the body are known as T Helper Lymphocytes. He will investigate whether their destruction is mediated by indirect means; that is, by unregulated production of regulatory molecules.

"HIV growth can be demonstrated in only a small fraction of T helper lymphocytes collected from HIV-infected patients," said Graziadei. "The cells killed by the virus growth alone might hamper the immune system somewhat, but would not cause the severe immune deficiency seen in AIDS. This paradox could be resolved only if cells were killed by other means."

Woltjen to Retire June 1; Homburger to Assume Top Fiscal Post

William G. Woltjen, a member of the administration at SUNY Plattsburgh for the past 20 years and its chief fiscal officer since 1983, will retire from service to the college, effective June 1.

"This college will miss Bill Woltjen very much," commented President Charles O. Warren. "Bill has his colleagues have been greatly appreciated."

In what he termed a "response to the latest in a series of serious budget reductions, including the 12.6 positions that were yielded as of March 31 and the possibility of further decreases," Warren said that Woltjen's management/confidential position will be given up. Controller John Homburger's duties will be expanded, and he will become the college's senior business officer.

President Warren expressed appreciation to all colleagues in the college's finance division. "It is their dedication and talents collectively that allow us to make these important savings," he said.

Woltjen joined SUNY Plattsburgh as controller in 1969 following three years in a similar capacity at the University of Rhode Island. He was promoted to assistant vice president for finance, his current title, in 1983.

Woltjen is a member of the Eastern Association of College and University Business Officers, and he is active in Masonic organizations and in Rotary and the United Way, both of which he served as presi-

RET Founder Ellis to Present All-Day Workshop Here Thursday

Dr. Albert Ellis, the renowned clinical psychologist, founder of Rational-Emotive Therapy and the executive director of an Institute by that name, will conduct a workshop on campus scheduled for 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. next Thursday (April 13) in the Angell Center Ballroom.

Ellis will lead two workshop sessions. The first, from 9:15 to noon, will focus on RET in theory and practice. The second, from 1 to 3:30 p.m., will explore "a rational-emotive approach to love, jealousy and possessiveness."

Described as "an inspiring speaker and brilliant thinker," Ellis has been called "one of the three most influential psychotherapists of all time" by his fellow clinical and counseling psychologists. A practicing clinician, he has contributed to more than 50 books and has published more than 600 articles. Long sensitive to feminist issues in psychotherapy, Ellis has been a pioneering sex and marital therapist. He is the founding president of the Society for the Scientific Study of Sex.

RET has been defined as a humanistic approach to emotional growth. It emphasizes the individual's capacity for creating emotions; the ability to change and overcome the past; and the power to choose and implement satisfying alternatives to current patterns. As a treatment procedure, RET is designed to help people integrate their creativity and free themselves from unproductive and self-defeating habits.

Ellis' visit is co-sponsored by the college's Center for Lifelong Learning, its Department of Psychology, the Clinton County Mental Health Association and the New York State Psychological Association.

Teaching 'Celebration' Program to Focus on Career Motivation

A "Celebration of Teaching" will take place on campus on May 3, thanks to a $1,000 grant from the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation of Morristown, NJ.

Dr. Michael Wolfe, director of the Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services, explained the project. "Our objective is to stimulate talented middle school, junior high and high school students to consider teaching as a career. We also hope to create a North Country Future Teacher Organization and to begin an association between our campus honorary education organizations and high school student organizations."

Students and teachers from the 18 school districts within the BOCES area have been invited to participate. Members of the Organization of Education Majors, Kappa Delta Pi, and the Council for Exceptional Children are planning the day's activities. The agenda will include presentations on teaching as a career and panel discussions by new and veteran teachers. Visiting students will each be paired with a Plattsburgh student to attend classes.

The Dodge Foundation provided funds for 50 projects across the country. Scott McVay, executive director, wrote, "The readers were impressed by the energy and spirit of the proposal. . . Through efforts by teacher leaders, we expect to reach thousands of bright and caring high school students who are prospects for the teaching profession. I know of no higher calling."

College Council Meets April 12

The next meeting of the SUNY Plattsburgh College Council will be held at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, April 12 in the Sixth Floor Boardroom of the Kehoe Administration Building.

Agenda items include a discussion of ethics legislation, a report on the upcoming Centennial Celebration and a report on Sponsored Research.

Agency. Its purpose is to support the exchange of teachers, students and scholars to promote mutual, bi-national understanding — in this case, between the U.S. and Italy.

Graziadei has been a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty since 1973 and coordinator of the in vitro program since 1980. His many grants and awards include two from the National Institute of Health, valued at more than $110,000 combined, to study allergy and infectious diseases and negative feedback control of interferon synthesis. In 1978 he received the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching.

dent. He and his wife, Pat, will relocate to Murrels Inlet in South Carolina.

Homburger, who received the B.S. in accounting from SUNY Plattsburgh in 1975, joined the college that year as a business consultant with the Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center. He became budget control officer in 1978 and was promoted to controller in 1983.

"I'm looking forward to the challenge," remarked Homburger, "but it won't be easy to follow Bill Woltjen. Business officers are perceived generally as thick-skinned people retained to put the squeeze on everybody else. Bill doesn't fit the mold. He's a very caring person. He fosters initiative in those who report to him. He gives them the latitude to make decisions . . . and his full support when things don't work out as planned."

SUNY Confederation Award Cites Plattsburgh Program for Alumni

The SUNY Confederation of Alumni Associations has selected the college's Alumni Association to receive its "Outstanding Alumni Programming Award" at the confederation's 1989 conference scheduled this weekend in Albany. "Alumni Serving SUNY for 20 Years" is the theme of the conference for alumni professionals and volunteers from throughout the University system.

Specifically, the award cites last summer's Alumni Leadership Conference, which brought more than 30 alumni back to campus to reacquaint them with the college and its mission and to enlist their services as volunteers in areas such as admissions recruitment, job placement, government relations and development. The conference was planned and coordinated by the Office of Alumni Affairs.

"We designed our conference to appeal to younger alumni — graduates of the late 1970s and the '80s," explained Malcolm Lavery, director of alumni affairs, "and we are already realizing tangible benefits. Our alumni leaders are writing to and talking with prospective freshmen and transfer students, and those from New York have been active lobbyists in support of our position on the budget crisis."

ODK Picks Senior Kathy Kane as Province Leader for 1989

Kathleen Kane, a senior economics major from Elmira, has been named Leader of the Year for Province I by Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society. Province I consists of 23 circles in six states and the District of Columbia. Kane will now represent the province in national competition.

A Presidential Scholar, Kane is an All-American in cross country and track and field. She is a member of the SUNYAC cross country Hall of Fame, and has won numerous scholar-athlete awards, including the 1987-88 GTE/College Sports Information Directors of America Scholar Athlete Award.

Kane is the fifth SUNY Plattsburgh student to win the Province I title in the club's short history. Other winners were Roger Sadler, James DeLuca, Sue Coughlin, and Ann McLaughlin.

Curtain Up on 'Showcase'

Mark your calendars — Wednesday, April 12 is Showcase '89.

Students, faculty and staff will present a wide variety of lectures, demonstrations, exhibits and poster sessions, spotlighting the many scholarly and creative activities that take place on the SUNY Plattsburgh campus. Programs have been mailed to all faculty and staff.

No classes are scheduled for that day, in order that all faculty and students may share in the celebration of Showcase '89!

"A corresponding objective was to lay the groundwork to establish formal clubs in New York State and other states where alumni reside in numbers," continued Lavery. "As of today, alumni clubs have been formed in the Rochester-Buffalo area, in Washington, D.C., Boston and in Florida. Formal club organization is underway in the Capital District and on Long Island, and by this time next year we expect to have alumni clubs functioning in the Westchester and Rockland counties area, in New York City and in central New York State."

Lavery said the award-winning project was a "team effort" involving the entire staff in the Office of College Relations and Development. Also, he said, President Charles O. Warren contributed to the success of the conference by establishing its tone, and professionals in the admissions and career planning played key roles as seminar leaders.

Besides accepting the award, which will be conferred Sunday morning during the closing session of the conference, Lavery will serve as a panelist for a Friday workshop on the topic, "Team Approach to Successful Alumni Programming." Dr. Lary Shaffer, associate professor of psychology, is listed as a panelist for a Saturday morning discussion of "SUNY Pride — How to Make Alumni Feel It . . . Believe It."

Braga Reading Set for Monday

The SUNY Plattsburgh Campus Poets Series will present a reading by Dr. Thomas Braga at 8 p.m. on Monday, April 10 at the Newman Center (92 Broad Street).

Braga, a professor of foreign language and literature at SUNY Plattsburgh, will read poems in English, French, German, Portuguese and Spanish from his collection entitled "Tongues." He will read the foreign language poems in the original, followed by an English translation.

Braga has published two books of poetry, Portingales, a collection of poems in English and Portuguese, and Chants Fugitifs, a collection of works in French. Individual poems by Braga have appeared in numerous literary journals.

The Campus Poets Series is sponsored by the SUNY Plattsburgh Department of Foreign Language and Literature and the Faculty of Arts and Science. The reading is free and open to the campus and community.

Service for Abbe

A memorial service for George Abbe, late writer-in-residence at the college, will be held at Trinity Church in Plattsburgh at 8 p.m. on Monday, April 10. Members of the college community are encouraged to attend.

An article by Dr. Kenneth Adams, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, and MALS graduate student Richard Stergas, has been accepted for publication in the Canadian Journal of Forest Research. The article is entitled "Jack pine barrens in northeastern New York: post fire macronutrient concentrations, heat content, and understory biomass". . . Claire Barnett, director for special projects at the Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center, spoke recently on "Raising Capital for Emerging Companies: the Experience of Venture Capital Network of New York, Incorporated" at a meeting of the Rochester Venture Capital Breakfast Group and at the 18th annual meeting of the Securities Law Institute of the Cleveland Bar Association. . . An article by Mary Dossin, Writing Skills Specialist with Special Services Project, has been accepted for publication in The Writing Lab Newsletter. . . "Cross-Racial Identification" is the title of an article by Dr. Roy Malpass, professor of behavioral science, that appears in the March 1989 issue of Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin. . . Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development, has been appointed to the New York State Association of Counties' Mandate Reduction Task Force. Garrant, County Legislator from area 10, is the current chair of the Legislature. . . Drs. Richard Lamb and Bryan Higgins, associate professors in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, served as consultants for the $75,000 Urban Development Corporation grant awarded recently to the St. Regis Mohawk Tribe. The grant is for economic development and comprehensive planning on the reservation. Lamb and Higgins will continue to serve as consultants for the duration of the grant period. . . The March issue of York State, the publication of the New York State Retired Teachers Association, reports that Cornelius B. Murray, a member of the college's Board of Visitors from 1943 - 1956, has received the association's "Certificate of Award" in recognition of his "life-long (72 years) commitment to education." Murray is a former District Superintendent of Schools for Clinton County, and from 1944-1967 he served as executive secretary of the state's Teachers Retirement Board.

Board Rate Increases by 3.4% Room Charges Expected to Rise

Resident students at SUNY Plattsburgh will pay more for board next academic year, and it's a virtual certainty they'll pay $100 more per year in room rent.

According to Stan Supinski, executive director of College Auxiliary Services (CAS), the CAS Executive Committee has approved a 3.4 percent increase in board rates, effective with the start of the fall term. Both the 19 meal plan and the 14 meal plan will cost $50 more during academic 1989-90, with the former rising from the current $733 per semester to $758 and the latter increasing from $695 to $720.

"Nearly half of the increase can be attributed to a projected decrease in the number of students on the meal plan in September," commented Supinski. "The decision to enroll fewer students meant we had to budget for 100 fewer on the meal plan. Increased operating costs account for the balance of the increase."

Supinski said that board costs at the college have been among the lowest in SUNY consistently, adding, "That may still be the case." He noted that the CAS Executive Committee is composed of faculty, staff and students, with the latter constituency having 50 percent of the vote.

Meanwhile, the college has requested a $100 per year increase in room charges, also to be effective in the fall. Approval by SUNY is expected, and that would bring annual room rent to $1,800.

Alumni of Distinction

Alumni Director Richard Higgins (foreground) and Alumni Affairs Director Malcolm Lavery admire exhibit of "Alumni of Distinction" erected recently in the visitors' waiting area adjacent to the admissions office suite on the tenth floor of the Kehoe Building. The exhibit features photos and brief biographical sketches of alumni who have achieved prominence in a variety of professions. The initial group includes alumni in the fields of health services, international sales and marketing, journalism, broadcasting, law, entertainment, and government consulting. Photos and text on these and additional Alumni of Distinction will be rotated periodically. The display case was funded by the Plattsburgh Alumni Association.

Vermont Governor Kunin to Deliver May Commencement Address

Vermont Governor Madeleine M. Kunin will deliver the main address at the 99th spring commencement ceremony scheduled for Saturday, May 13 at the SUNY Plattsburgh Field House.

Kunin, now in her third term, is the first woman in U.S. history to be elected governor three times. She also is the first woman and the third Democrat elected governor of the State of Vermont.

Kunin was born in Switzerland and emigrated to the United States with her family in 1940. She holds a B.A. degree in history from the University of Massachusetts, an M.A. in journalism from Columbia University and an M.A. in English literature from the University of Vermont.

In 1972, she won her first political election, to a seat in the Vermont House of Representatives. She served three two-year terms, was elected Democratic Whip in her second term, and chaired the House Appropriations Committee in 1977-78. She was elected lieutenant governor in 1978 and was re-elected in 1980.

During her tenure as governor, Kunin has focused on educational reform, planning, state fiscal policy, environmental legislation and child care. She has also become a leading national spokesperson on the issue of women in politics. Kunin chairs the National Governors Association's Committee on Energy and the Environment, is past chair of the New England Governors' Conference and is a member of the Executive Committee of the National Governors' Association. She also co-chaired the Platform Committee of the 1988 Democratic National Convention.

La Grosse Valise Mime Group Headlines Festival Quebec Program

This year's Festival Quebec program, scheduled for Thursday, April 20, will be highlighted by a performance by La Grosse Valise, an internationally acclaimed mime ensemble from Montreal. The show, set for 8 p.m. in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium, is entitled "Mask N' Tape."

La Grosse Valise is described as players trained and practiced in the disciplines of mime, commedia dell'arte and the theatre of the mask. Tickets are free and available at the Center for the Study of Canada.

Leo Pare, chief delegate of the Quebec Government, will address the issue of the "Free Trade Agreement: The Quebec-New York Perspective" at 4:15 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge.

A symposium on acid rain (scheduled for 1:15 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge) will feature a discussion by Dr. John Malanchuk, a 1970 graduate of the college and former professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, who is currently with the National Acid Rain Precipitation Office in Washington, D.C. Laval Lapointe, acid rain coordinator for Quebec's Ministry of the Environment, will also participate in the symposium.

Pascal Normand and Andree Lotey, professors of French at Concordia University, will trace the evolution of Quebecois folk music and illustrate how it can be used in French classes during a seminar (in French) at 2:30 p.m. in the Cardinal Lounge.

Also during the day, a Quebec Video Festival will feature continuous showings of a new collection of videos on Quebec (Conference Room 103, 10:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.); the Centennial Room will offer traditional Quebec fare (11 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.) and later in the day will offer dessert and coffee together with Quebecois music (6:30 - 7:30 p.m.); and information booths will be set up in the Angell Center Lobby.

Festival Quebec is sponsored annually by the Center for the Study of Canada.

College Foundation to Welcome 25 Newcomers to President's Club

The Plattsburgh College Foundation will welcome 25 new members to its President's Club fold during a brunch program scheduled for 11 a.m. Sunday in the Angell Center Centennial Room.

Membership in the President's Club is granted to individuals, businesses and organizations that contribute a minimum of $500 to the Foundation's Annual Giving Campaign. Sunday's brunch program recognizes those who gave at that level during the past year, and 154 contributors comprise the President's Club honor roll for 1988.

According to Don Garrant, assistant to the president and executive director of the Foundation, the brunch program will consist of a welcome from Curtis E. Shipman, the organization's president; presentation of President's Club plaques or plaque tabs to new and continuing members; and remarks by college President Charles O. Warren. Also, students Aaron Glascock, Kathy Kane, Dawn Reed and Doug Sloan — all recipients of Foundation scholarships — will attend as guests and make brief presentations.

The businesses and individuals to be acknowledged as new President's Club members on Sunday include: Acme Construction Co.; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford P. Calongne, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Carpenter; Concrete Building Supply; Dr. Charles DeLise; A.N. Deringer, Inc.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Forster '69/80; Gregory Supply Co.; Dr. James M. Johnson; Kennedy Construction Co., Inc.; Suzanne Daley '80

Focus of 16th Asian Symposium on Performing and Fine Arts

This year's Sixteenth Annual Asian Symposium, which will be held on April 15, will focus on Performing and Fine Arts in Asia.

The symposium, which is co-sponsored by the Asian Study Committee, the Center for International Education, Club International, and the Center for Art, Music and Theatre, will take place in the Rockwell Kent Gallery. Admission is free and open to the public.

Dr. Oh-Kon Cho, professor of theatre at SUNY Brockport, is the featured speaker. Cho will discuss "Comic Satire in Korean Drama" at 2 p.m.

Between 1 - 2 p.m. local resident and Class of 1930 alumnus Alfred Millet will discuss "Collecting Asian Art," and local artist Malee Lennon will demonstrate Chinese Brush Painting. At 3:30 p.m. Kyoko Mizuno, assisted by Mailani Cook, will demonstrate the Japanese Tea Ceremony. Both are students at SUNY Plattsburgh.

The Centennial Room will offer an Asian Luncheon from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The cost is $6 per person, and student meal tickets will be accepted.

and Sherwood J. Keyser; Lake Champlain Transportation Co.; and Clara LaRose.

Also, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene P. Link; Lockrow's Inc.; Dr. and Mrs. E. Stafford; Stewart's; Whispering Maples Memorial Gardens; and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wright.

Search for Vice President Narrowed to 10 Candidates

The search for a vice president for academic affairs has been narrowed to 10 candidates.

According to Dr. Prem Gandhi, professor of economics and chairperson of the search committee, 71 persons applied for the position. The committee will attempt to reduce the field to five candidates before the end of this week with the intent to bring all or most of them here for on-campus interviews during the last two weeks in April.

To ensure maximum opportunity for all campus constituencies to take part in the interview process, the names of the finalists, together with biographical information on each, will be announced in WEEKLY and disseminated by mail throughout the campus in advance of their visits.

Gandhi said the full search committee will convene, hopefully in early May, to complete its work and forward its recommendations to the president. It is his understanding, he added, that the objective is to have the next vice president for academic affairs assume office this summer.

Federal Financial Aid Programs to Total $440,600 Next Year

The college has received notification from the U.S. Department of Education of its funding level for federal financial aid programs for the period of July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990.

SUNY Plattsburgh will receive $440,600 in total appropriations in the coming year, broken down as follows: $97,817 for the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant Program; $341,204 for the College Work-Study Program; and $1,579 for the Perkins Loan Program. Suzanne Sokolowski, director of financial aid, said that the funding level overall is about the same as in previous years.

During the current academic year, Plattsburgh students shared in $10,417,000 in financial aid awarded from combined federal, state and institutional resources. Sokolowski expects that award total to remain the same in 1989-90.

Musical Groups Winding Down 1988-89 Performance Schedules

Musical groups will dominate the campus arts scene during the remainder of April.

A choral festival scheduled for Saturday at 8 p.m. in E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium will be the lead-off event. It will feature the Cardinal Singers and College Chorale in a concert of music for choir and orchestra by Bach, Monteverdi, Scarlatti and Haydn. Robert Hall, conductor of both college groups, will direct the Cardinal Singers in the opening half of the concert. The second half, which will include a performance of the Chorale and the combined choirs, will be directed by guest conductor Dr. Fred Stoltzfus, director of choral activities at McGill University and of the Donovan Chorale and Orpheus Singers in Montreal.

On Tuesday, April 25, the Symphonic Band and Clarinet Choir, under the direction of Elizabeth Stoyanovich, will present their final concert of the academic year, also in Giltz Auditorium. The highlight of the evening will be Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait," with guest artist Dr. Raney Ellis, director of campus computing services, narrating Lincoln's life and excerpts from his speeches.

"Sops and Bones and Other Tones" is the title of a concert by the Cardinal Singers, with the Plattsburgh State Brass Ensemble as guest performers, to be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday, April 30, in St. Peter's Church in Plattsburgh.

Tickets for the Chorale Festival are $7 for general admission, $4 for students, faculty and staff and senior citizens, and $1 for SUNY Plattsburgh students. The other concerts are free and open to the public.

Iowa Psychologist Schum to Give Workshop Next Friday at Sibley

Dr. Robert Schum, clinical psychologist and assistant director of the Wendell Johnson Speech & Hearing Clinic at the University of Iowa, will conduct an all-day workshop on counseling and communication disorders next Friday (April 28) in the cafetorium of Sibley Hall.

From 9:15 to 11:45 a.m., Schum will focus on "Counseling Parents of Communication-Impaired Children," and, beginning at 1:15, he will examine the "Psychological Adjustment of Communication-Impaired Children." Schum is a nationally known expert in communication disorders whose interests include psychological development of hearing-impaired children, counseling of parents of communication-impaired children and psychological assessment of children with communication impairments. At Iowa, he directs a summer residence program that annually provides a comprehensive, intensive six-week program for children from throughout the U.S. with hearing impairment, cleft palate, fluency disorders, language disorders, and reading problems.

Dr. Robert Quesal, assistant professor of hearing and speech science, said that admission to Friday's workshop will be $5 for professionals and the public and $2 for students. He noted that a reception for Schum will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday (April 27) in room 225 of Sibley Hall, and that the public is invited to meet with him in a less formal setting. More information about Schum's visit is available from Quesal, and he may be reached at 564-5179/2170.

Spotlight on Showcase

The college's first Showcase, held last Wednesday, offered well over 100 lectures, presentations, demonstrations, and exhibits during the day and attracted a large number of faculty and students at SUNY Plattsburgh designed to showcase the various scholarly and creative efforts of the faculty and staff at SUNY Plattsburgh. Exhibits ranged from the very scientific, such as a poster presentation (pictures above) of research on "Comparative Muskrat Morphology and Physiology: The Influence of Water Level and Habitat Type" to the very physical, including a demonstration of basic karate techniques.

Faculty/Staff Campaign on Record Pace; Solicitation to Resume

Faculty and staff giving to the Plattsburgh College Foundation is on a record pace during the centennial year of the College. As of early April, pledges and gifts for 1989 totaled $32,790, with $10,530 of that amount slated for the centennial endowment fund. Last year's total in faculty/staff giving amounted to $26,870.

"The 1989 goal for faculty and staff is ambitious," commented Daniel Milliman, director of development. "It includes topping last year's annual fund total while adding as well to the $500,000 centennial endowment campaign. Those who have not yet donated or pledged for 1989 will be receiving a letter during the next week from Plattsburgh College Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman, asking them to consider supporting this year's annual fund."

Milliman said that faculty and staff may take advantage of payroll deduction to give this year, adding that a payroll deduction card will be included with Shipman's letter. "If payroll deduction cards reach the payroll office by May 5" he said, "donors will have 16 pay periods over which to make their gifts."

Two Experts on South Africa to Lecture Here Next Week

Two experts on South Africa will visit the college in the coming week as visiting scholars in behavioral science.

Dr. Jane Goodman, a research associate in the University of Washington's psychology faculty and a practicing attorney in Seattle, will lecture and conduct a workshop, respectively, on Tuesday and Wednesday (April 25 - 26). On Tuesday, she will discuss "Discrimination in the Workplace: What's Prohibited and What's Not" at 8 p.m. in Ballroom B of the Angell Center. At noon on Wednesday, she will lead a workshop and discussion in the Angell Center Conference Room on "Protecting Your Right to Work Free from Discrimination."

Professor Penny Enslin of the University of Witwatersrand in South Africa will be the featured speaker at an International Awareness Forum program scheduled for 4 p.m. on Wednesday (April 26) in the Cardinal Lounge. Enslin, who is scholar in residence at the University of New Hampshire, will talk on "Education, Apartheid and South Africa."

According to Dr. Roy Malpass, professor of behavioral science, both Goodman and Enslin are well informed about matters in South Africa. Goodman, who has served as trial attorney with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in Seattle, is currently conducting research on South Africa concerning social and psychological effects of the policy of apartheid as it relates to varied aspects of law, including eyewitness identification. Enslin's interests are in the philosophy of education, and her research is in the area of educational ideology, particularly its consequences for education in South Africa.

All presentations are open to the public. Sponsoring organizations include the Behavioral Science Program, the Faculty of Arts and Science, SUNY Plattsburgh's Center for International Education, its Center for the Study of Canada, and College Auxiliary Services.

Grand Opening

Last Wednesday's "Showcase '89" celebration served as occasion to officially open the instruction laboratory that supports the college's new degree program in hotel and restaurant management. On hand to participate in the ribbon-cutting ceremony was George Zugmeier (third from left), president of Lodgistix, Inc. of Wichita, Kansas, which produces the computer software "Lodgemate" program and which recently donated the software to the college. Lodgemate is a hotel property management system that provides students with hands-on experience in the areas of reservations, registration, marketing and sales analysis. Joining Zugmeier in the ribbon cutting were (L-R) Michael Oliver, assistant professor in the Center for Human Resources; Dr. Marilyn Chase, Center director; SUNY Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren; Dr. Nicholas Troisi, dean of the Faculty of Professional Studies; and Joan Janson, assistant professor in the Center. Oliver and Janson were instrumental in obtaining the gift from Lodgistix.

Groth Book on Critic Edmund Wilson Issued by Ohio U. Press

The Ohio University Press has released the hard-cover edition of Dr. Janet Groth's award-winning book, Edmund Wilson: A Critic for Our Time, and has given it top billing in its catalog of new books for spring 1989.

Groth is assistant professor of English at the college. A year ago the publishers recognized her manuscript on Wilson as "a noteworthy scholarly achievement" and gave it the Northeast Modern Language Association book award for 1988.

minence." The review continues: "(The author) offers extended and rigorous treatments of Wilson's most important critical works . . . Most importantly, Groth demonstrates that Wilson's work has significance today . . ."

Groth has been a member of the faculty here since the fall of 1982. She formerly taught at the University of Cincinnati, Brooklyn College and Queensborough Community College, and she is a former member of the editorial staff of THE NEW YORKER Magazine.

1st World Politics Symposium to Explore Change in Russia

"A Changing Soviet Union" is the title for the first World Politics Symposium to be held on campus. The symposium, scheduled for April 17, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Yokum 208.

Robert L. Barry, former Ambassador to Bulgaria, will discuss "Changes in Soviet Domestic Policy: The Impact on Eastern Europe and Other Soviet Alliances." Barry, a career officer in the U.S. Foreign Service, was chief of the U.S. Delegation to the Stockholm Conference, which promulgated the Stockholm Agreement, the first east-west accord to provide for on-site inspection as a means of verification. He has also served in diplomatic posts in Yugoslavia, Moscow, Leningrad, and the United Nations and as deputy director of the Voice of America.

Robert E. Hunter, Director of European Studies at the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington, D.C. will discuss "Changes in Soviet Foreign Policy: Their Effects on U.S. Interests in Europe, the Middle East and the Far East." Hunter has served on the National Security Council staff, as foreign policy advisor to Vice Presidents Hubert Humphrey and Walter Mondale, and as special advisor on Lebanon to the Speaker of the House of Representatives. He also served as lead consultant to the National Bipartisan Commission on Central America (the Kissinger Commission). He is the author of several books, including The Soviet Dilemma in the Middle East and Security in Europe.

The symposium is free and open to the public. It is co-sponsored by the Center for the Study of Canada and International Education, the department of political science, and WCFE-TV.

Brockport Women's Studies Head to Visit Campus Next Wednesday

Dr. Beth Van Fossen, associate dean of arts and science and director of the Women's Studies Program at SUNY Brockport, will be on campus next Wednesday (April 19) to meet with various groups of faculty and staff.

Van Fossen will discuss, among other topics, integrating scholarship on women and minorities into the curriculum, the SUNY Women's Council and the results of a survey on the campus climate conducted by the Brockport Standing Committee on Women's Issues. From 4 to 4:45 p.m., she will be available in the Cardinal Lounge to meet with interested faculty, staff and students.

Van Fossen has been a member of the Brockport faculty since 1975. She is the author of The Structure of Social Inequity and various articles on the developmental effects of athletic participation among high school women, the effect of schools and schooling on mathematics and science achievement, and sex differences in depression.

For more information, contact Dr. Suzann Buckley or Dr. Mark Cohen, co-chair of the SUNY Plattsburgh Commission on Women.

Also, Williams' work is included in The Creative Camera, a recently published book by Nancy Howell-Koehler. . . Dr. Tom Wolosz, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, attended the recent Northeastern Sectional Meeting of the Geological Society of America where he delivered a paper entitled "Thicketing Events — A Key to Understanding the Ecology of the Edgecliff Reefs" at the Paleontology Symposium. Wolosz was also co-chair of the Paleontology/Stratigraphy session, where he delivered a paper on "Water Turbulence — The Controlling Factor in Colonial Rugosan Successions Within Edgecliff Reefs."

'New Look' Cardinals

Student-athletes Andy Hill (front), Rhonda Rhumel and Ed Lenane model new warm-up uniforms purchased for the Plattsburgh State cross-country and track and field teams by the Cardinal Booster Club. The warm-ups — the first for Cardinal athletes in those sports — were purchased for 40 competitors at a total cost of nearly $3,200. The expenditure was made possible by a gift from Dr. Richard Semmler, a 1968 graduate of the college who excelled in cross country and track as well as academically and who, in his senior year, became the State University of New York's first-ever Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Semmler, who chairs the mathematics department at Northern Virginia Community College at Annandale, has contributed to the Cardinal Booster Club each year since his graduation. Besides being that organization's leading benefactor, he has created an endowment fund with the Plattsburgh College Foundation that benefits mathematics majors.

To the Governor and Legislature of the State of New York

(Editor's Note: The following resolution pertaining to the 1989-90 budget proposed for SUNY Plattsburgh was adopted by the college's Faculty Senate at the Senate's March 21 meeting. It had been passed unanimously on March 7 by the Senate's Executive Committee. The resolution is reprinted in its entirety.)

WHEREAS, during the last fifteen years the College at Plattsburgh has experienced a steady erosion of the proportionate level of state support while enrollments, student diversity, program complexity and quality and the need for new student services has dramatically increased, and

WHEREAS, during the last fifteen years the College at Plattsburgh has sustained the loss of 101 positions while increasing enrollment by greater than 1,000 students, and in response has been forced to increase class size, increase teaching load in some programs, reduce the availability of materials and supplies, reduce maintenance of buildings and classrooms and continue to use outdated equipment, and

WHEREAS, in the summer of 1988, the State University as a whole sustained a permanent reduction of $10.6 million and an additional reduction of $6.2 million and the College at Plattsburgh's share of this was a permanent reduction of $151,000.00 and an additional reduction of $65,000.00 in addition to $515,000.00 in mandatory savings which was met by a permanent giving up of 12.6 lines, and

WHEREAS, the Governor's 1989-90 budget proposes an additional $47 million reduction for the 34 State University campuses and the elimination of jobs for at least 650 university employees, and unless restored, this would represent for the College at Plattsburgh a $1.38 million or 5% annualized reduction which if met by personnel cuts would mean the loss of 55-65 positions, and

WHEREAS, these 1988-89 reductions and proposed 1989-90 reductions represent the perennial and debilitating underfunding of the State University which has been going on for over a decade, where colleges such as Plattsburgh have not been able to keep up even with inflationary increases in operating costs, and

WHEREAS, the needs of the culturally diversified great State of New York with its aging infrastructure, increased demand for effective teaching professionals in the public schools, increasing health care challenges across the life-span, international business initiatives, and its recognized leadership in engineering, communications and the arts, requires not a mediocre State University having to function under protracted austerity budgets, but a robust University which can produce well-educated, highly effective future leaders to shepherd the State into the next century,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we, the Executive Committee of the Faculty Senate of the State University of New York College at Plattsburgh, call upon the Governor and the Legislature to increase the 1989-90 budget for the State University of New York by at least its minimal need of $92 million (required for a steady-state budget) so that the State University and, in particular, SUNY Plattsburgh will be able to offer at least the same quantity and quality of services to New York State as originally intended by the legislature for 1988-89.

College Delegation of Nine Takes Part in 10th OAS Assembly

Seven students and two faculty members spent last week in Washington, D.C., taking part in the Tenth Annual Model Assembly of the Organization of American States (OAS).

More than 300 students representing 33 colleges and universities from across the country participated in the assembly, which is held in the headquarters of the OAS. Plattsburgh, in attendance for the fourth consecutive year, was the only SUNY school to participate.

The SUNY Plattsburgh students represented the country of Barbados. Participating students were Patricia Johnson, who served as head delegate; Sandy Sylvester, committee of juridical and political matters; Heather Tracy and Peter Drao, committee on economic and social matters; Regina Adams and Maura Feliz, committee on educational, scientific and cultural matters; and Karen Thomas, administrative and budgetary matters. Dr. Peter Gore and Dr. William Culver also attended the conference.

During their stay in Washington, D.C., the Plattsburgh contingent was housed by two alumni, Dr. Donna Porter '71, who works in the Congressional Research Office of the Library of Congress, and Michael Chesley '80, co-owner and operator of a construction company.

They were also guests of honor, along with students from the University of Ottawa, at a reception at the Canadian Embassy hosted by Richard Gorham, Canada's roving ambassador to Latin America. The reception was also attended by the Peruvian Ambassador to the United States, the senior U.S. representative to the OAS and Canadian and U.S. government officials.

Painter Cottingham to Lecture as Visual Artist Series Guest

Noted painter Robert Cottingham will lecture on his work in a Visual Artist Series program scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow (April 13) in room 205 of Yokum Hall. Admission is free.

Working from color slides and negatives, Cottingham's photorealism reflects American cities and the urban landscape. "I am interested in painting a specific American iconography," he says, "and so the signs I choose have to be American."

By cropping and dissecting a particular photograph, usually of neon signs, Cottingham manipulates parts of words to find the essence of an image. Two of his best known works are RAT and ART, in which he uses this method to uncover verbal puns.

Cottingham's presentation is being sponsored by the Center for Art, Music and Theatre and the Campus Arts Council.

UVM's Laber Featured Speaker at Economics Society Induction

Dr. Gene Laber, a member of the economics faculty at the University of Vermont, will lecture on "Divestiture, Deregulation and the Emerging Forces for Regulatory Reform in the Telecommunications Industry" at 4 p.m. on April 18 in the Centennial Room.

Laber's talk will be given in conjunction with the initiation ceremony of Omicron Delta Epsilon, the national honor society for economics. His talk is open to all.

Laber has been involved in negotiating an innovative telecommunications contract between New England Telephone and the State of Vermont. The contract is expected to lead to lower prices, additional competitors entering the market and the introduction of new products for consumers.

Women 4th in Track at Albany; Kane Wins 800 and 3000 Events

The women's outdoor track team tied for fourth place among 11 teams at the 12th Annual Albany Invitational Meet this past Saturday. Ithaca College won the meet with 155 points, followed by the University of Vermont with 138 and Southern Connecticut with 12. Plattsburgh State and Hartwick College each amassed 43 points.

Kathy Kane was a double winner for the Cards, taking first place in the 800 meters with a time of 2:18.1 and following suit in the 3000 meters in 10:15.4.

Other strong Cardinal competitors included Suzanne Kennedy with third place in the 1500 meter (5:02.04); Rhonda Rhumel with third in the triple jump (10.42); and Julie Dobert, who placed fourth in the 3000 meters and qualified for the ECAC Championships with a time of 10:58.3. Sue Alfeiri qualified for the SUNYAC, ECAC, and NYSWCAA Championships in both the 100m and 200m. She placed fifth in both events.

NOTES

The Office of Campus Life will be sponsoring its Annual Spring Arts and Crafts Fair, on Saturday, April 15th from 10 am - 5 pm, at the Plattsburgh State Field House. Admission is 50¢ per person, children 12 and under free. This year is guaranteed to be bigger and better than ever before with over 200 vendors and artisans registered.

SUNY Plattsburgh to host Music Festival — On Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15, SUNY Plattsburgh will host the 1989 Zone 6 Solo and Small Ensemble Festival of the New York State School Music Association. Seventeen school districts will be represented this year, with close to 600 students participating. Choosing from six levels of solos, students perform for judges, who provide written comments and assign a rating. After performing their prepared piece, each student is required to sight-read a new piece of music, and, in some cases, to play scales. Small ensembles must have less than 16 members, and will include various combinations. The Festival will be held in Myers Fine Arts Building from 3 - 10 pm on Friday and 9 am - 5:30 pm on Saturday.

Open House Expected to Attract 1,000 to Campus This Weekend

Well over 1,000 visitors are expected on campus this Saturday (April 22) for the annual spring Open House for prospective students and their parents. Co-ordinated by the Admissions and College Relations Offices, Open House is designed to provide information about the college to students who are making the decision whether to attend SUNY Plattsburgh next fall.

Invitations have been extended to all students accepted for the fall, 1989 semester. High school juniors who are just beginning the application process are also welcome.

In order to accommodate the large crowd expected to attend, the welcoming session, which will begin at 9:30 a.m., will be held in Memorial Hall gymnasium for the first time. Visitors will then be taken to the various departments, where the students will hear academic programs described by faculty and current students. Students who have not yet decided on a major will meet with a group of faculty who will explain the many options open to undeclared majors.

Following the academic sessions, student guides will conduct walking tours of the campus. The tours will include brief visits to residence halls, the Myers Fine Arts Building, the Angell College Center, and the Feinberg Library. Brunch will be available in the campus dining halls.

Between noon and 2 p.m., there will be several information tables on the second floor of the Angell College Center, where current students will provide the visitors with information about the Student Association, athletic programs, Study Abroad and other topics of interest.

At 1:30 and again at 2 p.m., three workshops will be offered. "What to Expect From Now Until Opening Day" will address the steps that take place after a student pays the admissions deposit, thereby accepting the offer of admission. Selected students will discuss "Life on the Plattsburgh Campus," covering such topics as food service, extracurricular activities, and social life. "Information for Transfer Students" will provide answers to commonly asked questions.

Also during the day, the bursar's office and the housing office will be open to accept deposits, the financial aid office will be open by appointment, and the College Store will be open for business.

Luncheon to Fete Employees Who've Logged 25 Years of Service

College employees with 25 years of service or more will be recognized at a luncheon in their honor to take place on Friday (April 21) in the Cardinal Lounge.

According to Beverly Forster, assistant to the president, thirty-eight members of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty and staff are eligible to attend. Where applicable, the honorees will be joined by their supervisors. Forster said the luncheon is expected to become an annual event.

The luncheon program will consist of a welcome by President Charles O. Warren, who is hosting it, and brief remarks by Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse and Betty Lennon, the presidents, respectively, of the campus chapters of United University Professions and the Civil Service Employees Association.

Those to be honored for 25 years or longer of service to SUNY Plattsburgh, and their titles are:

J. Derek Allan, facilities director; Lawrence Arcarese, associate professor of communication; Jean Barcomb, senior clerk; Dr. Francis Bethlen, professor of economics; Dr. Charles Blood, professor of chemistry; Carol Burnam, senior stenographer; Leda Bushey, senior clerk; Barbara Caska, secretarial stenographer; Dr. Ralph Clark, professor of biology; Dr. Ernest Coons, professor of education.

Also, William Crosby, professor of art; Gerald Dominy, director of operations; Donald Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development; Dr. Lawrence Gillett, professor of environmental science; Lendall Haskell, associate professor of education; Dr. Harold Kline, associate professor of biology; Clara LaRose, senior account clerk; Dr. Houn-Zung Liu, dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science; Charlene Lombard, stenographer; Dr. Anna Messer, professor in the Center for Human Resources.

Also, Dr. Howard Miller, professor of English; Dr. Charles Mitchell, professor of education; Dr. Ben Morreale, professor of history; Aurora Nichols,

College Will Host SUNY-Wide Writing Council Next Weekend

The college will host the annual conference of the SUNY Council on Writing next Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29 in the Angell College Center Ballrooms. Writing instructors and program administrators from throughout the SUNY system will participate.

The conference highlight will be a full day of concurrent presentations on Saturday on a wide range of topics of interest to faculty who are concerned with improving instruction. "Smoothing the Process: Reducing Writing Anxiety," "Feminist Pedagogy in Composition," "Responding to Student Writing," "Assessing and Challenging Critical Thinking Skills in Composition," "Teaching Writing to Learning Disabled Students," and "AIDS as a Writing Incentive" are among the scheduled sessions.

Dr. Thomas Morrissey, professor of English and conference chairperson, said that a grant from the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs will make it possible for a limited number of Plattsburgh faculty and staff to attend Saturday's sessions and luncheon at no charge. Interested persons should contact him at 564-2134.

Morrissey and Elizabeth Pasti, director of the college's Special Services Project, are Plattsburgh's voting delegates to the University-wide organization of writing instructors.

Language Arts Students to Hold 'Idea Fair' on Friday at Sibley

Students in Anna Nardelli's language arts class in the Center for Teacher Education will hold an "Idea Fair" from 1 to 4 p.m. on Friday (April 21) in the Sibley Hall Cafetorium.

The fair will include works created by the students as part of their classroom work, said Nardelli, associate professor of education. Among them are puppets, games, poetry displays, semantic webbing and children's story books. Also, she said, the fair will feature clowns and storytelling for the entertainment of all, but especially children.

"Children are most welcome," remarked Nardelli. "The fair should be attractive also to teachers, administrators, education majors and anyone else interested in a creative approach to the teaching of whole language — and who would enjoy experiencing the wonder of reading, writing, listening and speaking the English language."

Campus Mourns Dr. Lynch; Tuesday Memorial Service Set

A memorial service for Dr. Daniel Lynch, who died suddenly last Wednesday (April 12), will be held next Tuesday (April 25) at 12:30 p.m. at the Newman Center, Broad Street.

Lynch, professor of economics, joined the college in September of 1968. Previously, he had served two years as an associate professor of economics at Memphis State University. A veteran of the U.S. Navy, Lynch served on active duty in both World War II and during the Korean Conflict. He received the Ph.D. in economics in 1965 from the University of Kentucky.

47 Upperclass and Advanced Students, 2 Faculty Inducted to ODK

Forty-nine members of the college community were inducted Saturday to membership in the SUNY Plattsburgh chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK), the national leadership honorary society.

The spring induction class included two graduate students, 14 seniors, 31 juniors and two members of the faculty. ODK has now installed 515 Plattsburgh faculty, staff, students and alumni since its establishment here in May of 1981.

Student candidates for induction are nominated by faculty, staff and current members of ODK; faculty can be nominated only by members of the society. To be eligible for induction, students must be juniors, seniors or graduate students who rank among the top 35 percent of their peers academically, which means a 3.0 grade-point average for undergraduates and about 3.5 for graduate students. Also, they must have "achieved distinction" in at least one of five leadership areas: academics, athletics, social services and campus governance, journalism, speech and mass media, and creative and performing arts.

Faculty inducted to ODK were Dr. Jeanne Kissner, associate director of the Center for the Study of Canada and the Center for International Education, and Dr. E. Thomas Moran, assistant vice president for academic affairs. The student inductees, their major fields of study and hometowns are:

Graduate Students — Steven Frederick, student personnel, West Chazy; and Margaret Semple, liberal studies, East Northport.

Seniors — Shannon Connors, mass communications, Mechanicville; Tandy Draper, chemistry, Kingston; Daniel Estrin, environmental science, Kingston; Anne Gaudieri, food and nutrition, Fairport; Lisa Hartung, elementary education science, Congers; Kerrie Holt, elementary education science, Cadyville; Ann Horwitz, mass media/theatre, Scotia; William Imbergamo, political science, Northport; Arthur LaMarche, biochemistry/biophysics, Plattsburgh; Kathy Migliaccio, special education, Utica; Paul Morphy, hearing & speech science, Plattsburgh; Amy Shahon, psychology, Centereach; Darcie Starks, special education, Massena; and Georgette Vonderleith, business management, Rhinebeck.

Juniors — Jennifer Avellino, speech & hearing handicapped education, Flushing; Ann Margaret Bates, speech & hearing handicapped education, Poland; Cassandra Belair, biochemistry/biophysics, Allegany; Anastasia Boba, speech & hearing handicapped education, Kings Park; Suzanne Brodsky, mass communications, Hauppauge; Kirk Christensen, business management, Ballston Lake; Sage Doolittle, elementary education, Garden City; Edyth Duff, health education, Islip; Barbara Feeney, accounting, Massena; Gia Fotino, elementary education math, Warwick; Robert Grimm, mass communications/journalism, Smithtown; Erinn Haley, elementary education, Massapequa; Gary Hammond, business management, Heuvelton; Michelle Haner, communication arts, Nichols; Robert Hegeman, computer science/theatre, Oneonta; Matthew Dave Jenkins, biochemistry, Schenectady; Deirdre Markle, speech & hearing handicapped education, Whitestone; Stephen Matthews, mass communications, Fonda; Kelly McNamara, math, Speculator; Richard O'Brien, economics/business, West Chazy; Brian Olson, mass media, Mechanicville; Lynn Palmer, political science, Rensselaer Falls; Colleen Pope, communication arts/French, Plattsburgh; Shellie Rapson, Canadian studies, Morrisonville; Dawn Reed, home economics education, West Chazy; Dawn Shea, child family services, Churchville; Douglas Sloan, political science, Palmyra; Lori Staples, mass communication, Canton; Jean Sullivan, secondary education chemistry, Carmel; Katherine Thyne, psychology, Fishkill; and Lynnley Wilson, speech & hearing handicapped education, Burnt Hills.

Fifteen Installed in ODE

Fifteen students were intalled Tuesday as members of Omicron Delta Epsilon, the national honor society in economics.

Membership in ODE is granted to students who have completed at least four courses in economics with grades of B or better and who have attained an overall grade-point average of at least 3.0. The new members received a certificate noting their achievement and a one-year subscription to The American Economist. They also were feted at an initiation banquet held Tuesday evening in the Angell Center Centennial Room.

Dr. Prem Gandhi, professor of economics, said the 1989 Omicron Delta Epsilon class is the college's tenth. The new members, their majors and hometowns are:

Andrea M. Adamovic, professional accounting, North Tarrytown; Monica Bouton, management, Berne; Roberta A. Boyea, accounting, Malone; Alfred G. Campney, professional accounting, Glens Falls; Kirk Christensen, business management, Ballston Lake; Mary J. Fuhrman, business/economics, Plattsburgh; Arline C. Hughes, accounting, Chazy; Karen Lewton, business management, Greenfield Center; Harry Manesis, business management, Whitestone; Margaret Morley, professional accounting, Ogdensburg; Shantha Premaratne, economics, Wellawatte, Columbo-6, Sri Lanka; Michael Southern, business management, Greenfield Center; Susan Leigh Taylor, economics, Plattsburgh; Heather Tracey, international business/Latin American studies, Clifton Park; and Brent West, professional accounting, North Creek.

Track Records Fall; Several Athletes Qualify for Championships

The college's track teams performed well in two meets over the past week. At the University of Vermont Catamount Invitational on April 11, four athletes qualified for the SUNYAC Championship Meet in five different events. At the University of Rochester on April 15, the women's team placed second as several school records were broken.

At UVM, Adam McNally won the 400 meter intermediate hurdles race with a time of 58.1 seconds, qualifying him for SUNYAC's. McNally also qualified for the post-season meet with a second place performance in the 110 high hurdles recording a time of 15.7 seconds. Plattsburgh also got two other first place finishes in the meet from Brian Delong and Matt Nephew. Delong ran the 400 meters in a time of 51.3 seconds, while Nephew completed the 800 meters in 2:00.7 seconds. Delong's finish qualified him for the SUNYAC's. The 4 x 400 relay team of Pat Clear, McNally, Delong, and Nephew finished second.

For the women, Plattsburgh qualified two runners in the 800 meter run for SUNYAC competition. Suzanne Kennedy finished second in the race with a time of 2:26.6, while Mary Hurteau came in fifth in 2:31.9 seconds.

In Rochester, Rhonda Ruhmel set a school record in the triple jump with a leap of 36' 5½". Julie Dobert and Sue Alfieri qualified for the ECAC Championships with Dobert running the 1500 meters in 5:02.25 and Alfieri finishing the 200 meters in 26.52 seconds. Dobert also qualified for the New York State Women's Championships with a time of 10:52.65 minutes in the 3,000 meters. Jen Loomis and Michelle Lesson both qualified for SUNYAC's in the 400 meter dash with times of 1:05.91 and 1:07.53, respectively.

Plattsburgh also collected two first place finishes from Kathy Kane and its 4 x 400 meter relay team. Kane won the 800 meter run in a time of 2:18.50 minutes while the team of Kane, Loomis, Hurteau, and Alfieri ran for a combined time of 4:18.4 minutes. The women's team now has a 9-5 record on the year.

For the men, McNally set a school record and qualified for the New York State Championships with a time of 56.56 seconds in the 400 hurdles. Nephew qualified for the SUNYAC's in the 1,500 meters and the 800 meters with times of 4:05.20 and 1:59.91 minutes, respectively. Also, Delong won the 400 meter dash with a time of 51.37 seconds.

Gore, Skopp, Bentley, Pasti Receive SUNY Chancellor's Awards

Four members of the college community have been selected to receive Chancellor's Awards for Excellence this spring. Dr. Peter Gore and Dr. Douglas Skopp were honored for Excellence in Teaching, Patricia

Gore

Skopp

Bentley

Pasti

Bentley for Excellence in Librarianship and Elizabeth Pasti for Excellence in Professional Service.

The award program was created in 1972 to honor faculty and staff for outstanding service to the university. Winners receive a commemorative medallion to be worn at formal academic ceremonies.

Gore, professor in the Center for Environmental Science, joined the faculty in 1973 and has taught 16 different courses during the intervening years. He has worked with the Miner Center Program and served on the Latin American Studies Committee since 1973. For the past three years he has participated, with students, in the Model Assembly of the Organization of American States and is well known for encouraging students to participate in his various research projects. He has been involved with professional research and evaluation projects for the U.S. State Department in Central and South America, has done extensive work on labeling of pesticides, and conducted various surveys of rural issues, such as economic development and transportation. In 1978-79, Gore served as a Senior Lecturer in the Fulbright-Hays Program in Ecuador. He earned the bachelor's degree from the College at Wooster and the master's degree and doctorate from Cornell University.

Skopp, professor of history and chair of the history department, joined the faculty in 1972 and teaches a range of courses in European history, specializing in medieval and twentieth century Europe. In 1982-83,

Spring Academic Convocation Set for Saturday in Hawkins Hall

Spring Academic Convocation '89 — SUNY Plattsburgh's annual year-end celebration of superior scholarship and performance — will be held Saturday (April 29) at 2:30 p.m. in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium in Hawkins Hall.

Awards, scholarships and prizes for academic excellence will be presented to more than 100 undergraduates, including some double-winners, in programs in arts and science, professional studies and in the college's School of Business and Economics. Senior Kevin M. Days, a history major, and Douglas Sloan, a senior political science major, will be recognized — Days as the college's first Ford Foundation Fellow and Sloan for having achieved status as a finalist as a Truman Foundation Scholar.

Also, Phi Eta Sigma, the national freshman academic honorary society, will confer its "Distinguished Faculty Award." The name of the recipient, selected on the basis of having "contributed the most to the academic success of freshmen (of being) the most effective teacher of freshmen, and (as having shown) the greatest concern for the academic welfare of freshmen" during the 1988-89 academic year, will be kept a closely guarded secret until the ceremony.

President Charles O. Warren will preside at the convocation. Following his welcome, Dr. Stuart J. Baum will speak on "Fusion: What's It All About." Baum, professor of chemistry, a past recipient of the Phi Eta Sigma Award and of the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching, was recently designated "Distinguished Teaching Professor" by the University's Board of Trustees.

A musical interlude will follow Baum's address and precede the recognition portion of the program. Baritone Bradley Alexander of Plattsburgh, who will receive an award as an outstanding music student, will sing Michael Mead's "When I Think Upon the Maidens." Later in the program, Mark Feggeler, picked to receive the Robert Frost Memorial Poetry Prize, will give a poetry reading.

The convocation is open to all. Besides academic award recipients, special invitations have been extended to students who achieved Dean's List (3.5 gpa or higher) status in either or both of the last two semesters and to the officers of the college's academic honor societies.

Academic Affairs Vice President Candidates Begin Interviews

The search for a vice president for academic affairs has been narrowed to five finalists, and the on-campus visit and interview process is already underway.

A general schedule for interviews has been established (see accompanying chart) that ensures that the entire college community will have opportunity to meet the candidates in order to provide feedback to the search committee. Thorough information on each of the candidates has been duplicated and is being distributed throughout the campus.

The finalists, and the dates of their visits:

- Dr. Robert P. Bareikis, assistant vice president for academic affairs at California State University, Long Beach. A late schedule change brought Bareikis to campus on Monday and Tuesday of this week.
- Dr. E. Thomas Moran, assistant vice president for academic affairs and associate professor of education, SUNY Plattsburgh. Moran will interview on May 1 and 2.
- Dr. Betty Becker-Theye, dean of the School of Fine Arts and Humanities, Kearney (Nebr.) State College. Becker-Theye's visit will take place on May 4 and 5.
- Dr. Benjamin F. Taggie, dean, College of Arts and Sciences, interim associate provost for academic affairs and professor of history at Central Missouri State University. Taggie will interview on May 8 and 9.
- Dr. Michael A. Wartell, provost and vice president for academic affairs at Humboldt (Cal.) State University. Wartell will visit campus on May 10 and 11.

Bareikis has been in his present position for the past two years. Previously, he had served for one year as special assistant to the chancellor and academic vice chancellor at the University of California at Santa Cruz, and, prior to that, for more than 20 years at Indiana University, primarily teaching Germanic/West European studies. He has been a visiting professor at Harvard University, Johns Hopkins University and at the University of Pittsburgh. Bareikis holds the Ph.D. from Harvard.

Moran has served in his present post at SUNY Plattsburgh since 1984, where he has been responsible for development and implementation of the college's outcomes assessment project and for supervising FIPSE-funded studies related to assessment. He previously served the college as assistant vice president for student affairs, director of student development, director of Upward Bound and as assistant to the dean of social sciences. A 1969 graduate of Plattsburgh, he received the Ed.D. from SUNY Albany in 1985.

Becker-Theye has been in her current position at Kearney State, where she is responsible for academic programs, budgeting and for the art, music and speech/theatre departments, since 1981. Previously, she chaired Kearney's Department of Foreign Languages and directed its programs in international education/international studies. She received the Ph.D. in 1979 from SUNY Binghamton.

Taggie has been Central Missouri's arts and sciences dean for the past three years and its interim

Noted Holocaust Scholar Wyman to Visit, Lecture Here Next Week

Dr. David Wyman, one of the foremost Holocaust scholars in the United States, will be on campus for two days next week as the college joins in a nationwide memorial observance of the Holocaust.

Wyman will discuss "Lessons of the Holocaust" at 8:15 p.m. on May 4 in the Hartman Theatre. He will also participate in a brief ceremony at noon on May 5 in the Feinberg Library, during which two objects brought to campus from the Auschwitz concentration camp by Dr. Steven Steinlight will be placed on permanent display. Both events are free and open to the campus and community.

Wyman, professor of history and the Josiah DuBois Holocaust Remembrance Professor of History at the University of Massachusetts, is the author of The Abandonment of the Jews: America and the Holocaust, 1941-1945. The book, according to its author, examines the response of the American people and their government to the Nazi extermination of the Jews during World War II. It was on the New York Times Best-Seller List for five weeks and won numerous prizes and awards, including the National Jewish Book Award and the Anisfield-Wolf Award.

Wyman, the grandson of two Protestant ministers, is a special advisor to the United States Holocaust Memorial Council and a member of the Academic Advisory Board of the Simon Wiesenthal Center.

he served as acting associate vice president for academic affairs. He spent the 1985-86 academic year lecturing and doing research at the University of Hannover in West Germany under a Fulbright Grant. For the past year, Skopp has been researching the history of SUNY Plattsburgh and his book, Bright With Promise, a pictorial history of the college's first 100 years, will be published in June. Skopp is a recipient of several SUNY research grants and has written extensively on the German educational system. He holds the bachelor's degree from Dartmouth College, the master's degree from Connecticut College and the doctorate from Brown University.

Bentley has served as associate librarian and head of technical services at the Feinberg Library since 1977. She has taught Library Skills virtually every semester except during a leave and has been responsible for numerous exhibits in the library. Bentley has been very active with the Women's Studies program, having been co-chair of both the Women's Studies Advisory Committee and the curriculum committee. She chairs the campus Personal Safety Committee, is a member of the Centennial Committee and the Faculty Senate Committee on Resources and Planning, and serves as secretary/treasurer of the local UUP Chapter. She is also a member of the Board of Directors of the North Country Reference, Research and Resources Council. Bentley was inducted into the campus chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa in 1985. Bentley holds the bachelor's degree from Centre College and the M.S.L.S. from the University of Kentucky.

Pasti has served as director of the Special Services Project since 1980 and as director of the Tutoring Center since 1987. She has taught a Freshman Seminar course since 1980, serves as co-coordinator of the Students at Risk program, is a freshman mentor and a Phoenix advisor, and co-edits "Writing on Campus." She serves as one of two SUNY Plattsburgh representatives to the SUNY Council on Writing and is a member of numerous campus committees. Pasti was honored recently by the Association for Equality and Excellence in Education, winning the 1989 Award of Excellence from both the New York State regional chapter and the national organization. Pasti is the first person to win both awards. She holds the bachelor's degree from the University of Illinois and the master's degree from East Carolina University.

associate provost for academic affairs since October of 1988. From 1980 to 1986 he was affiliated with central Michigan University, where he directed several programs, including Danforth and NEH grants, summer humanities institutes, university honors programs and its international education programs. He received the Ph.D. in 1973 from Michigan State University.

Wartell has been provost and vice president at Humboldt State since 1984. He previously served for five years as dean of the College of Letters and professor of chemistry at James Madison University and a year as dean of the School of Natural Sciences and Mathematics at Slippery Rock State College. Wartell holds the Ph.D. in physical chemistry from Yale University.

Search Committee Chairperson Dr. Prem Gandhi said that the committee will be reconvened upon conclusion of the five interviews — tentatively on Tuesday, May 16 — to evaluate the candidates and make its recommendations to President Warren. "The committee has expended a tremendous amount of effort in this process," commented Gandhi, "and this is reflected, I believe, in the quality of the finalists we will interview. We urge everyone to meet the candidates and participate actively in screening them. Evaluation forms will be handed out at each interview site."

Business Campaign Kickoff Set; Murnane, O'Connor to Lead It

The Plattsburgh College Foundation finalized plans for its 1989 business campaign at an organizational breakfast meeting held yesterday in the Angell Center Centennial Room.

"Most of the nearly 45 campaign workers attended the session to learn about goals, campaign mechanics and to select prospective donors they will contact," said Don Garrant, assistant to the president and executive director of the Foundation. "The meeting was preliminary to our official campaign kickoff on May 2."

Committee Formed to Search for Director of EDTAC

A committee has been formed to search for candidates to fill the position of director of the college's Economic Development and Technical Assistance Center (EDTAC).

Controller John Homburger, who will become the college's senior business officer on June 1, will chair the committee. Serving with him will be Dr. Nancy Church, assistant professor in the Center for Business and Economics; Dr. Malcolm Fairweather, director of the Center for Earth and Environmental Science; Donald Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development; Patrick Lennahan, director of the Career/Life Planning Center; and Susan Spissinger, director of sponsored research and programs.

William Owens, a partner in the law firm of Fitzpatrick, Trombley, Owens and Lahtinen, PC, in Plattsburgh, will serve the committee in an ex officio capacity.

The position of director of EDTAC has been vacant since last November when Steven Hyde resigned to become director of corporate and foundation development at Bowdoin College. The committee has set a June 1 deadline for receipt of credentials from candidates with hopes of an appointment date occurring between June 15 and July 1.

The business drive, explained Garrant, is a key component of the Foundation's overall annual giving campaign. Last year it generated more than $88,000 in gifts and provided nearly one-fourth of the total private scholarship aid the college was able to allocate to students during the current academic year.

The 1989 effort will be co-chaired by local businessmen Patrick Murnane and Michael O'Connor. Murnane, president of Murnane Associates, served as a campaign captain last year. O'Connor, a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh class of 1975, is an investment executive with Paine Webber, a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors and a co-chair of the past two business campaigns.

O'Connor, who presided at yesterday's meeting, challenged his fellow Foundation volunteers to raise $100,000 in business gifts by the end of the year. He urged them to identify new business prospects for gifts of $500 or more, and he said a campaign objective will be to get more than 60 past contributors to upgrade the amount of their 1988 gifts.

In remarks at the breakfast, President Charles O. Warren thanked the volunteers for their "energetic commitment to the business campaign" as well as for their personal financial support. "It is primarily through your efforts that the drive succeeds year after year," he said. "It is a model campaign. The generosity of the North Country business community is known widely throughout the State University of New York."

Besides Murnane and O'Connor, the business campaign relies upon the leadership of "captains" of solicitation teams. This year's captains are Emmy Bodrogi, Anne Brandell, Don Kasprzak, Terry Meron, Darcy Mousseau, James Wyand, George Bouyea, Tom Cronin, Deena McCullough, Michael Murray, Roger Nolette.

Phi Alpha Theta Inducts 20

Seventeen students and three faculty members have been inducted into the SUNY Plattsburgh chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the national honor society in history. Membership in the honor society is based upon academic excellence in the field.

Ninth Annual Recognition Program to Honor 100-plus Students

SUNY Plattsburgh's Ninth Annual Student Recognition Awards Program will be held tomorrow (April 27) at 4 p.m. in the Angell College Center Ballroom.

The program, hosted by the SUNY Plattsburgh Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK), the national leadership honor society, will honor students who have contributed in myriad ways to the campus community and the community at-large during academic 1988-89 through volunteer and extracurricular activities. More than 100 students will be recognized individually and certificates will be presented to several campus organizations.

Special achievement awards will be given in eight categories, including six that are yet to be announced. The latter include ODK's outstanding sophomore of

8th 'Fabulous Feinberg Book Sale' to Take Place Saturday

The SUNY Plattsburgh Feinberg Library will hold its "Eighth Fabulous Feinberg Book Sale" on Saturday (April 29) from 12 noon to 5 p.m. As in previous years, the site of the sale will be the corridor between Late Night Study and the Library's Special Collections.

Bargain hunters will find an assortment of books, magazines and records at low, low prices. This year's bookstock features a wide variety of subjects including English literature and fiction, political science, history, science, education, religion and business, plus an extensive collection of popular magazines including Adirondack, Adirondack Life, National Geographic, The New Yorker, Connoisseur, Arizona Highways, Smithsonian, and a number of science, photography and personal computing magazines. The sale also features a larger than usual selection of recordings, including popular, jazz and classical music. Additionally, there will be a special section of fine bindings and rare books on a variety of subjects including literature and local and U.S. history.

All sale items have been received as gifts from various donors. All gifts are evaluated for possible addition to the Feinberg's collections. Those which either duplicate the library's current holdings or are inappropriate to the scope of its collections are added to the stock for the annual sale. Proceeds from the sale are deposited in the Library's Book Fund and are used to purchase exceptional, new library materials that the Feinberg would be unable to afford otherwise.

For more information about the sale or donations to the Library, contact Leah Monger, Gifts and Development Librarian, at 564-5199.

the year, the recipient of the Toni Bloom Memorial Scholarship, the Student Association (SA) Scholarship winners, the SA's outstanding service award recipient, the Burghy Games champion, and the Cardinal Booster Club's male and female athletes of the year.

Michael Bamdad, ODK president, will welcome the award recipients and their friends, guests and faculty mentors, and William Laundry, director of campus life, will preside at the recognition program. Greetings will be extended by Michael Santora, SA president, Mrs. Judith Duken '59, a member of the SUNY Board of Trustees, and Dr. Eldridge W. Roark Jr., vice president for student affairs and national vice president of ODK. Remarks from college President Charles O. Warren will conclude the ceremony.

This year's recognition awards program is dedicated to the memory of two SUNY Plattsburgh students who died during the current academic year — Phillip Gazzillo, a senior from Glens Falls, and Jodi Higginbotham, a sophomore from Saranac Lake.

SEFA Honors Clara LaRose

Clara LaRose has been selected by the Statewide State Employees Federated Appeal (SEFA) Awards Committee to receive an award for being one of the best SEFA volunteers in the state for the 1988 campaign. Under her leadership, SUNY Plattsburgh employees donated $27,508.80 to the annual fund drive, the highest amount ever raised on campus.

The awards committee wrote to LaRose, "You have provided a tremendous service to your community, to your voluntary agencies and most importantly to those less fortunate. Your exemplary efforts and dedication made a significant impact on the 1988 SEFA campaign."

LaRose was nominated by Michael Mannix, executive director of Clinton County United Way. She will receive the award during a ceremony to be held in Albany on May 4.

This was LaRose's first year as chair of the campus SEFA drive. She earlier chaired the campus United Way drive. Additionally, she co-chairs the Plattsburgh College Foundation's Faculty-Staff Drive. LaRose is a senior account clerk in the telecommunications office and has been the treasurer /manager of the SUNY Plattsburgh Credit Union since its creation in 1971. She was recently honored for 28 years of service to SUNY Plattsburgh.

Senior Show, Juried Exhibition to Run May 1 to Commencement

Works by student artists will be featured in two exhibitions which will open on May 1 and continue through May 13. The Senior Show, presenting the work of eight graduating students, will be on exhibit in the Myers Fine Arts Gallery, and the Juried Undergraduate Art Exhibition will be presented in the Myers Fine Arts Lobby Gallery.

The Senior Show will include prints, graphic designs, drawings, oil paintings and sculpture by seniors David Colosi, Tina Ducharme, Amy Durocher, Barbara Gebo, Kelly Jordan, Mike Puccio, Wayne P. Trombley and Carol Vossler. Gallery Director Edward Brohel said, "The variety in the exhibit reflects the broad scope of the art program offered at SUNY Plattsburgh."

He continued, "The Juried Undergraduate Art Exhibition will give a full idea of the current state of learning and teaching in the Art Program's Studios. The work will be juried by senior students in the gallery exhibition class, a professor of art history, and myself. All levels of development and variation of interest will be present. This will be a celebration of emerging artistic talent."

The exhibits will open with a reception in honor of the student artists, which will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. on May 1 in the two gallery areas. The campus and community are invited to attend.

Jazz Ensemble to Offer Concert

The SUNY Plattsburgh Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Marshall Onofrio, will present its final on-campus concert of the school year at 8 p.m. on Friday, April 28. Three graduating seniors, Joe Harding, Amy Kepler, and Steven Giller, will be featured soloists, and Lora Jean Schwartau, a member of the theatre faculty, will be a guest vocalist. The concert is free and open to all.

Onofrio said this has been a very active year for the jazz ensemble, which took part in five on-campus concerts and also played off-campus on various occasions. The morning after the concert, the group will leave for SUNY Morrisville to compete in the Intercollegiate Jazz Festival.

Greeks Bearing Gifts

With gifts of $100 each, Alpha Kappa Phi and Phi Kappa Chi sororities have become the first two campus Greek organizations to contribute to the college's special, 100th anniversary Centennial Endowment Fund established by the Plattsburgh College Foundation. Sorority Presidents Lisa Wright (L) of Alpha Kappa Phi and Connie Towne of Phi Kappa Chi are shown with Ed Engelbride, assistant director of campus life — special programs, who has appealed to all fraternities and sororities to follow suit in a unified gesture of support for SUNY Plattsburgh in its Centennial year.

President's Office, UUP & CSEA to Honor 1988-89 Retirees

The Office of the President and the campus chapters of United University Professions and the Civil Service Employees Association will co-sponsor a reception for faculty and staff whose retirements became effective during the current academic year or who will retire in the near future.

The event will take place next Thursday (May 4) at 4 p.m. in Ballroom B of the Angell College Center, and all faculty, professionals and classified staff are encouraged to attend.

Eleven employees who have joined or are about to join the college's retirement ranks have been invited to be honored by their colleagues. Collectively, they have given 228 years of service to the college.

Faculty and staff on the retirement list, their titles and terms of service are: Dr. William Hartnett, pro-

'Women in Criminal Justice' Forum Scheduled for Friday

"Women in Criminal Justice," a forum on problems and opportunities for women who work in corrections and policing, will be held Friday (April 28) from 1 to 4 p.m. in the College's Angell College Center Cardinal Lounge.

According to Dr. Robert Weiss, associate professor of sociology at the college, the forum will explore career experiences of women in criminal justice. While it will focus on women working in male prisons, particularly the controversial issue of women and police power, participants will learn more about the employment of women in various fields traditionally dominated by men.

The proceedings will begin at 1 p.m. with a keynote address by Dr. Lynn E. Zimmer, assistant professor of sociology at SUNY Geneseo and author of the book, "Women Guarding Men." Zimmer will speak about her interviews with guards, inmates and administrators in prisons in New York State and Rhode Island that reveal obstacles women encounter and how they adapt to them.

Following a question-answer session, Zimmer will join seven panelists who will discuss the problems women encounter in performing "men's jobs," how they respond to those problems and what should be done to resolve them. The panel will include women corrections officers, counselors and administrators from penal institutions located throughout the North Country and a woman trooper from the New York State Police.

The forum is being sponsored by the college's Department of Sociology and its Center for Lifelong Learning. More information about the program and about registration is available through the Center at 564-2050.

Those represented by CSEA include Gloria Bushey, senior stenographer in Canadian Studies, April 18, 1968 to March 30, 1989; Herman Durocher, maintenance supervisor I, October 1, 1947 to October 31, 1988; Cheryl Luther, stores clerk I, September 11, 1980 to September 22, 1988; Benjamin Mussen, grounds worker, August 22, 1966 to May 10, 1989; and Mary Walker, building service aide, February 17, 1966 to March 30, 1989.

Home Economics Society's Beta Epsilon Chapter Wins Award

SUNY Plattsburgh's Beta Epsilon Chapter of Phi Epsilon Omicron has won fourth place in the society's national competition for professional programs. Phi Epsilon Omicron is the national honor society for home economics.

According to Dr. Marty Frost, advisor to the honor society, the project, which was entitled "Bridging the International Communication Gap," was a cooperative venture between Phi U and several local agencies working with the refugees waiting to enter Canada. "After looking into the needs of these people," she said, "we found that one of the most pressing needs was simply finding something to do. A brainstorming session came up with the idea of a 'punch and cookies' party. However, we shortly learned that the Crisis Center wanted to sponsor a pot luck dinner, to be put on by the refugees themselves, and featuring their various native dishes. Our chapter decided to work on that project."

The honor society members helped organize the event, then solicited paper goods, fruit punch, and cookies from the Marriott Corporation and fruit drinks, cups and hats from McDonald's. Additionally, some of the members worked with the refugees to set up the hall, Frost arranged van transportation for some of the refugees, and chapter members served the food. The evening, said Frost, was a great success.

Members working on the project included co-vice presidents Lisa Lefton and Maria Talcott, and Melissa Bollman, Chantal Chabot, Patty Ernst, Karen Loheide, Elizabeth Michel, Nabila Michel, Dawn Reed, Caroline Scarpinato, Dawn Shea, Karen Taylor, Debbie Tiffin, and Judy Williams.

Warrens to Host Dinner Program, Testimonial Salute to Woltjens

President and Mrs. Charles O. Warren will host "An Evening With Bill and Pat Woltjen" campus and community dinner program to be held on Wednesday, May 17 in the Angell College Center Ballrooms.

The event, said the president, will provide opportunity for "the Woltjens' many colleagues and friends" to bid the couple farewell and best wishes in their pending permanent move to Murrels Inlet in South Carolina. Bill Woltjen, a member of the SUNY

Plattsburgh administration for the past 20 years and its chief fiscal officer since 1983, will retire from service to the college, effective June 1.

The program for the Woltjens will consist of a reception scheduled for 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 and concluding with a testimonial tribute. Tickets are $15 per person, and the cost includes a gift. They may be purchased in the Office of the President. Reservations are required by Friday, May 12 (2010).

Tree Planting Ceremonies Tomorrow Memorialize Gazzillo, Higginbotham

Two tree planting ceremonies will be held on Thursday, April 27 in honor of SUNY Plattsburgh students who died this year. At 12:30 p.m., the deFredenburg Hall Council and the Office of Student Affairs will plant a tree by deFredenburg Hall in memory of Jodi Higginbotham of Saranac Lake. Higginbotham entered the college in the fall of 1987 as a member of the class of 1991. After completing her freshman year, she took a medical leave of absence this year and died of leukemia earlier this semester. At 1 p.m., the Student Association will plant a tree near Wilson Hall in memory of Phillip Gazzillo, a senior from Glens Falls, who died during semester break as a result of an injury incurred during a hockey game. The campus community is invited to attend both tree planting ceremonies.

Cohen Receives Fulbright Lecture/Research Grant to Jerusalem

Dr. Mark Cohen, professor of anthropology, has been awarded a Fulbright Lecturing/Research grant for the 1989-90 academic year. Cohen will spend the year at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, continuing skeletal analysis on the remains of several hundred 16th century Mayans excavated over the past eight years in Tipu, Belize.

The grant was awarded through the United States-Israel Educational Foundation, which was established by joint agreement of the two countries to administer the Fulbright educational exchange program in Israel.

A member of the faculty at SUNY Plattsburgh since 1971, Cohen has conducted extensive research on civilization and its effect on health. He contends, "Our 'progress' toward civilization has, for most of our history, been of far more limited benefit — and benefit far more selectively applied — than we like to believe." His latest book, Health and the Rise of Civilization is being published by Yale University Press and is due out early this summer.

He is the author of The Food Crisis in Prehistory (1977) and co-editor of Paleopathology at the Origins of Agriculture (1984) and Biosocial Mechanisms of Population Regulation. Cohen spent the 1978-79 academic year as a Fellow at Stanford University's Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences. In 1985, he won a Guggenheim Fellowship and spent the academic year as a visiting scholar at Cambridge University. He is a recipient of the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching (1987) and the Phi Eta Sigma Distinguished Faculty Award (1985). Much of his research has been funded by the National Science Foundation.

Activist Martin '60 to Receive '89 Distinguished Alumna Award

Elizabeth S. Martin, a 1960 graduate who is a school nurse teacher and health educator in the Menands School District and who is active in the alcohol and substance abuse prevention movement in the Capital District region, will receive the 1989 Distinguished Alumna Award at spring commencement exercises on Saturday, May 13.

Martin, who received her degree from Plattsburgh in school nurse teacher education, will be honored by the college on the recommendation of the Board of Directors of its Alumni Association. The association sponsors the award to recognize graduates of SUNY Plattsburgh "... for their achievement, their humanitarian efforts and/or their contributions to the college."

According to Malcolm Lavery, the college's director of alumni affairs, this year's Distinguished Alumna is well known and highly respected in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy area for her community service work. "She is especially active in alcohol and substance abuse prevention," commented Lavery, "but she has been influential also in efforts designed to protect the rights of victims of crime."

Martin has accumulated extensive experience with the Albany County Stop DWI and Substance Abuse Offices. She served for four years as the New York State president of Remove Intoxicated Drivers (RID) and she is the current president of the Albany County chapter of RID.

Martin was instrumental in establishing a 24-hour DWI victim "hotline" in the Capital District, and she recently formed that region's "Coalition of Victims Advocacy Group," a lobbying organization committed to ensuring that victims of crimes receive consideration equal to that of offenders in the criminal justice system. She is active also as a volunteer for the

Transition of Campus Computer System to Digital VAX Underway

The long-planned transition of the campus computer system to the Digital Equipment Corporation (DEC) VAX system is underway, according to Dr. Raney Ellis, director of computing services, but, he added, it will take perhaps two years for the changeover to be completed.

The move to the DEC system, Ellis said, will be a very positive one for the campus. "We will be working with a company with a pervasive presence in higher education. DEC offers some of the best data communication capabilities of any computer system. We will have licenses for all DEC software, with either free or low-cost support for those packages, and we will have access to a very active user's group."

The change has been under consideration since 1982, when a 17-campus procurement committee began deliberations. Six campuses are beginning the transition process and Plattsburgh was selected to be among the first group. "The project is partially funded through the Comprehensive Computer Upgrade Program (CCUP)," Ellis said, "and Plattsburgh will start to receive funds this fiscal year. Supplemental funding in the amount of approximately $650,000 will be available to the campus over the next five years."

Ellis said that a MicroVAX II and a MicroVAX 2000 have already been installed in the computer offices in the Kehoe Building. The first noticeable change will be in the campus electronic mail system. In the near future, e-mail will be processed on the new equipment. The more than 100 faculty and staff members currently using the system will find it necessary to learn some new procedures, but Ellis said that workshops will be conducted on the campus.

"All administrative and academic systems will eventually be moved to the VAX environment," Ellis said. The first major piece of equipment will be installed this summer, but extensive testing of the new system will be conducted before the old system is shut down. All users will be informed well in advance of changes in the system and assistance will be provided in helping make the change.

Pope and Matthews Honored as Toni C. Bloom Scholars

Juniors Colleen Pope of Plattsburgh and Stephen Matthews of Fonda have been selected to receive $1,000 scholarships from the Toni C. Bloom Memorial Endowment Fund.

The scholarships are named for a senior English major who was killed in a traffic accident in January of 1987. They are awarded to upper division students who are majoring in humanities disciplines and who, like the scholarship's namesake, demonstrate a high degree of involvement in campus and community activities.

Pope, a communication/French major, is a French tutor and French workshop leader, secretary of the Adirondack Experience Club, a residence hall council representative, a mass media tutor, writer for Cardinal Points and news anchor for PSTV, channel 10, a summer orientation leader, and a resident assistant. Also, she is a member of Club Canada and Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society, and she has been involved in fund-raising efforts to support the American Cancer Society.

Matthews, a mass communication major, has been an Open House tour guide, a member of the Cardinal Singers and College Chorale and vice president of the campus Music Council, and a member of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the national broadcasting honor society. Additionally, he has served as an "on-air talent" and play-by-play commentator for many PSTV productions, and he was inducted recently to ODK.

College Marketing Association Wins National Project Award

The SUNY Plattsburgh Marketing Association received a national award at the recent 11th annual American Marketing Association International Collegiate Conference held recently in New Orleans.

The award, for "Outstanding Special Project," recognized the college chapter's presentation of a "Five-Part Series of Programs on Etiquette for the Business World." Students Kristen Hali, Kristie Joswiak and Susan Munzer, all seniors, attended the conference, accompanied by their advisor, Dr. Nancy J. Church, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics.

Joswiak and Munzer gave a presentation at the conference on the topic, "Getting the Most Out of Your Faculty Advisor."

American Red Cross and the American Heart Association, and she serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Troy chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

Besides her current post at Menands, which she has held since 1982, Martin has been an instructor of nursing at Mercy Hospital in Buffalo, an instructor of nursing for BOCES in Albany County, director of staff development at Daughters of Sara Nursing Home in Albany, and school nurse teacher at East Greenbush Central School. She received the M.S. degree in health education from Russell Sage College.

Hoffman, Schaller, Van Schaick Named 'Outstanding Sophomores'

For the second consecutive year, three students have been selected to receive Omicron Delta Kappa's "Outstanding Sophomore Leader Award," conferred by the campus Circle of the national leadership honor society. The recipients are Deborah Hoffman, Juli Schaller and Mark Van Schaick.

Although sophomores are not eligible for membership in ODK, the awards are presented on the same basis as it is granted — for academic achievement, leadership and service to the college and community. They were presented last Thursday at the society-sponsored ninth annual Student Recognition Awards Program.

Hoffman of Lockport, is a psychology major and research and teaching assistant in that discipline, and a member of both Psi Chi and Phi Eta Sigma honor societies. She has served as a community Crisis Center volunteer, a member of the Student Association College Community Relations Board, as Burghy Club secretary and treasurer of the Cheerleader Club, as a member of the College Auxiliary Services Board of Directors and Executive Committee, as a resident assistant and a student mentor in the Freshman Experience Program, and as SA vice president for student affairs.

Schaller's credentials are identical to Hoffman's in several respects. She also is a psychology major, a teaching and research assistant in that department, a

Centennial Videotape, Calendar Projects Come to Conclulsion

Two projects designed to help celebrate the college's one hundredth birthday have been completed.

A 12-month calendar commemorating events during the first 100 years is now on sale in the College Store for $4.99 ($5.99 by mail). The calendar runs from June 1, 1989 through May 30, 1990. Large format color photographs of the college, its students, and activities are inset with historical black-and-white photographs from earlier times. Several of the historic photographs were printed from glass plate negatives exposed in the early 1900's by the late George Hudson, a well-known faculty member and outstanding photographer of his day.

A centennial videotape, entitled "A Proud Past — A Strong Future," will be introduced on June 15 as part of Founder's Day. Produced by Dores Candussi, assistant professor of communication, the video surveys the growth and development of the college, using old photographs, slides, memorabilia and earlier videotapes from the files of faculty, staff, alumni, and the Special Collection. The tape will be on sale in the College Store on June 15 for $12.95. Additionally, the Feinberg Library will have several copies on loan.

member of Psi Chi and Phi Eta Sigma, a resident assistant and a Freshman Experience student mentor. Additionally, Schaller, of Delmar, has been a residence hall council president, a member of the Intercollegiate Athletic Board and its Executive Committee, a member of the SA Board of Evaluations and the Student Assistant Committee, and vice chair of the Academic Affairs Board.

Van Schaick is a political science major from Cape Vincent who serves also as a teaching assistant in astronomy laboratories. He is a student senator, an ex-officio member of the Academic Affairs Board, a member of the SA's Scholarship Committee and vice chair of both its Board of Evaluations and its Book Committee.

'Gay Nineties' Chosen as Theme for Centennial Ball on June 17

On Saturday, June 17, the college and community will join together to celebrate the college's birthday with a Centennial Ball.

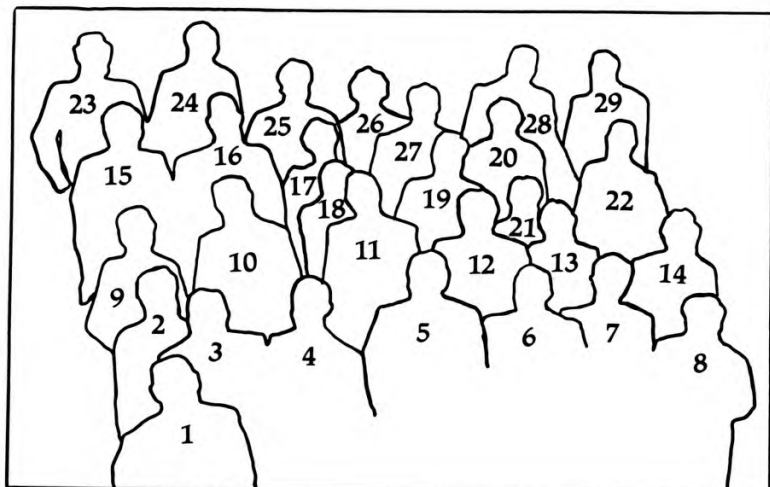

The Angell Center Ballroom will be transformed into a summer garden and the evening's theme, according to Helen Ianelli, publicity chairman for the event, is the "Gay Nineties." While it is not billed as a costume ball, Ianelli said that attendees are encouraged to wear period dress — from any period in the last 100 years.

Music will be provided from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. by the Lamplighters. Tickets are $12.50 per person and will include dancing, prizes, and hors d'oeuvres. Tickets will be available at the Angell College Center Desk, Merkel's, the Plaza Bookhouse, Booth's Gifts, and Clark's Flower Shop.

Twenty-nine members of the campus community who have logged at least 25 years of continuous service to SUNY Plattsburgh attended the recent "Silver Anniversary-Plus" luncheon in their honor hosted by President Charles O. Warren. The luncheon saluted: 1. Dr. Edward E. "Doc" Redcay; 2. Helen Rock; 3. Dr. Charles Mitchell; 4. Lendall Haskell; 5. Dr. Richard Sudds; 6. Dr. Harold Kline; 7. Dr. George Sheats; 8. Jean Barcomb; 9. Charlene Lombard; 10. Dr. Ernest Coons; 11. Dr. Noel Smith; 12. Lawrence Arcarese; 13. Dean Nicholas Troisi; 14. Barbara Caska; 15. Don Garran; 16. Gerald Dominy; 17. Jean Williams; 18. Dr. Anna Messer; 19. Clara LaRose; 20. Harriet Reardon; 21. Carolyn Turner; 22. Dean Hounq Liu; 23. J. Derek Allan; 24. Dr. Howard Miller; 25. Carol Burnam; 26. Aurora Nichols; 27. Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse; 28. Dr. Charles Blood; and 29. Dr. Francis Bethlen.

Athletes of the Year

(L-R) Cardinal Booster Club representatives Dennis McCarthy '67 and Donna Turner '71 presented the organization's Athlete of the Year Awards to seniors Kathy Kane and Craig Barnett during last Thursday's Omicron Delta Kappa Student Recognition Awards program in the Angell Center Ballroom. Kane is a two-time All-America, in cross country and in track. She is this year's SUNY Scholar-Athlete of the Year, a member of the conference's Cross Country Hall of Fame, and she will leave the college this month as the holder of school records in eight separate indoor and outdoor track events. Hockey goalie Barnett completed his career as a Cardinal as the all-time record holder for wins (68 against 19 losses and one tie), saves (2,548) and minutes played (5,144.59), and he backstopped the 1986-87 NCAA Division III national championship team that won an ECAC record-setting 28 consecutive games.

Jarvis Is Phi Eta Sigma's Pick for Distinguished Faculty Award

Dr. Patricia Ann Jarvis, assistant professor of psychology, was honored in absentia Saturday as the recipient of the campus chapter of Phi Eta Sigma's 1989 Distinguished Faculty Award. Phi Eta Sigma is the national academic honorary society for freshmen.

The award is presented annually to recognize the person who, in the past year, "has contributed the most to the academic success of freshmen, who was the most effective teacher of freshmen and who showed the greatest concern for the academic welfare of freshmen." The announcement of Jarvis as recipient was a highlight of Saturday's annual spring Academic Convocation.

"I am deeply touched by the award," commented Jarvis, "and I regret that I could not be present to accept it in person." She explained that she had accepted an invitation to be in Kansas City, Mo. on convocation day at SUNY Plattsburgh to deliver a paper entitled "What's Wrong With Grandma? — The Effects of Alzheimer's Disease Upon Grandchild/Parent/Grandparent Relationships" at the biennial international conference of the Society for Research and Child Development.

"Reinforcement that you are being effective doesn't happen often in academia," continued Jarvis, "so it means so much when people go out of their way to say thank-you. I'm pleased that our department chairperson (Professor Henry Morlock) was on hand to accept the award for me."

Jarvis, whose specialization in psychology is adolescent development, has been a member of the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty since 1986. She serves also as a consultant to the Department of Mental Health and Retardation in Chesterfield County in Virginia. Her publications focus on subjects ranging from the effects of prematurity and illness on mother-infant interactions and the social sensitivity of adolescents and adults with learning disabilities to the social skills of adults with auditory/visual processing deficits.

Jarvis earned both the bachelor's and master's degrees in psychology from Old Dominion University and the Ph.D. from Virginia Commonwealth University.

Course Withdrawal Policy Ok'd But President Sets Conditions

President Charles O. Warren has approved a Faculty Senate resolution regarding the college's course withdrawal policy, but with conditions attached to it.

The Senate resolution, passed at its March 21 meeting, provides "That the grades 'W' (withdrawal while passing) and 'W/E' (withdrawal while failing) to be used in place of the current grade of 'W' (withdrawal). It also provides for consultation between course instructor and student, requires an after-deadline "dean's approval or disapproval and the instructor and chair's recommendation on the cause for withdrawal," and stipulates that students "put down a reason for withdrawal on the form."

In approving the resolution, President Warren did so on the condition that the policy become effective at the beginning of the 1990 spring semester and, secondly, that, after it has been in effect for three full semesters, a small group of representatives from the administration and the Senate's Executive Committee be established to evaluate it.

Friends Drive Kickoff Nears

The Plattsburgh College Foundation's 1989 Friends Campaign will begin May 17 with a goal to achieve gifts totaling $60,000 before it ends officially on December 31. A "friend" is defined as any person showing an interest in SUNY Plattsburgh but not having a formal tie with it (such as an alumnus or member of the faculty or staff).

Co-chairpersons for the drive are Jacqueline Walker and William Owens, both of whom are veterans of past Friends Campaigns. Joining them as leadership volunteers are David Bellm, Arlene Buran, John Colver, Ann Copeland, Nita Huston, Cynthia Lacki, Marilyn Lorberbaum and Mark Rogers.

ODK in PA

Ten members of SUNY Plattsburgh's Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK), the national leadership honorary society, represented the college at the recent ODK Province I conference held at the Pennsylvania State University, State College, PA. The conference included a series of leadership skill-building workshops. Participating from Plattsburgh, which sent the largest delegation to the meetings, were (L-R): Cheryl Hogle, associate director of campus life and, as Province I faculty director, chairperson for the conference, Carolyn Cross, Shawn Daley, Cheryl Straut, Rich Davino, Michael Robbins, Dina Casey, Christopher Sperl, Anne Kohler, and Mark Migliaccio.

Women's Track Team 4th at SUNYACs; Kane Top Cardinal Runner

The women's track team finished fourth at the SUNYAC Championships this past Saturday at Cortland as Kathy Kane recorded second place finishes in the 1500 meter and 800 meter runs. Kane recorded a time of 4:36.35 in 1500, while she ran the 800 in 2:18.0 minutes.

Sue Alfieri also enjoyed a good day, finishing second in the 200 meters (26.5 seconds) and third in the 100 meters (13.5 seconds).

Rhonda Ruhmel led Plattsburgh in the field events, recording a fourth in the javelin with a throw of 19.32 meters, and a jump of 10.40 meters in the triple jump, good enough for third place. She also finished sixth in the 200 meter run with a time of 29.3 seconds. Desiree Peart had third in the shotput with a throw of 10.20 meters.

Plattsburgh's 400 and 1600 meter relay teams had fifth and fourth place finishes, respectively. The 400 meter team of Alfieri, Jennifer Loomis, Michelle Lesson, and Ruhmel finished in 53.05 seconds, while the 1600 meter team of Kane, Loomis, Mary Hurteau, and Alfieri had a time of 4:24.7 minutes.

Plattsburgh also got fifth place finishes from Suzanne Kennedy (1500 meter), Hurteau (800 meter), and Julie Dobert (3000 meter). Chris Harris came in sixth place in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 19.09 seconds.

1000-plus to Graduate Saturday During Award-filled Ceremony

Nearly 1,050 students will receive degrees during annual spring commencement exercises scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday at the SUNY Plattsburgh Field House.

More than 940 will join the ranks of alumni with diplomas signifying they have earned bachelor's degrees. That number includes 127 who will graduate with honors. Another 104 students will receive master's degrees and 11 will receive certificates of advanced study.

The ceremony will be highlighted by presentation of several awards. Elizabeth S. Martin '60, a school nurse-teacher in the Menands School District who is active in the alcohol and substance abuse movement in the Capital District, will receive the 1989 Distinguished Alumna Award. The SUNY Distinguished Teaching Professor Award will be presented to Dr. Stuart J. Baum, professor of chemistry; SUNY Chancellor's Awards will be presented to Dr. Peter H. Gore, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, and Douglas R. Skopp, professor of history, for excellence in teaching; to Elizabeth H. Pasti, director of the college's Special Services Project, for excellence in professional service; and to Patricia Bentley, associate librarian, for excellence in librarianship.

The college's highest award — the Distinguished Service Award — will be presented to Plattsburgh College Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman and Vermont Governor Madeleine Kunin (see related story). Governor Kunin will deliver the commencement address.

Dr. Ingrun Lafleur, associate vice president for academic affairs, will present the candidates for degrees. President Charles O. Warren will confer them and diplomas will be awarded by Robert M. Garrow and Wayne H. Byrne, chairperson and vice chairperson, respectively, of the College Council.

A reception for the graduates, their parents, relatives, friends and faculty and staff will immediately follow the commencement program. The event, sponsored by the college's Alumni Association, Student Association and the Office of the President, will be held on the lawn area adjacent to the main entrance to the Field House, or, in the event of foul weather, in the building's ice arena.

North Country banking executive and Plattsburgh College Foundation President Curtis E. Shipman and Vermont Governor Madeleine Kunin will receive the

Shipman

Kunin

Distinguished Service Award (DSA) during SUNY Plattsburgh's 99th commencement exercises on Saturday (May 13).

The DSA, the highest award the college is permitted to bestow, is presented by the College Council and the president of the college to honor persons "who have made lasting contributions to the college, community state, nation and/or the international human community." Past recipients have included Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Daniel Patrick Moynihan, Democratic vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro, and former SUNY Chancellors Ernest L. Boyer and Clifton R. Wharton. State Senator Ronald B. Stafford, SUNY Trustee Judith L. Duken '59, and the late James A. Fitzpatrick, E. Glenn Giltz and Fred P. Merrihew are among past DSA recipients from the local community.

Shipman, president, chief executive officer and chairman of the board of Keeseville National Bank, has been affiliated with the College Foundation for many years and its president for the past three. He will be cited as a person who, "by action and example, (has) guided the development of the Foundation to its status as a leading asset of the institution," and as one whose "... contributions to the college will endure for all time."

Before assuming the Foundation's presidency, Shipman served as vice president for five years, in-

127 to Graduate with Honors; Increase Substantial vs. '88

Almost 14 percent of the undergraduates in the Class of 1989 will graduate with honors Saturday.

A check of the list of degree candidates compiled by the Office of the Registrar shows that 127 of the 943 eligible to participate in the ceremony made the "Graduating with Honors" register. Eighty-five made the honor roll in last year's graduating class.

Eleven students will graduate Summa Cum Laude (with highest honors — 3.9 - 4.0 gpa); 26 will graduate Magna Cum Laude (with high honors — 3.7 - 3.89 gpa); and 90 will graduate Cum Laude (with honors — 3.4 - 3.69 gpa).

This year's Summa Cum Laude graduates, their majors and hometowns are: Kevin Michael Days, history, Brooklyn; Timothy J. Duerden, history, Treadwell; Roberta E. Grindle, elementary education, Plattsburgh; Daniel L. Lapan, environmental science, Fort Ann; Karen C. Lewton, business (management), Greenfield Center; Susan Ruth Lofthouse, history, Treadwell; Dominic P. Marro, food and nutrition, Troy; Paul Morphy, hearing and speech science, Lubbock, TX; Pamela Jean Pooler, special education, Newcomb; Sara Lynn Rombough, nursing, Massena; and Sara Helen Clark Smithson, elementary and early secondary education English, Keeseville.

The Magna Cum Laude graduates are: Melissa L. Attenhofer, Carrie D. Brand, Gary F. Castine, Judiann Chartier, Deborah Anne Clukey, Ronald J. Dickens, Fergus Patrick Duniho, Diana Fitzsimmons, Mary F. Gertsch-Cochran, Aaron Frank Glascock, Mary Kathryn Hart, Mary Christine Hilliard, Kathleen Elizabeth Kane, Arthur Edward LaMarche, John M. McCarty, Karen C. McCloud, Kathleen A. Mulloy, Helen Witter Robertson, Nancy J. Rogers, Melinda D. Rose, Deborah L. Sener, Bruce C. VanSchaick, Mary Christine VonBargen, Jill S.

cluding four as chairperson of its annual giving program. Under his leadership, annual giving increased by 132 percent and Foundation scholarship assistance to students grew by 171 percent.

Shipman has been with the Keeseville National Bank since 1981. Previously, he served Marine Midland Bank for 14 years, rising through the ranks to become regional vice president, and before that he was with the CIT Credit Corporation. He is a past president of both the Plattsburgh and Clinton County Chamber of Commerce and the Clinton County Area Development Corporation, and a member of the board of directors of the Champlain Valley Physicians Hospital Medical Center.

Governor Kunin, Vermont's first woman governor and the first woman in U.S. history to be elected to that post three times, will deliver the principal address at commencement. She will be recognized for those and other professional achievements, for having enhanced her state's "reputation as a leader among states in protecting the environment, especially our common resource, the waters of Lake Champlain," and for her accomplishments legislatively in the areas of fiscal responsibility, educational reform and child care.

Besides her tenure as governor, Kunin is a former lieutenant governor, member of the Vermont House of Representatives and college teacher. She has been a fellow at Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government, and she has taught at Middlebury College and St. Michael's College. As one of the highest ranking female office holders in America, she has become a leading national spokesperson on the issue of women in politics.

Grant to Stoller Funds Study of Illness Behavior Among Elderly

Dr. Eleanor Palo Stoller, professor of sociology, has been awarded a three-year grant from the National Institute on Aging, a division of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, to in-

Funding for the first year has been set at $243,808, with the three-year total estimated to approach $660,000.

Under the grant, Stoller will investigate the ways in which older people interpret and respond to various symptoms. A major focus of the research will be strategies used by the elderly in managing symptoms before they talk to a health professional.

"Most of the research in this field has focused on physician consultation, although only about 10 percent of the symptoms people experience are ever brought to the attention of physicians," Stoller explained. "Studies of physician utilization report that assessed need is the most important factor precipitating consultation, but little is known about how older people decide they need medical advice."

The current project is a continuation of Stoller's extensive research on strategies used by nonmetropolitan elderly in coping with the effects of declining health. Beginning this fall, research staff will interview 800 older people about their experiences with illness and the ways in which they manage symptoms.

Stoller will be joined by several other researchers. Dr. Richard Frost, college physician, and Dr. Rachel Pollow, associate professor of nursing, will direct the clinical portion of the project. Lorna Earl Forster will serve as a research associate and Susan Portugal, adjunct instructor of business and economics, will serve as statistical consultant.

Stoller, who earned her Ph.D. in sociology from Washington University in St. Louis, MO, joined the SUNY Plattsburgh faculty in 1973. Her earlier research was supported by the National Institute on Aging and the U.S. Administration on Aging. Frost earned his M.D. degree from Duke University and accepted his post at the college after 15 years in private practice. Pollow joined the nursing faculty in 1977 and holds a Ph.D. in nursing from the University of Texas at Austin. Forster holds her bachelor's and master's degrees from SUNY Plattsburgh and is completing work for a Ph.D. in sociology from George Washington University. Portugal is completing work on her Ph.D. in statistics from the University of Michigan.

Town Meeting Postponed Until Early in the Fall Semester

The all-college Town Meeting program scheduled originally for May 18 and 19 has been postponed until the beginning of the fall semester.

According to Dr. Ingrun Lafleur, associate vice president for academic affairs, the hectic pace of the latter part of the current term — particularly the flurry of activity surrounding Showcase '89 and the recent honors convocation — and the college-wide effort being expended to carry out the institution's centennial celebration in mid-June, prompted the decision for postponement. Also, she said, work on several other projects, including general education, the freshman mentor program, transfer network and the Five-Year Plan, made it "appropriate to take a break" at this stage of the year.

Lafleur expects that a new date for the Town Meeting style of teaching-learning symposium will be firm by early June.

Ticket Deadline for Event Honoring Woltjens is Friday

This Friday (May 12) is the deadline to reserve tickets for the "Evening With Bill and Pat Woltjen" campus and community dinner program to be held next Wednesday (May 17) in the Angell College Center.

The event, hosted by President and Mrs. Charles O. Warren, will consist of a reception at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 and a testimonial salute to the Woltjens. Tickets are $15 per person (the cost includes a gift), and they may be purchased in the Office of the President through Friday afternoon.

Bill Woltjen, the college's chief fiscal officer, will retire June 1 after 20 years of service to SUNY Plattsburgh. He and Mrs. Woltjen are planning to move soon to a new permanent residence in Murrels Inlet in South Carolina.

Domenico Re-elected Senate Chair; General Ed Changes Pending

The 1989-90 Faculty Senate assembled last week to elect officers. Ray Domenico was re-elected chair; Thomas Wolosz was elected vice-chair; and Jocile Irwin-Devins was elected secretary. Craig Sample and George Flynn were elected to serve as members-at-large of the executive committee.

Elected to chair the Senate's various standing committees were: Resources and Planning — Prem Gandhi; Academic Policies — Edward Miller; Curricula and Programs — Padmini Gulati; Faculty Affairs — George Flynn; College Services — Alice Champagne; and General Education — Michael Miranda.

Following the meeting of the new Senate, this year's Senate convened for its final meeting. Dr. Taher Zandi, who chaired the General Education Committee, reported that the new program, which was circulated to the faculty earlier this spring, will begin being phased in this fall. Zandi reported that the committee has reviewed more than 155 courses for inclusion in the various components and added that the committee encourages faculty to continue to submit proposals.

The changes in the General Education requirements are not reflected in the master schedule for fall, Zandi said, but freshmen and transfer students with fewer than 18 hours will receive a package of information during the summer. The new requirements will also be addressed with those students during orientation and advisement this summer and during opening week, so they are aware of the changes.

"The new program reflected very creative, very useful changes," Zandi said. "Our students will be exposed to a true liberal arts form of general education."

Special Service Project Gets $202,000 in Government Funds

The college's Special Services Project has received approval for funding in the amount of $202,000 from the U.S. Department of Education for the third year of a three-year grant.

SSP Director Elizabeth Pasti said that the program has been funded since 1978 and "has made a difference for many students. Our students are high-risk students when they enter, but we're finding that about 52% of those who enter as freshmen graduate within ten semesters. That's a good retention rate."

SSP was designed to provide support services to low-income, first-generation or physically handicapped college students to enhance their academic skills and increase their retention and graduation rates. Approximately 3200 students have been helped by SSP in its ten years of existence at SUNY Plattsburgh. Pasti said that during the 1987-88 academic year, 508 eligible students applied for assistance; 379 were selected and received assistance on the average of 34 times each during the project year. Of that number, 107 were students with disabilities.

Grant to Bogucki, Gruendling Supports Local Wetland Study

Drs. Donald Bogucki and Gerhard Gruendling, professors in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, have received a grant of approximately $2,000 from the Adirondack Park Agency (APA) and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation to undertake the transfer of interpreted wetland boundaries to overlay sheets on quadrangle maps for Clinton County. The two have already completed work of that nature for Warren and Essex Counties.

Earlier this year, the APA entered an agreement with the college to "establish a cooperative program in remote sensing and geographic information system (GIS) analysis designed to encourage the exchange of digital technology and expertise, train students in remote sensing and GIS analysis, and educate and provide continued educational and direct application opportunities for qualified students via independent studies or internships."

As a result of the agreement, the Center for Earth and Environmental Science houses a computerized image processing system which is used to train students. The APA will provide up to two internships per year for qualified SUNY Plattsburgh students to work on a new image processing system at the APA headquarters.

EAP-Sponsored Substance Abuse Workshop Set for Supervisors

The college's Employee Assistance Program (EAP) will sponsor a workshop designed for supervisors on "Drug and Alcohol Abuse in the Workplace." It will take place from 9 to 11 a.m. on Tuesday, May 30 in the Angell Center Cardinal Lounge.

According to Helen Rock, EAP coordinator, the workshop will be presented by Ray Lopez, head of the new Capital District regional office of Bethany Center, an alcohol and drug abuse rehabilitation program headquartered in Honesdale, PA. Lopez has worked in the field of chemical dependency for more than 12 years, and he has lectured extensively throughout the U.S. on drug abuse and interventional strategies for public and private organizations.

All campus supervisors are encouraged to attend the workshop. However, said Rock, advanced registration is required. She will welcome inquiries by telephone (3105 or 3277).

Davern Memorial Gift to Enrich College's Art Collection

The college's permanent art collection will be enriched once again, with the donation of the personal art collection of Jeremyn Davern of Chazy and New York City. Davern is making the gift to the college in memory of her late parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Davern, and her late sister, Jeanne Davern.

The collection consists of approximately 45 pieces and includes oil paintings, watercolors, drawings and etchings by late 19th and early 20th century American and English realistic artists of the pre-Raphealite movement, as well as some contemporary realists. Women are the subject of two-thirds of the works and landscapes make up the rest of the collection.

Gallery Director Edward Brohel said, "This collection will greatly enhance the permanent collection for several reasons. First, the work is by artists whose work we do not currently possess, of a time period in which we are developing the collection. Then, the subject of women and the English flavor will appeal in an interdisciplinary way to those areas at the college. Also, it is a lesson in connoisseurship, since the work is of the highest quality and it is very well presented in fine period frames. Finally, Ms. Davern's family is part of Plattsburgh's history and this gift in their memory should be of great local interest."

Davern was born in Plattsburgh, the daughter of Jeremiah Davern, a prominent Plattsburgh attorney who occupied an office on Clinton Street for 55 years. Her mother was a member of the Beaucaire family from Chazy. Davern attended Wellesley College and Katherine Gibbs School, then returned to Plattsburgh where she worked for a year as secretary to the late Dr. Charles Ward, who was then president of the college. She moved to New York City and worked in public relations and fund-raising for many years. She eventually went to work for the Grand Central Art Gallery and began accumulating the collection. She retired approximately a year ago and plans to spend most of her time at her home in Chazy.

Bench Donated

The brothers of Pi Alpha Nu fraternity gathered last Friday to officially present a bench to the college through the campus beautification fund. The bench, purchased with $484 raised by the fraternity during a "Day of Labor" held last fall, is located near Hawkins Hall pond. Pi Alpha Nu's community service project consisted of a day-long effort of mowing and raking lawns, painting, removing docks and other odd jobs — mostly to help senior citizens. The brothers didn't charge for their services, but donations were accepted for the beautification program. Participating in Friday's presentation ceremony were (right foreground, L-R): Dr. Eldridge W. Roark Jr., vice president for student affairs, Daniel Estep, president of Pi Alpha Nu, and SUNY Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren.

Auditions Begin This Month for 'Camelot,' 'Annie Get Your Gun'

Classic musical theatre will return to SUNY Plattsburgh in June and July with full-scale productions of the ever-popular "Camelot" and "Annie Get Your Gun."

Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe's Camelot will run from June 21 to 25 and June 27 through July 1, and Annie Get Your Gun, with music and lyrics by Irving Berlin, will be performed July 19 to 23 and 25 through 29. Both productions will feature college and community performers, and both will be under the direction and supervision of college theatre faculty Drs. Charles Kline and Ruth Kline. Charles Kline will serve as artistic director of the summer program and will direct Annie Get Your Gun, while Ruth Kline will direct Camelot and will be costume designer for both shows.

"We will import some experienced personnel for important staff positions," remarked Dr. Kline, "but North Country talent will be much in evidence." He said that Nazareth College faculty Phillip Jay Hickox, assistant professor of theatre arts, and Vicki Neal, technical director, will teach and alternate as scene and lighting designers for the two productions. "Both have extensive experience," said Kline, "and they come highly recommended by theatre professionals."

Valerie Glover, a veteran of several musical theatre productions at SUNY Plattsburgh and of many more in her hometown Montreal, will choreograph the two productions, and James Fitzwilliam of Plattsburgh, who recently received the master's degree in music from the Eastman School of Music, will serve as master performing pianist and vocal coach. Fitzwilliam has performed in many past college musicals, but this will be his first season in charge of the music.

Open auditions for the two shows will be held on Monday and Tuesday, May 22 - 23, and "call-backs" will be posted for 6 p.m. on May 24. Summer theatre offers college credit for advanced high school and undergraduate and graduate students, and may be earned for performance, design and technical theatre and theatre arts management.

Work Begins on Adirondack Guide Monument by Hatcher

The ground has been broken for the foundation of the Adirondack Guide Monument by Brower Hatcher which will join Amite by Bill King and Thoughts on Pheideas by Don Osborne as monumental outdoor sculpture on the SUNY Plattsburgh campus. The sculpture will be placed in front of Beaumont Hall in the small park bounded by Yokum Hall and Draper Avenue.

This work, originally constructed at Lake George under a grant from the New York State Council on the Arts, will be reconstructed as part of Hatcher's Visiting Professorship. Described as sophisticated folk art, it relates to the tradition and interests of the North Country while using a challenging contemporary style.

The monument is a two story high network of cables which realistically outlines the head of an Adirondack Guide. From certain angles the image of the head disappears and the form becomes an alive-energy field. Suspended in the framework are objects connected with the Adirondacks, such as a guide boat, bear, cabin, fish and many other elements.

The work makes many art references in addition to its North Country elements. A festive, folk art, carnival quality is present while the scale of the Sphinx or the early stages of the Statue of Liberty construction is suggested.

The sculpture will be constructed this summer by advanced sculpture students under the supervision of sculptors Osborn and Hatcher. A public "Centennial dedication" will take place in November 1989.

Phi Eta Sigma Inducts 34

Thirty-four freshmen were inducted recently into the campus chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, the national honor society for freshmen. Membership is granted to students who earn a grade point average of 3.5 or better (out of a possible 4.0) at least one semester of their freshmen year.

Final WEEKLY

This is the final issue of WEEKLY for academic 1988-89. Summer issues will be published on Wednesday, June 7 and on Wednesday, July 19, and the deadline for receipt of copy or story suggestions for both issues will be the Friday preceding the publication of each. The editors wish to thank all members of the college community whose cooperation contributes to the publication of WEEKLY.

Margaret Anderson and Dr. Peter Hornby, lecturer and professor, respectively, of psychology, have collaborated on several recent projects. They include: "The Complete Computerized Psychology Laboratory: Design and Implementation," a workshop presented at the Third Annual Conference on the Teaching of Psychology: Ideas and Innovations in Philadelphia; "Designing and Teaching a General Psychology Laboratory Course," a workshop sponsored by the Council of Teachers of Undergraduate Psychology presented at the Annual Meeting of the Eastern Psychological Association in Boston; "Computer Software in Psychology: What's Available and How to Locate it," a workshop presented at the same meeting in Boston; "A Microcomputer Based Instructional Laboratory in Psychology," a paper presented at the SUNY Computing Officers Association Annual Conference on Instructional Computing held at Saratoga Springs; and "COMPSYCH, A Description and Progress Report," a paper published in Behavior Research Methods Instruments and Computers. Anderson and Hornby signed a contract with the Harper and Row Publishing Co., to develop a package of instructional software to accompany the publisher's full line of introductory level psychology textbooks. . . Several other members of the psychology faculty have made or will make presentations or have published recently. They include: Dr. Henry Morlock, professor, "Assessing Writing-Across-the-Curriculum at SUNY Plattsburgh," at the Conference on College Composition and Communication in Seattle, and "Designing and Teaching a Computerized General Psychology Laboratory Course," at the annual meeting of the Eastern Psychological Association in Boston; Dr. William Tooke, assistant professor, "Cheating and Self-Image Maintenance as a Function of Individual Differences in Conventional Morality," at the Eastern Psychological Association meeting in Boston; Dr. Naomi McCormick, professor, who discussed "Gender Differences in Flirtation" recently at Clinton Community College and who will serve as symposium chairperson for a presentation on the topic "Sexuality and the Chronically Ill Patient" at the annual meeting of the Society for the Scientific Study of Sex to be held in Toronto in November; and Dr. Noel Smith, professor, whose "Psychological Concepts Under Changing Social Conditions in Ancient Egypt" will be presented next month during the annual meeting of the Cheiron International Society for the History of the Behavioral Sciences to be held at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont. In publications, McCormick's "Treating Sexual Problems in Medical Patients" will appear in Review of Sexuality and Chronic Illness, and Smith's "A Reply to Hayes: Is the Interbehavioral Field a Non-Event?" appears in The Interbehaviorist. . . Dr. Anna Battigelli, assistant professor of English, is the author of "Asaph's Muse and the Ordering of Poets; Contemporary Tributes to

Joe Jastrab, Former Coach & AD, Gets SUNYAC Service Award

Joseph Jastrab, professor emeritus of physical education and former athletic director, has received the State University of New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) 1989 Distinguished Service Award.

The award, which recognizes "outstanding service to SUNYAC," was presented to Jastrab Tuesday (May 9) during the annual meeting of the conference membership held in Canandaigua. The former two-time president and vice president of the conference was cited specifically for instituting the SUNY Chancellor's Scholar-Athlete of the Year award, for developing the "coach-of-the-year" concept in all league sports, for spearheading the movement giving University champions automatic bids to NCAA post-season tournaments, and for a decade of service as a member of the SUNYAC Executive Committee.

Jastrab, who joined Plattsburgh State in 1954 and became its athletic director the following year, coached baseball for five years, soccer for eight, golf for 19 and basketball for 16 years. He is best remembered as tists and science fiction writers, Robbins and Geoffrey Hopkins (co-authors), and Armstrong and DeVita presented papers on analogs for the human structuring in extended space habitation and settlement. Also, Robbins, associate professor of anthropology, Scott Smith, lecturer in computer science, and senior computer science major Aaron Glascock co-presented a paper entitled "Collaborative Learning and Technology" at the recent meeting of the American Association for Higher Education. . . Dr. Thomas Rumney, associate professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, is the author of a bibliography entitled "Africa South of the Sahara: A Selected Bibliography of Geographical Writings". . . Dr. John Tomlin, associate professor of sociology and a spokesperson for the National Organization for Victim Assistance (NOVA), met with success recently in having the period April 9-15 proclaimed "Crime Victims Rights Week" in New York State. Tomlin requested the action by Governor Cuomo in a letter stating that it is every victim's statutory right "to be informed of, be present, and be heard at every critical stage of the criminal justice process," and the governor complied with a formal proclamation urging "all citizens and institutions, public and private, to support the establishment and enforcement of victim's rights and services through participation in local and state activities commemorating those rights."

coach of the latter sport, and his Cardinal teams compiled an overall 215-120 won-lost record. He was inducted to the Plattsburgh State Sports Hall of Fame in 1986.

Jastrab is the tenth person to receive SUNYAC's highest award. He resides with his wife, Helen, in Sarasota, Fl.

165 Years of Service

Seven of eleven employees who have retired during the current academic year or who plan to retire in the near future attended a reception in their honor held last Thursday in the Angell Center Ballroom under auspices of the Civil Service Employees Association, United University Professions and the Office of the President. Present for this farewell photo were (front, L-R) Gloria Bushey, senior stenographer; David Woodin, registrar; and Anne Mitchell, librarian; and (back, L-R) Benjamin Mussen, grounds worker; Herman Durocher, maintenance supervisor I; William Woltjen, assistant vice president for finance; and Dr. William Hartnett, professor of mathematics. The seven combined logged 165 years of service to SUNY Plattsburgh.

May 11th Ceremony to Mark Kent State Shooting Tragedy

The Student Association will hold a ceremony at 1 p.m. on Thursday, May 11 to commemorate the 19th anniversary of the Kent State University and Jackson State University shootings. The brief, but meaningful, ceremony will be held at the memorial plaque in front of the Kehoe Administration Building.

Dr. Eldridge Roark commented, "To our knowledge, no other college continues to mark this tragedy on an annual basis. It is a credit to our own students that they continue to reflect upon this sad occasion and to honor the memories of those who were slain."

Founders' Day Event to Launch Year-long Centennial Celebration

SUNY Plattsburgh's Centennial Celebration begins in earnest next week with the observance of "Founders' Day" on Thursday, June 15. All campus constituencies are encouraged to participate.

That event, marking the 100th anniversary of the creation of the college by legislative action, will launch a year-long series of programs designed to focus attention on SUNY Plattsburgh's rich history — particularly its contributions to students and society — and its promising future. Founders' Day will culminate more than a year of planning by a campus and community Centennial Celebration Committee chaired by Professor of Education Emeritus Dr. Annette Manganel.

"The excitement started to build last week when workers from the city's Municipal Lighting Department decorated Rugar Street by hanging colorful centennial banners from its light poles," remarked Manganel. "It promises to be a moving experience next Thursday when the events of a century ago are recreated on the lawn of Hawkins Hall."

Founders' Day activities will begin at 11 a.m. with a public ceremony to be held in the vicinity of the main entrance to Hawkins Hall. Following invocation and playing of the national anthem and the college's alma mater by the College Brass Ensemble, Professor of History Douglas Skopp will review highlights of his research in writing "Bright With Promise," the Centennial history of SUNY Plattsburgh currently in press. Congratulatory greetings will come from dignitaries representing the College Council, the New York State Legislature, the State University of New York and the University's Board of Trustees, and proclamations will be read designating June 15 as "SUNY Plattsburgh Day" in the City of Plattsburgh and in Clinton County.

A historical plaque will be unveiled on the site, which is where the original Normal School building was erected, and a new, official college flag will be raised for the first time. The morning program will conclude with a ceremony reenacting the June 15, 1889 signing of the legislation that created "a Normal and Training School in the Village of Plattsburgh," and with remarks from President Charles O. Warren, who will preside.

Founders' Day events will continue with a lun-

Moran Receives Appointment as Academic Affairs Vice President

Dr. E. Thomas Moran, assistant vice president for academic affairs at SUNY Plattsburgh since 1984, will assume the position as vice president for academic affairs, effective June 15. As vice president, he will assume the college's second highest administrative post with responsibility for all academic programs and a wide range of academically related services.

The appointment of Moran culminates a nationwide search begun several months ago. More than 70 candidates were screened, and five finalists — including Moran — were interviewed on campus this spring by all college constituencies. SUNY Plattsburgh's next vice president for academic affairs was among three persons selected by a search committee for recommendation for appointment by President Charles O. Warren.

President Warren commended the committee of faculty, staff and students for conducting an "excellent, well-balanced" search. In selecting Moran, he said, he took into account the campus community's feelings about and attitudes toward all five finalists, then matched the attributes of the five with the thrust

21 Faculty and Staff Receive Awards Under PDQWL Program

Twenty-one members of the faculty and professional staff have been granted experienced faculty travel awards, new faculty development awards or librarian and professional study leaves under the UUP/NYS Joint Labor Management-sponsored Professional Development Quality of Worklife program (PDQWL). The awards became effective on May 25.

According to Susan Spissinger, director of sponsored research and programs, funding for the awards and leaves combined totals $16,997. Only SUNY Buffalo received a higher number of awards within the University system.

Experienced faculty travel awards are for a maximum of $750 for research and $500 for conference participation and teaching. Of the 14 Plattsburgh faculty who received them, seven were awarded the maximum. The recipients are: Dr. James Ashe, professor of education; Dr. Anna Frances Battigelli, assistant professor of English; Dr. Stuart J. Baum, professor of chemistry; Dr. Anthony J. D'Aristotle, assistant professor of mathematics; Dr. David A. Franzi, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science; Dr. Pirouz Ghaffari, assistant professor of communication; Dr. Gerhard Gruending, professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science; Lendall Haskell, associate professor in the Center for Teacher Education; Dr. Edward Heuston, professor of English; Dr. Edward J. Miller, assistant professor of chemistry; Dr. Ben Morreale, professor of history; Dr. Sitaram Shastry, professor of physics; Dr. Robert Weiss, associate professor of sociology; and Dr. Thomas H. Wolosz, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science.

New faculty development awards provide a maximum of $750 to persons appointed after July 1, 1988 as "seed money" to conduct research, to apply results of scholarly work to the improvement of teaching, or to develop new skills to increase their effectiveness. Recipients of the PDQWL awards in this category are Diane Fine, assistant professor in the Center for Art, Music and Theatre; Dr. Sunderesh Heragu, assistant professor in the School of Business and Economics; and Dr. John Hewit, assistant professor in the Center for Teacher Education.

Librarian study leaves up to $5,000 support the development of professional capabilities. Plattsburgh's recipients were Patricia Bentley and Carla List, associate librarians.

Professional study leaves, also funded to a maximum of $5,000, assist in the development of staff capabilities and the potential for advancement for their recipients. They were awarded to Edward Brohel, director of galleries, and Mary Ann Dee, financial aid counselor.

U.S. Geological Survey Funds Franzi's Bemidji Site Research

Dr. David Franzi, assistant professor in the Center for Earth and Environmental Science, has received $13,463 in funding from the U.S. Geological Survey's Office of Hazardous Waste Hydrology to conduct research on ground water contamination from seepage from underground petroleum products storage facilities at a site near Bemidji, Minn.

The support will enable Franzi to map the geology of the research site and to measure the extent of seepage and the speed at which it is occurring. The contract, for up to 10 weeks, is effective July 1.

Franzi's research will be funded at $8,713. The balance will support project-related research by SUNY Plattsburgh students.

cheon in the Angell Center Ballroom. It will feature an address by SUNY Chancellor D. Bruce Johnstone and the presentation of special "Centennial Awards of Honor" recognizing individuals and college constituencies. Those to be honored include the Plattsburgh Alumni Association; former President Dr. George W. Angell, posthumously; former president and SUNY Provost Dr. Joseph C. Burke; the SUNY Plattsburgh Faculty, Staff and Classified Professional Staff; State Senator Benjamin F. Feinberg, posthumously; noted American artist Rockwell Kent, posthumously; former Plattsburgh Mayor John McGaulley, posthumously; professor emeritus and Centennial Celebration Committee Chairperson Manganel; professor of psychology emeritus and former Acting President Dr. Edward E. Redcay; Professor Skopp; State Senator Ronald B. Stafford; the Student Association; former President Dr. Charles C. Ward, posthumously; and Mr. and Mrs. George Winkel.

Luncheon tickets are available. They are $5 each and must be purchased no later than Monday, June 12 in the Office of College Relations and Development, eighth floor, Kehoe Building. Telephone reservations will not be accepted, and tickets will not be sold at the door.

The Founders' Day program was created by a committee consisting of Chairperson Don Garrant, assistant to the president for college relations and development; and Mrs. Ruth Angell; Stasia Arcarese '62, secretary of the Plattsburgh Alumni Association; Dr. Raymond Domenico, professor of hearing and speech science; Robert M. Garrow '52, chairperson of the College Council; Curtis E. Shipman, president of the Plattsburgh College Foundation; Raymond W. Stalter Jr. '89; and President Charles O. Warren.

96.9 Percent of '88 Graduates Report Employment Success

The recently completed analysis of the Career/Life Planning Center's "Alumni Career Survey" for SUNY Plattsburgh's Class of 1988 shows that 96.9 percent of those available for employment had found jobs.

The figure represents a slight improvement in comparison with the previous year, and is the second highest (behind 98.5 percent for the Class of 1986) in the 20 years the surveys have been taken.

According to Patrick Lennahan, director of Career/Life Planning, 578 of 1,114 graduates of the Class of '88 (51.9 percent) responded to the survey, and the results show their status after from six to nine months following their graduation. Better than 78 percent reported they were employed full-time. Another 8.2 percent were holding part-time positions, 2.8 percent were unemployed and 11 percent were not actively seeking jobs.

A significant increase was noted among respondents who reported they had found positions related directly to their major fields of study at Plattsburgh: 81.6 percent compared to 77.3 percent who participated in the 1987 survey. Average salaries also increased — up from $18,761 for 1987 graduates to $20,746 for members of last year's graduating class. Average salaries for men and women employed full-time also increased by about $2,000 in a year's time, but women's starting salaries continue to lag behind their male counterparts — $20,087 to $23,556.

Lennahan noted that a record 90.6 percent of the survey respondents expressed satisfaction that SUNY Plattsburgh had prepared them well for their occupational fields or for graduate study (14.2 percent are pursuing advanced degrees on a full-time basis). He said percentages were up also in reported satisfaction with career potential (74.7 percent), type of work (82.5 percent) and salary and benefits (63.9 percent).

All major fields are represented in the summary analysis of the survey. Lennahan said that a full report on the survey will be published and distributed later in the summer.

of the college's five-year plan, values and needs.

"Tom Moran holds to the values we all espouse," commented Warren. "I believe that in Vice President Moran we will have a strong, caring, sensitive and intelligent leader — one who is totally dedicated to outstanding teaching and scholarship. He has impressive ideas about the position, but, most importantly, he is a person who listens well."

Search committee chairperson Dr. Prem Gandhi, professor of economics, said he was happy with the president's selection. "The college community has shown a high degree of maturity and confidence in selecting one of its own members for the vice presidency," he remarked. "Dr. Moran has the integrity, the knowledge of this institution and the vision of higher education to lead this college toward the goal of excellence."

In his current post, Moran has been responsible for development and implementation of the college's nationally renowned project on assessment and outcomes. He has supervised a multi-campus project on academic assessment, supported by a three-year, $370,000 grant from the Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education; chaired the college's Academic Council; supervised the Office of Computing Services, Instructional Engineering and the Center for Lifelong Learning; and he has worked with the Deans' Cabinet and many committees on various administrative and planning activities.

Previously, Moran had served three years as SUNY Plattsburgh's assistant vice president for student affairs, and before that he was its director of student development, director of Upward Bound and assistant to the dean of social sciences.

Moran will become the first SUNY Plattsburgh alumnus to attain a vice president's position at the college. He received the B.A. in history here in 1969 and the M.S. in social science/education in 1972. He holds the doctorate in educational administration and policy analysis from SUNY Albany (1985). He received the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Professional Service in 1988.

Upward Bound Gets Three-Year, $1 Million-Plus Federal Grant

The college's Upward Bound program, a successful venture since its establishment here 21 years ago, has been notified it will receive more than $1 million from the U.S. Department of Education to continue operations through 1992.

Upward Bound will be funded at $314,204 for fiscal 1989-90, which began on June 1. The budgets will increase to $343,529 and $354,984 in the second and third years of the new contract. Project Director Elaine Leavitt said that, to her knowledge, the funding level is the highest-ever for this campus for a three-year period.

Upward Bound provides services to selected students from Clinton, Essex and Franklin Counties who come from low-income backgrounds and who have education-related needs that cannot be met by their high schools. The project currently serves about 100 students from 18 North Country schools who meet eligibility requirements and who want to capitalize on educational opportunities open to them, including the chance to earn a college degree.

Leavitt explained that a permanent Upward Bound staff of five works from September to June to provide counseling and college advisement to students in their schools, and to offer workshops and field trip experiences. Beginning June 25, and continuing for six consecutive weeks, the Upward Bound students will live on campus. All will enroll in three courses and in tutoring and study skills sessions, and they will participate in cultural activities ranging from opera and concert performances in Montreal and Saratoga Springs to field trips to Boston and Niagara Falls.

The summer program will have a staff of 35. The faculty will be made up mostly of area high school teachers while tutor-counselors have been recruited mostly from the college's student body.

Leavitt pointed out that Upward Bound has served more than 1,200 regional high school students since its beginning at SUNY Plattsburgh in 1961. It has become well-known and respected, she says, by students, educators, guidance counselors and human services personnel who have come to rely upon its ancillary services.

Statistics speak to Upward Bound's success. The project proposal notes recent State Education Department studies that show that the school drop-out rate among project participants is 2.1 percent compared to 3.6 percent in their schools and 5 percent state-wide, and it shows a college placement rate of 90 percent compared to 57 percent rate for all students from the participating schools. Moreover, the college retention rate (43.5 percent) for those who continue their education beyond high school is nearly that of SUNY's (43.76 percent).

College to Host Transfer Network Summer Institute This Month

SUNY Plattsburgh will host a four-day Transfer Network Summer Institute this month involving more than 40 selected faculty, staff and students from the college and from each of the 10 SUNY and CUNY two-year colleges participating in a federally funded transfer project.

The Institute, scheduled for June 19 to 22 in the Angell College Center, is sponsored by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education's Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education (FIPSE). Besides Plattsburgh, its participants will include representatives from SUNY agricultural and technical colleges at Adirondack, Canton and Cobleskill, and from Clinton, Hudson Valley, LaGuardia, Monroe, Nassau, North County and Onondaga Community Colleges.

Institute seminars, workshops and presentations will focus on a variety of topics related to student transfer, and participants will be encouraged to design and implement projects that will enhance the academic environment, student and faculty interaction, and the cultural climate at institutions that send or receive transfer students. Topics will include teaching and learning strategies, student culture, faculty culture at both two-year and four-year institutions, advising/orientation, national perspectives on transfer issues, collection and sharing of data,

SUNY Plattsburgh's "New Transfer Student Network" 11-institution partnership project received more than $250,000 in FIPSE funds for a three-year period, effective last summer. It fosters inter-institutional collaboration in an effort to raise the quality of academic experiences and increase the persistence level of transfer students.

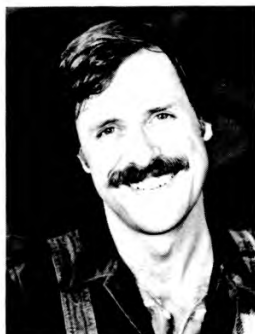

Plattsburgh is recognized in the University as a pioneer in developing articulation agreements with two-year colleges. Each year, between 650 and 700 students transfer to the college, and 50 percent of each year's graduating class entered Plattsburgh as transfers.

Next WEEKLY: July 19

The second summer issue of WEEKLY will be published on Wednesday, July 19. The deadline for receipt of copy or story suggestions for that issue will be Friday, July 14. Items may be submitted to the editors in care of the Office of College Relations and Development, 8th floor, Kehoe Building (telephone: 564-2090).

Alumnus Tom Chapin Headlines Founders' Day Concert Program

Singer, composer and television series host Tom Chapin '66 will be the headline performer at a special benefit concert next Thursday (June 15) in the E. Glenn Giltz Auditorium in Hawkins Hall that will cap Founders' Day festivities at the college.

Opening for Chapin will be fellow SUNY Plattsburgh graduate and singer-guitarist Lita Kelly '74, who is well-known throughout the North Country as a blues and country performer. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. Proceeds will create a scholarship fund for economically disadvantaged students attending the college. Tickets are $8 for adults and $5 for students, and may be purchased at the Campus Life Office in the Angell Center and in the community at the Bay Club, Chuck Wagon, Clare and Carl's (both locations), Court Club and Booth's Distinctive Gifts.

Billboard magazine calls Chapin "one of those natural-born entertainers who, with nothing more than a guitar in hand, can totally captivate an audience. The secret of his success lies in that intangible element which combines earthiness, genuine concern and a personal warmth that makes everyone feel like a treasured friend."

Campus Newcomer, 'Edna/Ed'

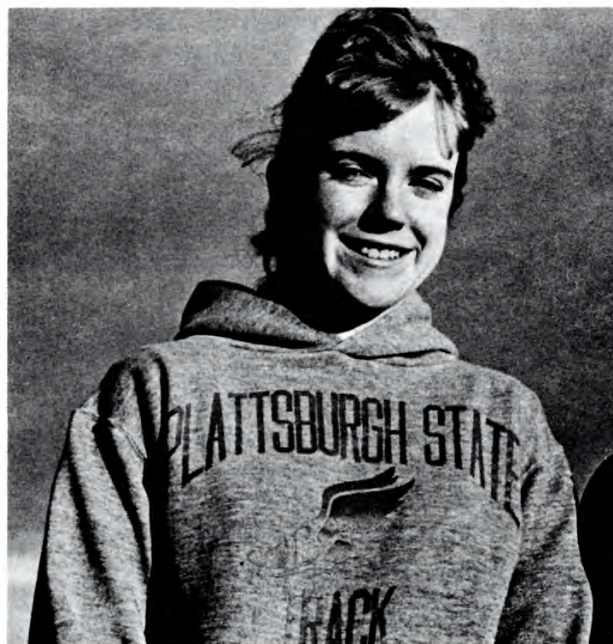

Nursing students discover the realistic range of joint motion found in "Edna/Ed," a full-body mannequin acquired recently for the Nursing Skills Laboratory in Hawkins Hall. The mannequin can be made anatomically correct for both sexes and can be used to practice a variety of medical procedures. The purchase of Edna-Ed was made possible by a grant to the Plattsburgh College Foundation by the Arkell Hall Foundation of Canajoharie.

From 1971 to 1976 the former Cardinal basketball great and member of the college's Sports Hall of Fame was host of ABC TV's Peabody and Emmy Award-winning children's show, "Make a Wish." He is currently host of National Geographic's "Explorer" series on the Turner Broadcasting Network.

Chapin's music career began shortly following his graduation when he joined brothers Harry and Steve to form "The Chapin Brothers" trio. He went on in the next decade to forge his own reputation as a consummate performer, virtuoso guitarist and talented songwriter. His fifth solo album will be released later this summer.

Kelly, who received the master's degree in reading specialization from the college last month, performs alone and with groups such as Lady Luck and The Front Porch Family Reunion. She has taken her music to most school districts in the region through the Local Artists in Residence program sponsored by the Council on the Arts for Clinton County and funded by the Division for Youth.

Three-time All-America

May honors graduate Kathy Kane ended her career as a Cardinal athlete in grand style on May 28 by winning the 1500-meter run at the NCAA Division III track and field championships at Napierville, Ill. The win, in a time of 4:36.39, earned All-America honors for Kane for the third time in a single academic year. Last fall the accounting major from Elmira became a cross country All-America (with a 12th place finish in the nationals) and this spring she finished third in the 1500-meters indoors to earn the distinction a second time.

Governor Appoints Alumnus-Educator Amell to College Council

Arnold A. Amell of Scotia, an administrator in the Schenectady school system, has been appointed by Governor Cuomo to the College Council.

Amell, a native of Plattsburgh, received his bachelor's degree in elementary education from SUNY Plattsburgh in 1953. He is a past president of the college's Alumni Association and continues a long-term affiliation with that organization as a member of its board of directors. His appointment to the Council is through 1991, and fills the unexpired term of James Campbell '75, who resigned this past year.

"We welcome Mr. Amell's appointment warmly," commented SUNY Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren, "and we are grateful to the governor for af-

Baum Receives University Grant for Improvement of Instruction

Dr. Stuart J. Baum, distinguished teaching professor of chemistry, is one of 26 undergraduate faculty members on 15 SUNY campuses to receive a Faculty Grant for the Improvement of Undergraduate Education. Baum's project is entitled "Improving Science Education: An Integrated Approach."

The grant program was created in 1972 to promote excellence in undergraduate instruction and has stimulated a significant amount of classroom innovation. The successful projects, funded at a total value of $50,000, were selected from 101 proposals submitted by faculty members SUNY-wide.

Baum is developing and implementing a new science course for elementary education majors. The course will be two semesters in length and will include the major areas of science — astronomy, biology, chemistry, environmental science, geology, meteorology and physics. "The principal objective of the course," Baum said, "will be to prepare students to teach science in the elementary schools. The lectures will rely heavily on demonstrations and the explanation of natural phenomena and the accompanying laboratory exercises will be designed to further clarify the lecture material. In the lab, the prospective teachers will perform activities that they can use in the future in their own classrooms."

Baum joined the chemistry faculty in 1963. He won the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching in 1976 and the Phi Eta Sigma Distinguished Faculty Award in 1986. Earlier this spring, he became only the second SUNY Plattsburgh faculty member to be designated a SUNY Distinguished Teaching Professor.

firming our recommendation. He will bring enthusiasm as well as expertise to our deliberations. His affinity for Plattsburgh is a matter of record, as shown by his many years of service to our Alumni Association, but so is his reputation as an energetic and prudent administrator."

Members of college councils serve without pay. Their powers and duties include recommending the appointment of presidents of institutions to the University's trustees, review of major plans and budgets proposed by campus presidents, naming buildings and grounds, and making regulations governing the care, custody and management of campus buildings, grounds and equipment.

Amell has been assistant superintendent for personnel and management services in the Schenectady School District since July of 1987. Previously, he served for seven years as principal of Linton High School in that district, and before that he was assistant principal at Linton and the district's technical services manager. He has taught and held varied administrative and guidance positions in other school districts.

A U.S. Army veteran, he received the master of science degree in school administration in 1958 from St. Lawrence University and the master of education in guidance and psychology in 1960 from SUNY Albany. He is active in many community service organizations and has served as an officer in most of them.

Amell and his wife, Joan, are the parents of three grown children, and they reside at 14 Marilyn Drive in Scotia.

Firearms Position Reaffirmed

A request by an employee for permission to carry a firearm to and from campus has resulted in reaffirmation of a college policy on the subject. President Charles O. Warren issued the following statement, asking that WEEKLY publicize it for the benefit of all campus personnel:

"For the safety and well being of the campus, the Executive Staff reaffirms past practice by stating that no college employee shall bring firearms to campus for any reason."

NCAA Denies Appeal for Personnel Reinstatement to '90 Tourney

The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) has denied an appeal by SUNY Plattsburgh to reinstate the eligibility of head hockey coach Steve Hoar and two players for next year's NCAA national championship tournament.

Hoar and the student-athletes, whose names the college won't disclose, were barred from participation in NCAA post-season play for two seasons following a game-ending fight in the 1988 national championship quarterfinal match-up with Babson College, won by Babson, at Plattsburgh's Stafford Arena. The Eastern College Athletic Association (ECAC) and the State University conference (SUNYAC) followed suit by barring the Cardinals from their tournaments for an indefinite period of time.

In recent weeks, both the ECAC and SUNYAC lifted their sanctions, although the latter did so provisionally — based on the pending NCAA appeal. That outcome means that, while Plattsburgh has been reinstated fully for the 1990 ECAC West tournament, Coach Hoar and the affected players will not be eligible to participate in the SUNYAC or NCAA championships.

Plattsburgh State Athletic Director Peter Luguri said he was notified of the appeal-denial by Phil Buttafuoco, the NCAA's assistant director of championships. Buttafuoco said the NCAA Division III hockey committee decided during its spring convention in San Diego that its sanction was warranted and would remain intact.

"It is clear that, in spite of the dramatic improvement of our hockey program during the past year, the committee was unwilling to reduce its sanction," commented Luguri. "I am deeply disappointed for our coaches and players. Looking back on their conduct and performance during the 1988-89 campaign, they all deserve to earn the opportunity to compete in next year's nationals."

During the past season, the Cardinals compiled a 20-5 record overall to finish eighth in the national rankings. They won 15 straight in a streak that began in late December and continued until the final game of the season, winding up 13-1 in SUNYAC — the best record in the conference.

Centennial Celebration Begins in Fine Style

SUNY Plattsburgh marked its 100th birthday on "Founders' Day," June 15, and launched its year-long Centennial Celebration in dramatic fashion.

In a simple but impressive morning ceremony, dignitaries from government, the State University of New York, the college community and the community-at-large recalled the institution's achievements in its first century of service to students and society and accentuated its promise for the future. A new, official Centennial flag was raised, and a historical marker unveiled, adjacent to the sidewalk leading to the main entrance to Hawkins Hall — situated on the site of the institution's original building.

During a luncheon that followed, held in the Angell Center Ballroom, about 400 members of the college family and their community friends toasted Plattsburgh's past. They joined a salute to individuals and constituencies that shaped its history, applauded the announcement of an ambitious centennial endowment fund-raising campaign, and heard SUNY Chancellor D. Bruce Johnstone laud the college's "tradition of excellence and service" and its position as "a regional, national and international leader" in higher education.

Chancellor Johnstone, principal speaker at the luncheon, briefly traced highlights of the college's first 100 years by focusing on significant achievements that occurred during the administrations of its presidents. He cited several initiatives currently underway at Plattsburgh that demonstrate "continuation of the high standards of (the college's) past." He commented on the "absolutely crucial" success of the institution's "tradition of strong community ties," noting especially the community's support financially for College Foundation programs and for SUNY's

Minority Enrollment Increases Again

College Meets Fall '89 Freshman, Transfer Enrollment Targets

SUNY Plattsburgh has again met with success in attracting applications in large numbers from qualified students seeking admission for the fall semester.

"We were happy to report that we met our enrollment target for the next freshman class as of June 9," remarked Richard Higgins, director of admissions. "Admission for transfer students closed last Friday (July 14)," he continued.

Higgins pointed out, however, that his office will continue to accept applications from prospective nursing majors, taking into account the critical shortage of nurses nationwide. "Applicants for the nursing program are encouraged to contact the Admissions Office directly," he said.

According to Higgins, 7,200 students applied for 925 places in the freshman class. Of that number, 3,354 were accepted and 1,009 paid deposits by the closing date. He said that while it is "impossible" to hit the target precisely, withdrawals and last minute changes in enrollment decisions will bring the number close to the desired mark.

Meanwhile, SUNY Plattsburgh received 2,606 applications from transfer students, accepted 1,269 and closed admissions when 633 deposits had been collected. The enrollment target for transfers had been 600, and Higgins expects the final count there also to be close.

The freshman class of 1993 is expected to be strong academically, with a mean high school average of 85.1 and average SAT scores of 1020. Transfers likewise will enter Plattsburgh with strong academic credentials, having achieved an average cumulative grade-point average of 2.9 at their two-year institutions.

Plattsburgh President Charles O. Warren commented, "We are especially pleased with our minority recruitment efforts this year. Last fall, 5.6 percent of our new freshmen were minority students and we considered that improvement encouraging. This year, however, 9 percent of our freshmen are minority students. Many colleagues worked hard to increase our minority enrollment, and we're grateful to them for the result."

College's Teacher Ed. Students Set State Performance Standard

The performance of Plattsburgh's undergraduates in teacher education programs continues to measure up favorably in comparison with their counterparts in SUNY and those attending colleges and universities throughout New York State.

The results of the March 1989 National Teacher Education examination are in, and they show a higher percentage passing rate for Plattsburgh teacher education majors in all three categories than for University students as a whole or for all New Yorkers who took the test. They show, for example, that:

- 86.4 percent of the 140 Plattsburgh students who took the Communication Skills exam passed it, while the passing rate in SUNY was 83.4 and in the entire state it was 76.3.
- 78 percent of the 160 Plattsburgh students who took the General Knowledge test passed it, compared to 70.8 percent for both SUNY students and all of the more than 8,300 education majors in the state who were tested.
- 92 percent of the 126 Plattsburgh students who took the Professional Knowledge test component passed it. Comparable figures were 91.4 percent for all SUNY students and 85.3 percent statewide.

"The results are encouraging," commented Dr. Michael Wolfe, director of the college's Center for Teacher Education and Educational Services. "We're especially pleased because the passing rates remained stable in all three categories, even though substantially more students took the exams this past March than in any of the previous four times they have been given."

Wolfe pointed out that 40 more students than ever before took the communications test in March, 51 more took the general knowledge exam and 44 more submitted to the professional knowledge component. He noted that Plattsburgh students have scored consistently higher than education majors at other SUNY campuses and statewide since the exams were first given in October of 1987.

"Based on data comparing results for each of the five dates the NTE has been administered," said Wolfe, "our passing percentage in all three categories has exceeded that of University students and all students throughout the state."

33rd Annual National Leadership Workshop Convenes on Monday

Schools may be empty across the land at the midpoint of the summer, but the corridors and classrooms at SUNY Plattsburgh will be humming with teacher-administrator "students" over the next two weeks as the college plays host to the 33rd annual National Leadership Workshop.

About 300 professional educators from all parts of the United States are expected to participate in the workshop, which begins next Monday (July 24) and continues through August 4. According to Dr. Nicholas F. Troisi, dean of professional studies at the college and resident director of the workshop, the program features more than 20 specific courses that focus on leading topics of concern to elementary and secondary school teachers and administrators.

The instructional staff, said Troisi, is composed of outstanding educators from all parts of the United States. He noted that the Leadership Workshop is the longest-running educational program of its type in America. It derives its "national" status from its affiliation with the national associations of elementary and secondary school principals, which join the School Administrators Association of New York State and SUNY Plattsburgh as sponsors.

Daily "general sessions" will highlight the workshop educational program for its duration. The keynote address will be given at Monday's 7 p.m.

dinner meeting in the Angell Center Ballroom by Dr. Philip Cusick, professor of educational administration at Michigan State University. Cusick will discuss "Educational Restructuring and the Classroom."

Subsequent speakers are top educators from Chicago, Connecticut, Florida, Maine, Georgia, Delaware, and other states, and they will explore topics ranging from curriculum trends, curriculum reform and the "disconnected" student, to educational communications, reacquiring motivation and successful leadership. The general sessions are scheduled for 10:20 a.m. each day in the gymnasium of Sibley Hall, the campus building that serves as workshop headquarters.

Hendrix Named to Library Post

Carla Hendrix will join Feinberg Library on August 1 as head of access services. She will be responsible for the operation of circulation services, reserve areas, Interlibrary Loan and media services.

Hendrix is currently assistant director of libraries at Lesley College in Cambridge, MA. A member of the Lesley library staff for the past 10 years, she holds the B.A. in art history from Wellesley College, the Ed.M. from Harvard and the M.L.S. from Simmons College.

Foley Named to Post as Manager of Art-Music-Theatre Center

Beatrice D. Foley of Old Forge has been appointed as assistant to the dean of arts and science and manager of the college's Center for Art, Music and Theatre, effective August 15.

As center manager, Foley will have responsibility for supervising Center office activities, coordinating performances and events and for managing facilities in the Myers Fine Arts Building.

Foley serves currently as media center director for the Town of Webb Schools, where she supervises two libraries, provides curriculum integration, teaches library skills at the K-6 level and manages center operations. From 1977-87, she had served as coordinator/director of the Old Forge Arts Center. In that

Appointment of Center Manager Splits Administrative Function

The appointment of a manager of the Center for Art, Music and Theatre points to a change administratively in Center operations.

Where the Center in the past — like its interdisciplinary counterparts in earth and environmental science, human resources and teacher education — had operated under one person, responsibilities will now be divided by academic and administrative function. Newcomer Beatrice Foley will manage the day-to-day academic support activities as assistant to Dean of Arts and Science H.Z. Liu. However, the Center's programs in art, music and theatre will be chaired by teaching faculty.

Dean Liu explained that the reorganization will be tried on an experimental basis. Effective this fall, he said, Associate Professors Rick Salzman and Kathryn Stuart will serve as acting chairpersons of the Department of Art and Music, respectively. An acting chairperson for the Department of Theatre has yet to be named.

role, she was responsible for developing and administering an annual operating budget of $125,000, for planning and implementing the center's performing arts programs, for handling promotion and advertising, scheduling exhibitions, and supervising gallery and special events installations.

The college's new Center manager received the

Alumni Reunions

More than 200 SUNY Plattsburgh alumni turned out for reunions held this spring in Long Island, Rochester and the Los Angeles, CA area. The top photo shows many of the 50-plus California residents who attended their first-ever reunion, organized by Joel Graves, Class of '77, president of the newly formed California Alumni Club. A second Los Angeles-area reunion is being planned for November, which will coincide with a visit there by President and Mrs. Charles O. Warren. Among the more than 50 who participated in the western New York alumni gathering (bottom photo) were (L-R): Kim Scalzo, a May '89 graduate, of Fairport; Cheryl (Toohey) and Keith Moss '80 of Rochester; Julia Drinnan '83 of East Amherst; and Patti Tedesco '81 of Getzville. The reunion in Rochester was planned by Laura Sadowski '80, a resident of that city and president of the western New York Alumni Club.

budget efforts, and hailed its "pace-setting" programs in Canadian studies, in vitro cell biology and biotechnology, business and economics, communication, computer science and hotel and restaurant management.

"It is also refreshing to know," he said, "that Plattsburgh's oldest curriculum — teacher education — has maintained its dedication to quality. Year after year Plattsburgh students out-perform counterparts across the land in the National Teacher Examination.

"Today," he concluded, "we give testimony to the friends and founders of the State University College at Plattsburgh. May our endeavors keep the torch of their creativity and ingenuity burning brightly."

In announcing the College Foundation's Centennial Campaign, Harry E. Mowry, chairperson of the effort, reported that nearly 70 percent of the campaign's $500,000 goal had been achieved through leadership gifts and pledges. Income from the Centennial endowment will provide funds for special student, faculty and administrative initiatives designed to promote excellence at the college.

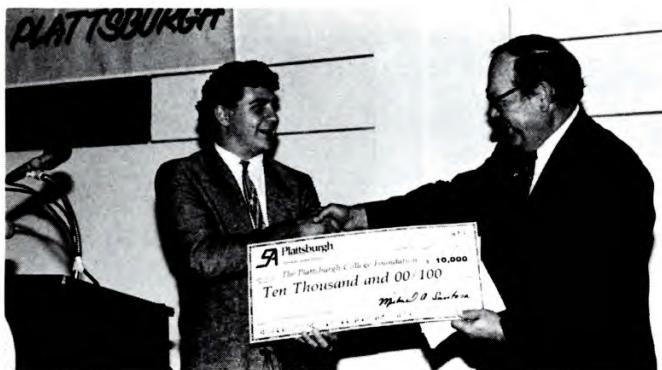

SUNY Chancellor D. Bruce Johnstone conveys 100th birthday "greetings" to the college on behalf of the University. Greetings came also from the New York State Legislature, the state's Board of Regents, the University's Board of Trustees, and the Plattsburgh College Council. Also to mark the occasion, the Centennial Celebration and significant highlights of the college's first 100 years were entered in the Congressional Record, and June 15, 1989 was proclaimed "SUNY Plattsburgh Day" in Clinton County and the City of Plattsburgh.

Founders' Day provided the opportunity for a reunion of sorts of institution chief executives: (L-R) Dr. Joseph C. Burke, president from 1974-86, who serves today as SUNY's provost; Professor Emeritus of Psychology Dr. Edward E. "Doc" Redcay, whose many roles in service to Plattsburgh in a career spanning more than half of its first century included two years (1952-54) as its acting president; and current President Charles O. Warren.

Special "Centennial Awards of Honor" were commissioned and presented during the Founders' Day luncheon program. The recipients were several individuals who have made significant contributions to the college through the years or who have played important roles in the centennial celebration itself, and representatives of key college constituencies. Nancy Warren invites the Founders' Day luncheon gathering to join in a toast to SUNY Plattsburgh's "proud past and strong future."

Centennial Awards of Honor were presented posthumously to former college presidents Dr. George W. Angell and Dr. Charles C. Ward and to State Senator Benjamin F. Feinberg and former Plattsburgh Mayor John H. McGaulley, both of whom helped save the institution from moving elsewhere following the fiery destruction of its only building on January 26, 1929. Here, Ruth Angell accepts the award on behalf of her late husband, who served the college from 1954-74.

(Above) Founders' Day was capped by a near-sellout benefit concert performance in Hawkins Hall by renowned singer-songwriter-recording artist Tom Chapin, a member of the Class of '66. Alumni Centennial Week Celebration Continues Through Saturday

Alumni Centennial Week at SUNY Plattsburgh began on Sunday and the program's educational, social and recreational events will continue through this Saturday. Altogether, more than 400 college alumni and alumni of the former Campus School registered to participate in one or more activities planned by a college-wide committee of faculty and staff.

"We're delighted with the interest shown in several of the more than 25 seminars organized by teaching faculty and faculty emeriti," commented Malcolm Lavery, director of alumni affairs. Lavery co-chaired the Alumni Week planning group with Dr. John Myers, professor of history, who coordinated its academic aspects.

Lavery, appear to be today's and Thursday's Campus School reunion, especially this evening's dinner program in the Angell Center Ballroom, and Friday's campus-wide "birthday party" picnic at 4 p.m. in the Angell center courtyard. Other popular events, besides seminars, include tomorrow's "Gala Alumni Evening" at the Plattsburgh Summer Theatre and Saturday's picnic at noon at Valcour Conference Center for alumni resident assistants and former Student Association officers.

Lavery said that Alumni Centennial Week is one of two major events scheduled for that constituency during the college's 100th anniversary year. Planning for the second — a special edition of annual Homecoming Weekend festivities, set for October 13-15 — is already underway.

Beverly Peryer Advances Through Ranks to Head Janitor Position

Peryer, who three years ago was the first woman to be appointed a supervising janitor, is now the first woman to hold her current post. As head janitor, Peryer holds the senior household custodial position and is responsible for supplies, delivery systems, set-aide in 1973, and has been promoted through the positions of cleaner, janitor, and supervising janitor. During her years on campus, she has continued her education, taking courses in management and psychology. She has been active in CSEA and has served as a vice president and delegate of that organization.

Peryer was a member of the SUNY Women's Committee and is currently involved with the evaluation and assessment of space utilization on campus.

Paintings by Beth Rowe on Exhibit in Myers Gallery

An exhibit of paintings by Beth Rowe is currently open in the Myers Gallery and will run through September 24. SUNY Plattsburgh Art Museum Director Edward Brohel says, "Beth Rowe's work is a result of her deep seated love of the planet Earth in general and the North Country in particular. Along with lovely images, she has a message. Our environment requires our care. We must not take what we have for granted and we must learn from the past."

The exhibit includes major paintings, pastels, and obelisks, the last of which she thinks of not as sculpture, but as three-dimensional paintings.

Rowe worked for 17 years as an art therapist and then as an art administrator. Her positions include chairing the Panel on the Arts for the 1980 Olympics and Executive Director of the New York Senate Special Committee on the Culture Industry. She lives in Lake George with her husband, Brower Hatcher, who is also at work on campus, installing the monumental outdoor sculpture "Adirondack Guide."
